ASK U. S. AID TO FIGHT CRIME

CHURCH LOBBIES TO MAKE U. S. DEFENSELESS

Cruiser Bill Fought by Methodists.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 1.—[Special.]—The most formidable aggregation of lobbies and propaganda agencies ever brought to bear on congress is preparing to go into action to procure the ratification of the Kellogg war renunciation treaty and the defeat of the bill to add 15 cruisers to the United States navy.

Agents of the lobby, representing church and pacifist organizations linked with the Socialists, communists, and other radicals in the common aim of achieving a defenseless America, will be on hand when congress reassembles on Thursday to influence the senate to sidetrack the cruiser bill pending consideration of the anti-war treaty.

Will Buttonhole Senators.

Then next week the big drive against the cruiser bill will be initiated at a massmeeting and dinner on Tuesday organized by Bishop Francis J. McConnell, president of the board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church and president of the Federal Council of Churches, the great church lobby and propaganda agency. A multitude of pacifist organizations will be represented at the morning and evening meetings, between which the lobbyists will buttonhole senators and endeavor to pledge them to vote against the cruiser bill.

It is with complete confidence of success that the church and pacifist lobby, more deeply entrenched than ever on Capitol hill, approaches its greatest undertaking: the defeat of the measure for replacement of our obsolete cruisers that the President of the United States has pronounced essential to the defense of the country.

They expect to prevail against President Coolidge as triumphantly as they did in the last congress, when through invocation of the same influences the Federal Council of Churches and associated organizations put through the senate the resolution calling for arbitration of the controversy between the Coolidge administration and the Mexican government over the threatened confiscation of American properties in Mexico.

Marble Palace Faces Capitol.

What makes this propaganda operation unusually formidable is the prominence in its direction of leaders of the Methodist church, which from its marble palace facing the capitol watches over legislation and which has drawn into its lobbying organization even members of both houses of the national legislature that frequently investigates, condemns, and punishes less influential lobbyists.

Six of the ten advisory members of the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition, and public morals which occupies the marble capitol of Methodism, are members of congress. They are Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.] and Representative Willis C. Hawley [Rep., Ore.], Homer Hoch [Rep., Kas.], T. J. B. Robinson [Rep., Ia.], Addison T. Smith [Rep., Idaho], and John W. Summers [Rep., Wash.]. Another member is former Senator Rice W. Means [Rep., Colo.].

Occupying living quarters in the Methodist capitol are six members of congress: Senators George W. Norris [Rep., Neb.], Joe T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.], and Carl Hayden [Dem., Ariz.], and Representative Philip D. Swing [Rep., Cal.], John E. Rankin [Dem., Miss.], and Homer Hoch. The privilege of living in the beautiful Methodist building in close proximity to their labors is highly prized, and much sought after by senators and congressmen, and there is at present a waiting list of 35 applicants for apartments.

They Must Vote Right.

According to capitol gossip a legislator can qualify himself to obtain living quarters in what Senator William Cabell Bruce [Dem., Md.] calls the Methodist Vatican only by "voting right" on the legislation in which the Methodist church is interested and passing muster in the eyes of the Rev. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary and director of the board of temperance, prohibition, and public morals, who in cloakroom persiflage is known as the Methodist pope.

It is pointed out that those occupying the Methodist building at present have a legislative record 100 per cent perfect from the Methodist viewpoint, and several of them have rendered conspicuous service to the church lobby.

Senator Norris is leading the fight against the cruiser bill. Senator Robinson introduced and piloted the Mexi-

GIRL INVADES GYM; BOUT TO FINISH IN COURT

Miss Zipporah Zlatin, 2531 Thomas street, a law student, gave her legal training a tryout last night in Dave Barry's gymnasium at 184 West Randolph street, where business men strive to become pugilists and pugilists strive to become business men.

When she appeared at the door she was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Dorothy Witte. They were seeking Herman Witte, a concessionnaire at the gymnasium. Mr. Witte filed a bill for divorce against his wife several days ago, charging her with cruelty, and his attorney had thoughtfully put in the document a request for an injunction to prevent Miss Zipporah Zlatin from annoying him either at his home or his place of business.

They found Mr. Witte. Also they found Stanley Brown, 25 years old, 2847 West Washington boulevard. Mr. Witte began hostilities by ringing up his attorney and demanding that he join the party. Miss Zipporah Zlatin was demanding that he pay her rent for a house he occupied while he lived with her sister and also that he agree about alimony. Soon words changed to blows and when the police arrived, the law student demanded that Brown and Witte be arrested for assault. It was done.

Mr. Brown, who is a salesman striving to be a pugilist, asked for a similar warrant against Miss Zlatin, but withdrew the request. The battle in some of its phases will be renewed in the State street court today.

POLITICS WARM IN EVANSTON DESPITE COLD

Four candidates for minor municipal office in Evanston fell in line in front of the Evanston city hall at midnight last night, thereby assuring themselves prominent positions on the ballot, for which the city clerk will accept applications at 8 a. m. today. The election will be held in April, and candidates for each office are numerous.

As the night wore on and the thermometer crept towards zero the chilled four fell out of ranks and took refuge from the wind in a parked sedan. An agreement was reached whereby each candidate should retain his place when the line reformed at daybreak. The four, in the order of their arrival, were Burt Livingston, who seeks reëlection as constable; Henry P. Kluge, reëlection to the same post; O. F. Andrews, candidate for police magistrate, and Henry Hibbard Porter, candidate for justice of the peace.

3 Dead, 160 Hurt, 8 Suicides New Year Toll in Berlin

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 1.—The new year casualties in Berlin were three killed by fireworks and 160 injured, some by fireworks and some in scuffles between police and gangsters. There were eight suicides, including two school children. The police made 238 arrests.

Marriages Lag; Modern Misfit, Professor Says

Conflicting opinions regarding the reason for the decrease in Cook county marriages were expressed yesterday by ministers, judges, sociologists, and economists. The county clerk's records show there were fewer marriages in 1928 than in any year since 1922.

"Chicago has always been a 'stag' city and in recent years there have been more women stags than men," said Prof. William L. Bailey, Northwestern university sociologist. He attributed this to the new possibilities of economic equality between men and women, and a general feeling of unrest with a desire for economic independence among modern women.

More Companionate Marriages.

Prof. Bailey believes there are more so-called companionate marriages now than most people are willing to admit.

"Marriage seems to be going out of style, and religion and morals are changing as radically as the institution of matrimony," he said. "A complete reorganization of social life is inevitable."

Prof. A. J. Todd of Northwestern university said he could not see any great significance in the Cook county figures. "Chicago is not a typical city and its statistics should not be taken as a criterion without considering the entire country," he said. "What appears to be a decrease in matrimony may be due to a transient population."

Explained on Economic Basis.

Economic explanations were advanced by Prof. William F. Ogburn of the University of Chicago sociology department, and by Prof. Ralph E. Heilman, dean of the Northwestern university school of commerce. "The standards of life in a city are not conducive to taking on the added responsibility of rearing a family," said Dean Heilman. "Young men and women come to the city to get a start in life and when they are ready to settle down they go back to the farm or the small town." Prof. Ogburn believes the high cost of living in a large city is the chief factor. Dr. John Thompson of Chicago temple also attributes the situation to economic causes.

The simplest interpretation of the statistics was given by Judge Joseph Sabath, who said the marriages not recorded in Cook county probably were performed in Crown Point, Ind., or Waukegan, Ill. "These are the runaway weddings which eventually land in the divorce courts," he said.

Dr. W. Clyde Howard, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, believes that as many young people marry as in previous years. "Marriage is not out of style, it is merely delayed," he said.

That the decrease might be due to the war, which sent many young men home broken in health or with a cynical mental attitude was suggested by Dr. Arnold H. Kegel, commissioner of health.

"Family clinics, organized along the same lines as medical clinics, with a staff of specialists to investigate and suggest remedies for domestic discord, are needed to straighten out matrimonial difficulties which are causing increased divorces and fewer new marriages," said Prof. Ernest H. Mohrer of Northwestern university.

WED 65 YEARS WITHOUT EVER HAVING QUARREL

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Vosburgh of Aurora celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary yesterday. Mr. Vosburgh is 88 years old and Mrs. Vosburgh, 85. Both are in perfect health.

They attributed their long life of health and happiness to moderation in all things, including opinions as well as food and drink.

"We never had a quarrel, and although I smoke, chew tobacco, and take an occasional drink, I have never developed any of these habits to excess," Mr. Vosburgh said.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Vosburgh were born in Lucerne county, Pa., but they met and were married in Lee county, Ill. Mr. Vosburgh is a retired farmer. They have two children living, Mrs. L. R. Hotchkiss and Mrs. C. O. Spencer, both of Aurora.

SWANSON SENDS TO CAPITAL FOR 2 PROSECUTORS

Police First Target of Investigation.

The aid of two well known attorneys now in the service of the federal government at Washington, D. C., is being sought by State's Attorney John A. Swanson, it was learned yesterday, in his announced plan to clear Chicago of the alliance of crime and politics with all its contributing sources of crime—bootlegging, racketeering, gambling and syndicated vice.

Oscar R. Luhring, first assistant to Attorney General John G. Sargent, and Oliver E. Pagan, the government technical expert in drawing up indictments and gathering conspiracy evidence, are the men who have been asked to join the Chicago prosecutor's staff. The negotiations are being conducted by Senator Charles S. Deneen. The senator is now in Washington attempting to induce the government aids to make a financial sacrifice in order to help the cleanup here.

Deneen Hopes They'll Come.

"I do not know whether Mr. Luhring or Mr. Pagan will go to Chicago, but I sincerely hope they will," said Senator Deneen in Washington last night. "Both are exceedingly able men."

Attorney Luhring refused to make any comment on the situation at this time other than saying that he has the offer under consideration. Attorney Pagan took the same attitude. Both men have made several trips to Chicago recently to discuss the possibilities of the offers made them by Prosecutor Swanson.

Attorney Luhring is well known as a prosecutor and an executive. If he accepts the appointment, it is said, he will devote his time to the trial of the larger conspiracy indictments expected from the grand jury investigation, which was requested of Chief Justice John J. Sullivan of the Criminal court by First Assistant State's Attorney Frank J. Loesch on Monday. Mr. Luhring also is expected to assist in the organization of the new state's attorney's office along the lines of the government system.

Attorney Pagan has had wide experience in assembling conspiracy evidence and drawing indictments. For some years he has traveled about the country handling major conspiracy cases for the federal department of justice.

Quiz Aimed at Police.

The first move in the comprehensive investigation to be started next week if the special jury is appointed will be directed at alleged connivance of the police department with policy wheel operators. Sheridan A. Bruseaux, chief jury investigator for the former special grand juries, has been gathering evidence, it was learned yesterday.

Prosecutor Loesch has been given reports that despite the previous investigations some 700 policy wheels are operating. The chief ones are said to be the Bubbling Over wheel at 33d street and Wabash avenue, and the Greyhound at 37th street and Vincennes avenue. These two wheels alone are reported to have taken in approximately $50,000 in the last two days.

The angle to come under scrutiny is the charge that the operators of the big wheels have never been molested by the police. It is charged that they have been notified in advance when a raid becomes necessary because of complaints, and that dummy operators are then "put on the spot" for the purpose of the arrests.

LUHRING EX-CONGRESSMAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 1.—[Special.]—Oscar R. Luhring, assistant attorney general, in charge of criminal prosecutions for the department of justice, has been connected with the department since 1925. Before that he served in congress for two terms as a representative from the first district of Indiana. He was also connected with the department of labor from 1923 to 1925, where he served as a special assistant to Secretary of Labor James J. Davis. While with the labor department, Mr. Luhring assisted in working out a revision of the immigration laws.

Oliver Elwood Pagan is regarded in Washington as the ablest indictment expert in the country. He has been with the department of justice for twenty-six years as a special assistant attorney general. He was born in 1858 and served as an assistant United States attorney at Chicago from 1888 to 1903. He has been active in prosecuting violations of anti-trust, sedition and postal laws.

Herrick, U. S. Envoy to Paris, Critically Ill

Cleveland, O., Jan. 2.—[Wednesday.]—(AP)—Myron T. Herrick, 74 years old, United States ambassador to France, was critically ill today at his Chagrin Falls estate.

Shortly after 1 a. m. two tanks of oxygen were sent from the Emergency Clinic hospital to the Herrick estate. Another car followed with a nurse.

A friend said that the ambassador had been ill in bed for ten days. The original ailment was bronchitis. Early today he began to sink rapidly.

Mr. Herrick came over to America from France several weeks ago. He has been the United States envoy in Paris a total of nine years. He is widely interested in finance and a pioneer Cleveland banker. In 1927 he was first to welcome Lindbergh on the latter's arrival in Paris at the end of his famous solo flight.

Plane to Fly Until Engines Are Worn Out

BULLETIN.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 2, 1 a. m.—(Special.)—Refueled three times since its endurance flight started, the Question Mark still was in the air early this morning.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 1.—[United Press.]—The trimotored army plane Question Mark took off today in an effort to break all endurance flight records and successfully completed its first two refueling operations while in the air.

The plane's crew of five men expect to keep the ship aloft until its engines wear out, replenishing fuel when necessary by means of supply planes.

The Question Mark took off from the Metropolitan airport at Van Nuys at 7:26.45 a. m. Only 150 gallons of gasoline were carried at the start, but 100 gallons more were taken aboard over the airport and an additional 300 gallons were transferred to the plane over Rockwell field, San Diego. The gasoline was transferred from the supply plane to the Question Mark through a 2½ inch hose 30 feet long. The two planes were not more 15 feet apart at the time.

Hot food for the crew and newspapers were furnished by means of a rope.

The Question Mark will cruise between here and San Diego during the course of its record flight attempt. The refueling operations will take place for the most part at San Diego.

The present world's record for sustained flight, with refueling in the air, is held by a pair of Belgian aviators, who stayed up 60 hours and 7 minutes.

Deliver Oil to Plane in Air.

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Refueling plane No. 1 landed at Rockwell field at 3:55 p. m. today after delivering seven five gallon cans of lubricating oil to the Question Mark in two contacts. The refueling plane brought down a requisition from Sergt. Roy Hooe for a pair of fur-lined boots. As mechanician on the Question Mark he is required to be outside the cabin to reach the motors when they need attention.

Mercury Falls to 4; Will Rise Again Tonight

The predicted cold wave arrived in Chicago on schedule last night and the descending mercury had reached an unofficial 4 degrees above zero at 2 a. m. According to the official weather forecast, today will continue cold and fair, but by tomorrow overhead conditions will become unsettled and the temperature will rise somewhat.

Snow several inches deep, which preceded the intense cold, lay over Chicago and most of the middle west yesterday. It was accompanied by only moderate winds, however, and drifts were not deep enough to impede traffic.

In the northwest the early morning found sub-zero temperatures recorded over a wide area, but the reaction to warmer began before noon and substantial rises, in some instances as much as twelve or fourteen degrees above the minima, occurred by 7 p. m.

BUILD STREETS SOUTH OF LOOP, PLEA FOR 1929

Simpson Asks Haste Despite Railways.

Penetration of the river straightening area south of the loop with a system of new streets and boulevards was pictured by James Simpson, chairman of the Chicago plan commission, yesterday as Chicago's immediate leading construction project for 1929.

Dipping a decade into the future, Mr. Simpson visualized the near south side, now a maze of railroad switch tracks, as a forest of skyscrapers encircling a new electrified union terminal and criss-crossed by double deck traffic arteries. Prospective air right development alone in this district, he said, may conservatively be valued at five hundred million dollars.

Urges Speed on the Job.

"As the new year stretches before us, I see no improvement ahead, except subways, more vital than this one," Mr. Simpson asserted. "With the World's Fair coming, we must not dally with it. The city, the railroads, business interests, and the public must put their shoulders to the wheel together."

Mr. Simpson's statement supplemented a New Year's message by Col. A. A. Sprague, vice chairman of the plan commission, listing the civic projects on which Chicago should make progress in 1929. Col. Sprague agreed with Mr. Simpson that, next to a solution of the transit problem and digging of downtown subways, the near south side development ranks highest on the list.

Next in order they placed the outer drive and Wabash avenue bridges, a west side superhighway, and the unfinished street widenings. Both deplored the obstacles which have halted the city's bond program and urged their removal.

Four Phases in Project.

Mr. Simpson divided the south side development into four phases, as follows:

1. Completion of the river unkinking between Polk and 18th streets now under way.
2. Extension of Market, Franklin, Wells, La Salle, and Dearborn streets southward.
3. Construction of the new railway terminal.
4. Building and business development.

It now is assured that the first step, straightening of the river channel, will be finished by July 1, 1930, Mr. Simpson pointed out. The next three steps, he said, should be taken coincidentally, but inasmuch as some of the railroads seem reluctant to unite on terminal plans he advocated immediate and vigorous action by the city on the new streets to force the railroads to a showdown. With street and business development in their front yard, he believes, the railroads will have to act.

"Build the Streets First."

The city, by starting the river straightening, has made the only real advance, Mr. Simpson said, while settlement of the terminal problem, the task of the railroads, "appears to be as far removed today as it was many years ago."

"Procrastination in the adoption of a definite terminal plan by several roads has greatly hampered the development of the city and has resulted in enormous losses to both the city and the railroads," he said. "Rea ing that in the present situation t is little prospect of getting a d plan adopted by the railroad terminal location, it becom sary to change the progra
the street system first."

ities and will make possible a more intensive development of their properties on a broader scale and independently of each other if they so desire.

Railroads Called Losers Now.

"The railroads have been deprived of many sources of additional revenue by the noncompletion of their terminal work. They have been prevented from exploiting their air right possibilities. Their gain in business incidental to the building up of populous business areas along their rights of way has been negligible.

"There has been no extensive development adjacent to their terminals due to the convenience and efficiency of their service to outlying districts. In addition they have suffered a heavy fixed charge which ownership of this revenue producing property places on all freight and passenger service moving in or out of Chicago."

Discussing the benefits of the project to the Chicago public, Mr. Simpson cited as most important the new traffic outlets from the loop and the immense property value increases not only near but far south of the loop.

A South Side Bottleneck.

"The slanting lines of Lake Michigan, running northwest and southeast, and the drainage canal, running northeast and southwest, in conjunction with the southern city limits, form a triangle with a base sixteen miles wide and an apex less than one mile in width," his statement continued.

"All north and south traffic in this great triangular area is forced through the bottleneck at the apex, there being only five streets which possibly can be used. Two of these are boulevards, the outer drive and Michigan avenue, restricted to passenger traffic. State street and Wabash avenue serve this district, while Clark street is so largely occupied by railroad tracks as to be of little use to the public.

"Opening of the new streets not only will improve traffic facilities but will increase property values in a degree difficult to estimate.

Warns Building Is Going North.

"Due to the necessary detours of the terminal district, there has been a drift of building development away from it. The center of building activity is rapidly moving north. This drift northward will be difficult to change once it is completely under way.

"During the last ten years in the neighborhood of 100 skyscraper buildings, costing $500,000,000, have been constructed in the central business district. Had the terminal area been ready to receive these buildings there is no doubt but that a large percentage of this development would have taken place in that area because of low land values and nearness to the financial center of Chicago. The development during the last ten years gives some indication of what will take place in the next ten years."

As a means of forcing progress, Mr. Simpson said, "the city should take immediate and definite steps toward projecting streets through this area, using for this purpose all the legal machinery within its power."

Construction of the streets will in no way affect the design, character, or location of the terminal, according to Mr. Simpson. If the railroads do not delay too long the streets will be adapted to the most advantageous development of their air rights, he believes. The plan commission, therefore, he announced, recommends that the city proceed with its street extensions at once.

"In the meantime," he added, "we recommend that every effort be used to induce the several railroad companies to adopt a definite and adequate terminal plan in order that the terminal and street development in this area may be co-ordinated and accomplished for the great benefit of the city and all parties concerned."

Mr. Simpson announced that as chairman of the plan commission he has appointed a special committee to assist the city administration in carrying forward the street projects. John V. Farwell, former head of the John V. Farwell company, heads the committee, with Ald. John Coughlin [1st], as council representative. Other members include Col. Sprague and Gen. Abel Davis.

OLD SING SING PRISON, ALMA MATER OF CRIME, TO PASS INTO HISTORY

Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 1.—[Special.]—Historic old Sing Sing prison, alma mater of thousands of crooks, is about to pass into history. Its antiquated stone cells, poisonous with the memories of over a century of human wretchedness, are shortly to be abandoned.

But that fact should bring no tears of joy to future crooks. They'll find a new Sing Sing, standing just up the hill by the old one, and open for "guests" at all hours.

In an interview today, surveying his ten years' régime at the famous "Big House up the River," Warden Lewis E. Lawes announced that abandonment of the old prison will begin at once. The 900 prisoners held there will be moved into the clean, lighted, open steel cells of the new prison within the week. Only the death house, now harboring three doomed murderers, will remain of the 103 year old institution, and the prison industries.

The new prison, a dream of the warden's, costing $5,000,000, was begun shortly after he took charge, and of recent years has been housing the remainder of the 1,700 Sing Sing prisoners. Its capacity will be 1,780.

OFFER NEW PLAN TO HALT TRAFFIC JAM IN NEW YORK

Is Expected to Relieve Downtown District.

New York, Jan. 1.—[Special.]—A plan, involving a 200 million dollar outlay, principally by private capital, and designed to reduce the traffic flow into the congested downtown districts of Manhattan by more than 70,000 vehicles daily, is outlined in a statement made public today by George V. McLaughlin, president of the Brooklyn chamber of commerce, which sponsors the proposal.

Embodying features of other plans, the Brooklyn proposal adds a suggestion that apparently promises more permanent relief than any of the proposed interborough links heretofore advanced.

The principal objection to additional links between Brooklyn and lower Manhattan, whether bridges or tunnels, has been that they would serve merely to increase the traffic flow into the already congested north and south thoroughfares of lower Manhattan.

The sponsors of the Brooklyn plan claim that this objection has been overcome in its proposal by embodying as its basis a north and south boulevard through Brooklyn and Queens that would enable Brooklyn traffic destined for the upper reaches of Manhattan and the Bronx to reach its destination without crossing to Manhattan and congesting the north and south arteries of the island.

As links tying the Brooklyn north and south boulevard to Manhattan and Richmond, the plan proposes:

1. A bridge across the Narrows from the south end of 4th avenue, Brooklyn to Richmond.
2. Bridge across the East river in the vicinity of 10th street, Manhattan.
3. The much discussed tri-borough bridge, linking Queens, the Bronx, and Manhattan.

80 COUSINS PROVING KINSHIP TO SHARE IN MILLIONAIRE'S ESTATE

Petersboro, Ind., Jan. 1.—[Special.]—More than a score of cousins on the maternal side of the family proved up their relationship to the late William R. Meredith, millionaire bachelor of Washington, Ind., here today. More than a score more will be heard tomorrow.

Judge Clements permits only first and second cousins to prove their relationship. They are seeking to share in the millionaire's estate.

There are 35 lawyers in the case. It will take two more days to hear all the claimants.

French Deputies Ease Morocco Ruler from Job

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 1.—A repercussion of the new finance bill passed on Dec. 31 after weeks of discussion came today when a telegram of resignation was received from Theodore Steeg, French resident general of Morocco. The clause affecting M. Steeg—who was considered a fixture in Morocco—says that members of parliament are only allowed six month unrenewable terms for missions. As M. Steeg is also a senator in the department of Seine, he asserts that the new law automatically terminates his work as resident general.

DIES ON WAY FROM HOSPITAL.

Robert W. Durrell of Marcellus, Mich., was taken from a Chicago and North Western railroad train yesterday in an unconscious condition and died a few minutes later. He was en route to his home from the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn., where he had been treated for tuberculosis.

RONGETTI FACES NEW TRIAL FOR SLAYING TODAY

Dr. Amante Rongetti will face trial for the second time this morning in Judge Robert E. Gentzel's Criminal court. At the first trial the jury found the alleged abortionist guilty, with death in the electric chair as the penalty, for the murder of Miss Loretta Enders, unwed mother, and her baby, but the Supreme court granted a new trial.

"We will again ask for the death penalty," said Assistant State's Attorneys Harry Ditchburne and Walker Butler last night. "We will show that Dr. Rongetti ordered the baby burned in the furnace."

The prosecutor said that all his witnesses are available except two former nurses in the Rongetti hospital, whose testimony is not essentially material to the case. They are Miss Lorraine Irwin, a corroborative witness, and Miss Hazel Edgar, who did not testify at the first trial.

Attorney William Scott Stewart, who is facing a three months contempt sentence as a result of his activities in the first trial, announced yesterday that Dr. Rongetti would testify in his own defense.

BRAKEMAN CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 1.—[Special.]—Fred Dugan, 39, a brakeman on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad, was killed today at Keens Station when he was caught between a box car and an automobile.

BERLIN DEMANDS ITS "RIGHTFUL" FULL FREEDOM

Diplomats of 40 Nations Hear New Year Plea.

BERLIN, Jan. 1.—(AP)—President Paul von Hindenburg and Chancellor Hermann Mueller made today's official New Year reception the occasion for telling the diplomatic representatives of two score nations that the German people feel entitled to a full measure of liberty.

Chancellor Mueller used the term "foreign yoke" in referring to the occupied Rhineland provinces and the president said that his countrymen were "very bitter because a great part of their country still lacks the liberty which we claim through divine and human right."

Tells Diplomats of Bitterness.

The function at which these expressions were given was attended by the diplomatic corps, the federal cabinet, members of the reichstag and reichsrat, chiefs of the army and navy, heads of the federal railways and the reichsbank, and officers of the Prussian provincial government. The president exchanged felicitations with, and had a personal word for, each guest.

It was in replying to the formal greetings of the diplomatic corps that the president spoke of the bitter feeling in Germany. He also said:

"Germany hopes, despite grave disappointments, that the new year will witness restoration to us of full self-determination. Ideals of peace and the progress of mankind can be thoroughly developed only by free peoples."

Condemns "Foreign Yoke."

The chancellor, addressing the president on behalf of the government, pledged unceasing work "until the Rhine, the Saar and the Palatinate shall be liberated from the foreign yoke."

He said that the forthcoming study of reparations involved a question which was "decisively important" for Germany, and he hoped that the negotiations would bring the nations involved in the world war nearer the complete liquidation of the costs of that conflict.

"Only after this tremendous problem has been solved," he said, "can the strained relations remaining over from the war be removed, and an era of really trustful relations between ourselves and all our neighbors be made possible. Without this the foundations of real peace cannot be laid."

ANGRY AT GILBERT

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, Jan. 1.—Agent General Seymour Parker Gilbert's report for the fourth year of operation of the Dawes plan was made public today. For the first time since Mr. Gilbert's appointment, the whole of Germany arose in indignation against his systematic optimism, skipping over all danger signs which they say abound in German economics.

This year Germany must pay a "standard annuity" of $595,000,000—that is to say, every second that ticks by it pays $18.57, day and night. Mr. Gilbert says that in the last four years and five months—the Dawes year ends on Sept. 1—Germany has paid $1,540,000,000 in reparations. This does not include payments made before the Dawes plan started. He adds that "Germany made all payments required by the plan loyally and punctually."

Borrowed Three Billion Dollars.

In the same report he says that Germany borrowed on long term and short term credits almost three billion dollars from America, Scandinavia and other foreign countries. Besides this, Germany's smaller concerns took up innumerable small loans from the same countries. This sum is almost twice as much as the reparations paid by Germany, and experts of all nationalities have pointed out that it is through these loans that Germany is enabled to pay its reparations.

"No question can fairly arise, in the light of the practical experience thus far, as to the ability of the budget of the reich to provide the full amount of its standard contribution under the plan," Mr. Gilbert says.

Chancellor Hermann Mueller, addressing President von Hindenburg's new year's reception, seized the opportunity to reply to Mr. Gilbert. He expressed the official conviction that "sometimes the progress Germany has achieved is being exaggerated, and foreign observers see Germany in a flourishing state which does not correspond with the facts."

The newspaper Lokal Anzeiger will print tomorrow morning a stinging attack on Mr. Gilbert, charging that he has deserted his former stand of impartiality to paint Germany's condition falsely in rosy colors.

"Securities Are Safe."

Agent General Gilbert feels entitled to look through rose colored glasses because "during the year the specific securities provided by the Dawes plan have continued to develop satisfactorily. The assigned revenues are yielding during the present year as in the previous one."

The German government, however, was called to order by Mr. Gilbert for its failure to come to a new agreement with the German states on the distribution of administration funds. States which are not permitted to collect taxes themselves receive funds from the government. Their budget is "still under the influence of tendencies to overspend and overborrow," and Mr. Gilbert demands that Germany learn to control them.

"In the realm of finances," Mr. Gilbert says, the reichsmark continues to satisfy all requirements of stability, and the gold reserves of the reichsbank now stand at the highest point ever reached. For the greater part of last year the reichsmark has been one of the strongest currencies of the world from the standpoint of foreign exchange."

Business Outlook Bright.

The business outlook is decidedly bright, Mr. Gilbert says. The margin by which imports exceeded exports has gradually narrowed, and in September, 1928, the two were approximately equal, he says.

Mr. Gilbert gives a list of the distribution of the reparations funds received during the fourth Dawes annuity. France, he says, received $240,500,000, but its share will be bigger this year, since the full standard annuity is being paid. Great Britain received $88,869,000, while the United States received $20,294,000.

In conclusion, Mr. Gilbert says the purpose of the Dawes plan has been fulfilled.

"Fundamentally," he says, "confidence has been restored and Germany has been reëstablished as a going concern on a relatively high level of economic activity."

Experts to Meet on Feb. 5.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 1.—The allies and Germany have reached an agreement to call the reparations experts' meeting at Paris on Feb. 5. This is the earliest date the the Japanese and American representatives could reach Paris.

AUTO ACCIDENTS TAKE 3 LIVES AS NEW YEAR DAWNS

Policeman, Girl 18, Youth 19, First Victims.

Between midnight and dawn yesterday, with 1929 only a few hours old, a young woman and a policeman on duty were killed by reckless drivers who left them dying in the snow and fled to escape responsibility, and a youth of 19 was killed when his car skidded into a steel post. The slippery pavements were responsible for several other accidents in which pedestrians and motorists were injured.

The young woman killed was Miss Grace Hansen, 18 years old, 1908 West Harrison street. Her companion fled on foot after wrecking his car against a lamp post at 107th street and Vincennes avenue.

Girl Dies at Hospital.

The impact hurled the girl through the windshield. Three young men, happening on the scene, took her to the Roseland Community hospital, where she died unidentified. Hours later an anonymous telephone caller, believed to be the fugitive, revealed her name and the identification was confirmed by her parents.

The policeman, John Sacht of the Maxwell street district, was struck by a speeding limousine at Polk and Morgan streets as he and his partner, Policeman John Barry, were examining an abandoned auto. Barry was knocked aside, only slightly injured, but Sacht, caught on the left fender of the car, was carried nearly a block before his body rolled under the wheels and was crushed.

Reports Death Car Stolen.

Forty-five minutes later, at Racine avenue and Tilden street, the police came upon the limousine of Wilbert B. Ashby, 531 Central avenue, Lake Bluff, a prominent Chicago architect. The left fender was crushed and the headlight smashed. Within a few moments of the finding of the car, Ashby's chauffeur, James Norton, reported it stolen at the Des Plaines street station.

Ashby and his wife were questioned, but were released when they convinced the police they knew nothing of the accident.

The youth who was killed was Maurice Marder, 19 years old, 2119 South Millard avenue. The sedan in which Marder and four companions were riding skidded on the snow and struck a support pillar of the Chicago and North Western railroad at North Western avenue and Logan boulevard. The others were injured, but none seriously.

Two Others Die of Injuries.

Two other persons died during the day of injuries suffered in 1928 crashes. They were:

Mrs. Catherine Cameron, 45 years old, 425 North Kedzie avenue; struck Dec. 24 at Washington boulevard and Parkside avenue by a car driven by Edward Hill, 5951 West Huron street.

William Hanaway, 26 years old, 7100 Sheridan road; knocked down on New Year's eve at Lunt and Ashland avenues by a car driven by Robert Wenterm, 1627 Lunt avenue. Wenterm was arrested.

COUNTY OFFICES EARN MORE THAN 6 MILLION IN FEES DURING 1928

County offices collected slightly more than $6,000,000 in fees in 1928, County Controller W. J. Graham announced in his annual report made yesterday. The 1928 budget had estimated the fees at $5,995,000.

The county treasurer received $2,400,000 in fees; recorder, $1,414,425, county clerk, $1,179,748, Circuit court, $274,210; Superior court, $284,109; Probate court, $267,511; sheriff, $219,765; and the Criminal court, coroner, and state's attorney between $3,000 and $10,000 each.

Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court, reported that the salary appropriations for his office for the year totaled $164,847 and the salaries paid came to $164,110, leaving a balance of $736. The net earnings of the court were $312,906, leaving a total balance over all expenditures of $86,766.

2 SCHOOL BOYS ARE WOUNDED BY CHRISTMAS GUNS

Two school boys hunting sparrows yesterday with rifles received as Christmas gifts, were shot and seriously wounded.

Louis Pinter, 16 years old, 5506 West 64th street, was wounded in the abdomen when he stepped into the range of a rifle with which Albert Marshall, 14 years old, 5551 West 63d place, was attempting to shoot a bird in a vacant lot. The gun was a gift to another boy in the neighborhood.

Marvin Jones, 15 years old, 7517 Coles avenue, shot himself through the left thigh when he stumbled and fell while gunning for birds in a prairie at 112th street and Ewing avenue. He was taken to the South Shore hospital.

Year's First Robins Seek Shelter from Snow in House

Yesterday morning as the snow was whirling down Dorothy Nelson, 12 years old, went into the storeroom of the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nelson, 7059 Wabash avenue, and found two robins fluttering about. The birds apparently had flown in through an open window during the night. It may be added that this appearance of the two robins does not mean that spring is near. Some robins remain in this neighborhood all winter long.

DUCE TELLS KING HAPPY NEW YEAR IN BIG CEREMONY

French President Receives Diplomats of World.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune]

ROME, Jan. 1.—Clad in the special uniform affected by the Italian prime ministers, Premier Benito Mussolini, for six years dictator of Italy, drove to Quirinal palace this morning, where he mounted the royal steps to King Victor Emmanuel's throne and presented the Italian monarch with the government's new year's greetings.

From the steps of the throne Premier Mussolini conversed at length with the king and queen, who were dressed in their robes of state and who were surrounded by court functionaries.

King Victor Emmanuel, with the queen and Princess Giovanna, arrived at the palace at ten o'clock from their ordinary residence in the Villa Savoiya after attending mass in the king's private chapel.

Don Brilliant Clothing.

Before entering the throne room with his court the king put on the high uniform of the order of Annunziata. Queen Helene wore a robe of gold and silver, with a mantle of gold and with a diadem of diamonds and pearls, while Princess Giovanna wore an azure blue robe and mantle. The elaborately dressed ladies in waiting wore the royal initials done in brilliants and attached to their robes with blue ribbons.

High state dignitaries, also grouped in the throne room, were protected by hundreds of royal carabinieri, in full dress uniforms, who were massed in the square before the royal palace and lined the halls leading to the throne room.

Immediately surrounding the king were Count Mattoli, minister of the royal household, the ladies of the court; Gen. Asinari Di Bernesso, royal aid de camp; Admiral Moreno, and a dozen other royal aids. Premier Mussolini arrived in an automobile, accompanied by his secretary, Sig. Guinta.

Officials Ride in State.

After Premier Mussolini had expressed his new year's wishes to all members of the royal order of Annunziata and paid his respects to the king there arrived the presidents of the senate and chamber of deputies and some members of each house, all in full uniform and riding in gala state in old fashioned coaches, with powdered footmen, wearing wigs, and outriders. These old state coaches once belonged to the Grand Duke of Tuscany. In succession there followed others sets of officials, including ministers, commanders of the army and navy, judges of the Supreme court, prefects, and high provincial officials.

These receptions took up the whole morning. This afternoon the king returned to the throne room, where he received Prince Boncompagni, governor of the city of Rome, in the most picturesque ceremonies of all.

Prince Boncompagni, in the state coach of the city, and escorted by mounted municipal police, rode from historic Capitoline hill, which is still the seat of the government of Rome, to the king's palace on top of another one of the seven hills of the Eternal city, while thousands of the Roman populace gathered to cheer and witness the show. The king will receive the diplomatic corps tomorrow.

Duce Works Rest of Day.

Hurrying back from the reception this morning, Premier Mussolini started to work. He received the supreme council of the Fascist party and afterwards the secretary of the Fascist party, Augusto Turati, presented him with membership card No. 1 of the Fascist party for the new year. Mutual congratulations were exchanged on what the Fascist party accomplished during the last year.

In accordance with Premier Mussolini's instructions, subordinate officials refrained from wasting their time by calling at his office to present their new year wishes.

Doumergue Receives Diplomats.

PARIS, Jan. 1.—(AP)—France's part in the effort for world peace was the theme of the reception by President Gaston Doumergue today to the ambassadors and ministers of some sixty nations accredited to Paris.

Archbishop Luigi Maglione, the papal nuncio, as dean of the diplomatic corps, led the procession of envoys at the Elysées palace and addressed the president in their name. He described the Kellogg-Briand pact for the renunciation of war as "due to the noble and generous initiative of France and the United States."

TAMMANY MOVES INTO OWN BUILDING; DEDICATION IN SPRING

New York, Jan. 1.—[Special.]—Tammany now is back under its own roof, after nearly six months at 2 Park avenue, following removal from the old Wigwam in East 14th street.

Announcement to this effect was made today by James F. Egan, secretary of Tammany. Furniture for the New York county Democratic committee was moved into the new hall at East 17th street and 4th avenue yesterday, and George W. Olvany, the leader, will receive the assembly district leaders and braves there next Tuesday for the first time.

Virtually all the leading members of Tammany were at Albany today for the inauguration of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, else a New Year's reception probably would have been held in the new hall. Mr. Egan will open the county committee offices tomorrow.

The new hall is far from completion and the only floor ready for occupancy is the second, on which the county committee has opened offices. The cornerstone laying and dedication will take place in the spring.

Knoxville Elects Bass, Ex-Engineer, City Manager

Knoxville, Tenn., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Neil Bass, former chief engineer and commissioner of the state department of highways and public works, was elected city manager of Knoxville tonight. He succeeds Otto Roehl, business man, who had held the office for fourteen months. The salary is $10,000 a year.

BODY OF MISSING GIRL, 12, FOUND; HUNT SLAYER

Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 1.—(AP)—Search for 12 year old June Nelson today was turned into a hunt for her slayer when her body was found in a shallow water course at the edge of this city.

A physician's examination revealed she had been criminally attacked and choked.

Tonight all available police, detectives and deputy sheriffs had been called out to search out the man who abducted her near the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Nelson, last night. Her body had been thrown from a bridge that crosses the canal.

June's 5 year old sister, Betty, told her parents a man who she believed had worn a mask over his face accosted her near her home last Friday night and fled when she screamed and ran upon the porch.

An ex-convict, who had served two prison sentences for attacks on girls and whose victims had been left in the same locality where June's body was found, was taken to the police station for questioning.

IL DUCE BOWS TO ULTIMATUM FROM ARGENTINA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NICE, France, Jan. 1.—A brush over the question of Italian nationalism has just occurred between Premier Benito Mussolini and President Hipolito Yrigoyen of Argentina, according to reports.

Italy holds that children of Italian parents, even if born on foreign soil, are still Italian, and some of these citizens coming back to Italy with full authority papers as foreign citizens are held on Italian soil, and in some instances compelled to do military service.

When this happened in a case of an Italian citizen of Argentina recently, President Yrigoyen signed a decree prohibiting Italian ships from entering the port of Buenos Aires until the Mussolini regulations were removed. The regulations were removed.

YOUTH KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT.

Streator, Ill., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Joseph C. Carter, 21, of Cornell, is dead and his brothers, Richard, 19, and Louis, 15, are still unconscious today as the result of injuries suffered in an automobile accident yesterday.

HEALTH OFFICIALS GIVE PRACTICAL ADVICE TO HELP AVOID INFLUENZA

The recommendations of health officials deserve special consideration at this time: Get plenty of sleep. Be careful that you eat only wholesome food. Avoid crowds whenever possible. Stay at home and take good care of a cold however slight. Proper precautionary measures now should keep you free from the "flu." It is much easier to avoid than to cure.

With influenza sweeping across the country, many persons have found Vapex an excellent first aid in keeping free from colds of all kinds. The simplicity of the use of Vapex makes it especially suitable for those who cannot avoid crowds. Put a drop on a folded handkerchief every morning. Breathe the pleasing vapor frequently during the day. Use it often while riding in street cars, busses, etc. The strength of the vapor lasts all day. Vapex will keep you free from colds and stop a cold at the start. Get Vapex from your druggist in the little square bottle and the package with the green triangle.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUN

KING STARTS THE NEW YEAR WITH A 'SLIGHT GAIN'

Passes Quiet Day; Queen Gives Thanks Message.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 1.—King George started the new year today with a "slight improvement" in his general condition. He had a quiet day. The feeling of optimism over his eventual recovery continued among both his immediate family and among the doctors attending him. The queen today gave expression to her feeling of hopefulness. The evening bulletin, issued by the doctors at 8:15 p. m., said:

"The king has had a restful day and there is a slight improvement in his general condition. The administration of calcium, based on a chemical examination of the blood, is producing beneficial results. [Signed] Sir Stanley Hewett, Sir Hugh M. Rigby, Prof. E. C. Dodds, and Lord Dawson of Penn."

The doctors believe that in the calcium treatment has been found a method of attack against the royal patient's extreme weakness. It is not revealed, however, in what way the calcium is being administered. Presumably one of the objects is to make up for the lack of the proper quantity of calcium in the blood.

The violet ray therapy treatment apparently has been dropped momentarily. Calcium may be administered through the mouth, which is the preferable method, or by injection.

Queen's Message to London.

The queen today sent a message to the citizens of London, addressed to Lord Mayor Sir Knyaston Studd:

"The king's illness must take its long and arduous course, but, please God, we may look forward to a lifting of the cloud and to the happy realization of the nation's faith and hope.

"Affection of My Children."

"The love and affection extended me by my children throughout these dark days has indeed been a support to me and those near and dear to me, and when the health and strength will be, as we hope, vouchsafed again to the king, it will be a source of happiness to him to know that in his suffering he had been ever in the thoughts of the citizens of London. I pray you, my lord mayor, to convey to one and all my heartfelt thanks.

(Signed) "QUEEN MARY."

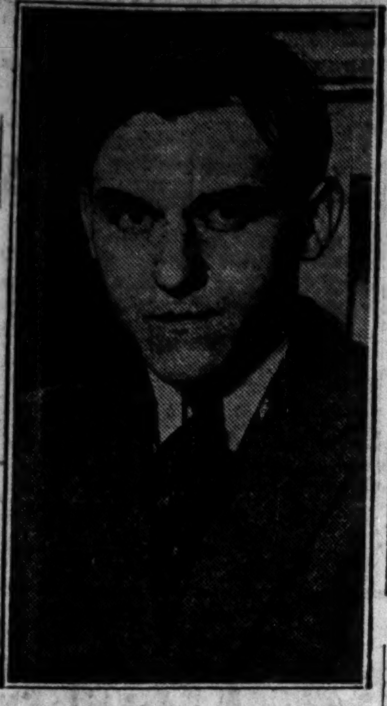
CONFESSES



Gordon Stewart Northcott.

BARBER HANGS SELF IN HOME.

Thomas Prasil, 35 years old, 3224 South Harding avenue, a barber, hanged himself with a rope to a beam in the basement of his home last night. His wife, Anna, said he had been despondent over ill health.

SLEW FOUR BOYS ON CHICKEN FARM, NORTHCOTT SAYS

Tells Where Graves Can Be Found.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 1.—[Special.]—Only the intervention of his attorneys tonight checked Gordon Stewart Northcott, who tomorrow goes to trial in Riverside for a series of boy murders at his chicken ranch, from making a sweeping statement which Los Angeles jail officials said would have been as important as the confession made by his mother, Mrs. Sarah Louise Northcott, now in San Quentin, to serve a life term.

As it was, young Northcott told Deputy Sheriff Bright many important missing details concerning the slaying of the boys, and, according to the deputy, confessed responsibility for the deaths of Walter Collins, Louis and Nelson Winslow and the headless Mexican youth, whom he called Alvin Gothea.

Gives Location of Graves.

With detail that heretofore has been lacking, Northcott gave the location on the Mojave desert of the graves, where the boys' bodies are said to have been roughly interred. He placed the burial plot at a point 36 miles east of Lancaster, and the desolate waste lands between that town and Victorville. Northcott described a knoll of which the landmarks are two trees, as the place where the bodies were hidden.

A posse will go out tomorrow to check on the statement.

It was at Northcott's own request that tonight's conference was called. He said he desired to give some missing information of value to the police and proceeded to tell Deputy Sheriff Bright the parts of the story.

Halts Youth's Confession.

Sensing an important situation, Bright halted the prisoner, recalling orders of the presiding judge of Los Angeles Superior court that no further questioning of the 21 year old youth must be made without the presence of his attorneys.

When the array of four defense counsel appeared Northcott suddenly became incommunicative.

MOTHER BEGINS LIFE SENTENCE.

San Quentin Prison, Cal., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Mrs. Sarah Louisa Northcott, who was sentenced to life imprisonment at Riverside, Cal., yesterday after pleading guilty to murdering Walter Collins, a young boy, on her Wineville chicken ranch, arrived at the prison here today to begin serving her sentence.

Mrs. Northcott was accompanied by Sheriff and Mrs. Clem Sweeters of Riverside county.

After posing for photographs, Mrs. Northcott was put through the routine of admission and told that she could attend the New Year's show if she desired.

OHIO OFFICIAL FINDS CHARGES OF DRYS 'FALSE'

Columbus, O., Jan. 1.—[Special.]—Bert B. Buckley, state treasurer, today insisted that the charges of conspiracy to defraud the government and violate the prohibition laws of the United States filed against him were a "cold blooded frame-up." At the same time preparations were being made to have him appear before Federal Judge Benson W. Hough Saturday for arraignment.

The indictments were returned by a federal grand jury here Monday in a report which included similar charges being placed against John L. Schrimper, Cincinnati attorney and former legislator, and Joseph Sperber of the Jackson Brewing company of Cincinnati.

WOMAN DIES BY GAS.

Mrs. Clara Hood, 37 year old widow, was found dead of gas in her room at 943 Ainslie street, yesterday. Neighbors said she had been despondent over her failing health.

LIQUOR DEATHS IN NEW YORK ON INCREASE

And This Despite Better Quality of Rum.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 1.—[Special.]—The death rate from bad liquor is growing in New York despite the fact that the quality of the booze is improving.

It isn't the liquor that carries them off, according to statistics obtained today. It is the foolish things the drinkers do after they carry off the liquor.

Bad liquor, or men and women that liquor made bad, caused 256 more deaths here in 1928 than during the preceding year, it was disclosed by Dr. Charles Norris, chief city medical examiner. Dr. Norris believes the figures for 1929 will surpass those of 1928, which totaled 1,565 fatalities.

What the Figures Show.

The following table shows the deaths by alcoholism since 1918, as officially reported:

Year.	Deaths.	Year.	Deaths.
1919	176	1924	513
1920	98	1925	683
1921	119	1926	759
1922	274

The 1927 and 1928 deaths from bad liquor are greater because accidents and crimes caused by the influence of poor liquor have been included.

130 Alcoholic Deaths.

"The city files record that only 130 were set down as alcoholic deaths, but page after page was given to homicides, motor accidents, and accidental death from falls. Most of these were directly traceable to bad liquor.

That the quality of the liquor is getting better is evident from a comparison of this year's New Year deaths with those of last year. There were but two fatalities and eleven hospital cases from bad booze reported today after a night of revelry. Last year there were forty deaths.

There is a difference of opinion regarding the reason for the low holiday rum death rate.

"It is a surprising thing there were not more deaths," said Dr. Norris. "There is just as much drinking today as there was when the saloons were running full blast. The drinks that are being sold, even in the best places, are mostly bad. In fact, there is no such thing as safe drinking these days.

"Even persons buying liquor on medical prescriptions are apt to get cut liquor containing many foreign ingredients."

Prohibition Commissioner Doran attributes the holiday improvement to the "education of the public" and the new formula used by the prohibition bureau to render alcohol unfit for beverage purposes. The new formula, it appears, is not so deadly as the former use of pyridine.

Liquor "Off Boat" Cut.

There are those, however, who are even closer to the liquor supplies of the nation than either Dr. Norris or Mr. Doran. They admit the liquor is far from pure, but insist it no longer is actually death dealing. In other words, they are learning how to make it.

A large part of New York's holiday booze this year came from the ships, a sort of revived rum row. While it was "right off the boat," it was not 100 per cent pure when it reached the customers. It was cut from one to three times, but there was nothing in it to kill any one.

INJURED BY FALL IN SHAFT.

Bert Lichtenstein, 41 years old, 1646 Farwell avenue, a salesman for the Coquette Garment company, 208 West Adams street, suffered a possible fracture of the skull yesterday when he fell nine feet to the basement through a partially opened elevato shaft door in the Adam street building.

NEW POLICE BUREAU ORGANIZED FOR DRIVE ON HOUSE BREAKERS

With the inauguration of the new major crime bureau today Deputy Police Commissioner John Stege, chief of detectives, announced yesterday that before 1929 is very old he will have on the run the housebreakers and home robbers of Chicago. The new office adjoins that of the deputy commissioner on the third floor of the new police building at 11th and State streets. Capt. William Killeen will be in charge with Lieut. Joseph Ronan as his assistant.

Forty picked policemen have been assigned to the new branch of the police department. They will travel in pairs. The men, all experienced in catching thieves, will be given reports of robberies and burglaries throughout Chicago. Their duty then will be to go the neighborhoods in which the robberies were reported and patrol them in an effort to catch the criminal in the act. If necessary the entire forty men will be put in one district until the job is done.

Pictures of every known robber and house prowler, with details about their habits and their methods of gaining entrance to a home, will be kept on file.

DURANT ASKS WHY DRY LAW ISN'T ENFORCED

New York, Jan. 1.—(AP)—W. C. Durant today suggested the appointment of a congressional committee "to discover and inform the country and Mr. Hoover as to why the 18th amendment has not been satisfactorily inforced."

The suggestion was made in a statement in which Mr. Durant disclosed that his offer of $25,000 for a practical plan for inforcement of the prohibition amendment was prompted by the taking of an oath of allegiance to the United States on renewing his passport before a trip to Europe last summer.

In suggesting the appointment of the congressional committee Mr. Durant recalled that President Elect Hoover in his speech accepting the Republican nomination for the presidency had said that "common sense compels us to realize that grave abuses have occurred" and that "an organized, searching investigation of fact and causes can alone determine the wise method of correcting them."

Mr. Durant said that this fact finding committee "would gather much information that the President needs and that the people want."

Norman St. Clair Hale Dies After New Year Eve Fall

New York, Jan. 1.—(AP)—The body fo Norman St. Clair Hale, an actor, was found today on the sidewalk in West 58th street, just off Broadway. Police said an investigation disclosed that Hale had visited a fire engine company quarters during the New Year's celebration, climbed to the third floor and fell to the floor below, then refused medical attention and walked away.

KILLS SELF IN JUMP FROM WINDOW.

Harry Edmondson, 60 year old telegrapher, was fatally injured when, in a delirium caused by illness, he leaped from a bedroom on the second floor of his home at 3801 Ellis avenue. He died yesterday at the Lakeside hospital.

NEW YEAR'S EVE THE DRIEST YET, SAYS YELLOWLEY

One Dead, 7 Wounded in Revelry Shooting.

The celebration of this New Year's eve was the quietest he has seen since prohibition, E. C. Yellowley, federal dry administrator, said yesterday in discussing the revelry in and around Chicago. His attitude seemed to be reflected in reports from the country towns where few arrests were made during the night and early morning hours.

"Conditions in Chicago were good," Mr. Yellowley said. "I got around a little myself and everybody seemed to be having a good time in an orderly manner. It was the driest New Year's ever I've seen since prohibition."

The administrator said he believed people were beginning to realize that prohibition was here to stay and they were thus gaining more respect for the law itself.

"They know, too," he added, "that they can't depend on what they drink. Our chemists tell us that less than 2 per cent of the whisky now sold is genuine, and that's something to think about."

One Dead; Seven Wounded.

One dead and seven shot was the total of accidents in the city. Anthony Caronti, 42 years old, 2646 West Superior street, was shot and fatally wounded outside his home early yesterday. Before he died in St. Mary's hospital he told police he heard several shots fired but could not see those who fired them.

Miss Sylvia Stanton, 18 years old, 1636 North Cicero avenue, was reported in a serious condition yesterday after having been shot in the back during a New Year's party at 36 South Ashland avenue. Members of the party were questioned by police. The six others shot were not seriously injured.

At the county hospital two stray bullets penetrated windows, frightening patients. One of the slugs, flying through a window of the maternity ward, fell on a patient's bed.

The one bombing of the night, that of the coffee and barber shop of Gus Fragis at 447 North Clark street, was still a mystery. Fragis told police that his barbers are union members, and he denied any gambling or liquor connections.

Go to Wisconsin for Beer.

County highway police reported a considerable exodus of citizens over the Wisconsin state line during the evening, the apparent destination being the roadhouses where beer parties could be held with the twofold advantage of quality and economy. A good beer party, it was said, cost only a few dollars in Wisconsin, while the same entertainment could not be obtained in Chicago for less than $30. Many automobiles carrying parties singing "On Wisconsin" crossed the line during the evening.

DELAY START OF. MRS. MILLER'S TERM IN PRISON

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 1.—[Special.]—Mrs. Etta Mae Miller, under sentence of life imprisonment in the Detroit house of correction as an habitual criminal by reason of four liquor law violations, spent New Year's day in the county jail at Mason contemplating a long stay behind the bars.

Sheriff Hugh Silsby originally had planned to take the first woman victim of Michigan's freak law to the Detroit prison today. Three factors entered into the situation to prevent such action. Commitment papers were not completed, a heavy snowstorm descended upon this district making driving difficult, and the sheriff's department wanted a holiday.

Mrs. Miller spent her first night after hearing her doom pronounced in sound slumber, according to the deputies at the jail. During the ride from Lansing to Mason and after her arrival at the jail she continued to deny she was guilty of four felonies.

She condemned the mandatory life sentence given her Monday by Judge Charles B. Collingwood.

It seemed probable late today that the sheriff would take Mrs. Miller to Detroit early Wednesday. It is possible she may be granted temporary freedom by the Supreme court if, as now indicated, her case is appealed.

May Gain Freedom Soon.

Observers of the case are inclined to believe that, no matter what the outcome of further litigation in Mrs. Miller's behalf, she will be released permanently within a few months provided the legislature, whose session officially convened today, modifies the habitual criminal law to exclude prohibition offenses from the four felony provision.

Such action by the legislature, it is pointed out, would make it almost obligatory upon the parole board to give early consideration to the cases of all persons given the maximum penalty on the basis of liquor law violations.

In this class are Mrs. Miller, Fred Palm, Lansing "pint of gin" lifer, and Channie Tripp of Flint, who was sent to Marquette branch prison, although his only offenses were of the prohibition variety.

Cermak Gives New Year's Meal to 5,000 Unemployed

A New Year's dinner was served to more than 5,000 of the city's unemployed at Madison and Franklin streets yesterday by A. J. Cermak, president of the Cook county board. This dinner duplicated the Christmas day dinner, also supplied by Cermak. Those in charge of distributing the food yesterday were John F. Berry, John T. Connelly, Silvie Ferratti, August H. Loula, and Joseph La Rose.

DIES OF HEART DISEASE.

Heart disease is believed to have been the cause of the death of John Bucholtz, 62 years old, who was found dead yesterday in his room at 474 Milwaukee avenue.

LOWDEN EXPECTS HAPPY NEW YEAR FOR AGRICULTURE

Advises Farmers to Back Hoover Program.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

A New Year's word of cheer for agriculture and of counsel for the farmers to coöperate to the fullest in President Elect Hoover's farm relief program came yesterday from Frank O. Lowden as he departed for four months of globe trotting in the Levant.

The former governor and Mrs. Lowden, with their daughter, Florence, and their son, Pullman, took the Century for New York, where they will sail early tomorrow morning on the steamship Augustus of the Italian line. Naples is the first port of call. After that the Lowdens will go to Alexandria for a tour of Egypt, and then to the Holy Land and Greece. Mr. Lowden will supplement the sightseeing with a study of farming methods in the cradles of husbandry.

Better Times Coming, He Says.

"Farmers who have been able to weather the depression so far," he said, "should take heart for the future, because the increase in population is much more rapid than the increase in farm products. We are bound to have better times for agriculture if we only persist in doing the best we can.

"All sincere friends of agriculture, in my opinion, will coöperate wholeheartedly with President Elect Hoover in his program. I believe there is a wider understanding of the problem of the farmer than ever before in our history.

"We never had a presidential campaign in which the problems of the farmer played so prominent a part as in the recent presidential campaign. A clean cut issue was developed as to remedies, and the candidates of the two major parties each recognized the gravity of the situation.

Explains Hoover Principle.

"Both candidates proposed a federal farm board. Mr. Hoover set forth that the board should set up a stabilization corporation, with liberal advances from the government, its purpose being to stabilize the price of farm products. The idea of such a corporation, of course, is to attempt the handling of seasonal and occasional surpluses, in the hope of preventing them from demoralizing the market. He, however, frankly rejected the idea that the cost of equalization should be distributed over the whole commodity thus stabilized.

"On the other hand, Gov. Smith forcefully asserted the principle that the cost of handling the surplus should be shouldered by the commodity benefited. In substance, this was the principle of the equalization fee.

"Thus the issue was clear cut. When the people preferred Mr. Hoover to Gov. Smith they thus, in effect, issued a mandate to Mr. Hoover to proceed with the farm program he advocated. All friends of agriculture will now work with him in giving his program effect.

"Undoubtedly congress will wish freely to consult with the President as legislation is being shaped. I understand that a special session is to be called. That, I think, would be the proper time for action upon this important question. As Mr. Hoover will have the responsibility of administering whatever laws may be enacted, it appears to me that the wise course at present is to wait the inauguration of the new administration."

Gov. Lowden, hale and hearty and appearing in the pink of condition, spent the morning at the homes of his two married daughters, Mrs. John B. Drake Jr. and Mrs. Albert F. Madlener Jr.

Hates to Leave Farm.

"It's all new country for us that we're going to tour," he said. "We've never been there before. It will be most interesting. I'll have a chance to study methods of farming in the ancient home of agriculture. We look for a great time. But I hate to leave the farm."

Among the callers was Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, who was Lowden's campaign manager in 1904, in the famous deadlock governorship fight. Somebody asked the czar of baseball if he didn't wish he was going along with the Lowden party.

"Me, I never go anywhere," he said, shaking his mane. "I've traveled a million miles, but I've never been anywhere."

MISS MACKAYE, ACTRESS, ENDS TERM IN PRISON

San Quentin Prison, Cal., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Dorothy Mackaye, Los Angeles actress, was released from the state penitentiary here today after ten months behind its walls. She left for San Rafael to visit her baby daughter. After that, she said, she might think again of her stage career and possibly attempt to return to the theater.

Miss Mackaye was convicted of concealing facts concerning the death in Los Angeles of her husband, Ray Raymond, former stage comedian, for whose death Paul Kelly, stage juvenile, is serving a term of from one to ten years in San Quentin. The prison board recently fixed the actress' term at one year, which was reduced to ten months by good behavior.

A DEFENSELESS AMERICA, AIM OF CHURCH LOBBY

Methodists Join Pacifists to Fight Cruiser Bill.

can arbitration resolution through the senate. Incidentally, Senator Norris, who lives under the roof of one of the greatest propaganda and lobbying organizations that ever operated at the seat of government, has devoted himself for the last two years to excoriation of the power trust for its lobbying and propaganda activities

Dr. Wilson, who laughs good humoredly over his sobriquet of Methodist pope, denies emphatically that the privilege of living in the Methodist building is employed to reward those who obey and punish those who defy his lobby.

Wife Passes on Applications.

"I do not pass on applications for apartments," he said today. "My wife does that, and I am sure that an applicant's stand on public affairs has nothing to do with it. Why, three of our present tenants, Senators Robinson, Norris and Hayden, supported Al Smith."

Other Methodist institutions have been punishing by dismissal persons who supported Al Smith, but Dr. Wilson denied that he would dispossess the three senators for that reason.

The church lobby has been unusually active since Bishop McConnell was elected head of the Federal Council of Churches a few weeks ago. His first move was to bring to the White House a great petition in favor of the Kellogg treaty and against the cruiser bill which had been circulated by the Federal council. He became chairman of a New York citizen's committee which organized the meeting here for next week under the auspices of the Washington Council on International Relations, another pacifist organization headed by another Methodist leader, Edward T. Devine, dean of the graduate school of the American university, a Methodist institution.

Linked with Radicals.

Bishop McConnell is a promoter of various undertakings linking the Methodist church and the Federal Council of Churches with the radicals. His own radical tendencies have been expressed in the work of the Methodist Federation for Social Service, which he has sponsored.

The secretary and director of this group is the Rev. Harry F. Ward, a radical Methodist clergyman who is associate secretary of the social service commission of the Federal Council of Churches and until recently was chairman of the American Civil Liberties union, an organization specializing in the defense of radicals. The name of Bishop McConnell appears again and again in the lists of sponsors of propaganda dissemination undertaken jointly by pacifists and radicals.

The Washington Council on International Relations was founded about a year ago to counteract the activities in behalf of a larger army and navy on the party of "generals, admirals and 100 per cent patriots," as Dr. Devine puts it. The organization was suggested by Murray S. Kenworthy, a Quaker pastor, who was active in the National Council for Prevention of War and by Bishop Paul Jones, a radical and pacifist, who is a leader in the Fellowship for Reconciliation, a pacifist organization, subsidized by the Garland fund, which is devoted to the promotion of radical and pacifistic agencies.

Speakers at Mass Meeting.

Among the speakers booked for the mass meeting next week are Bishop McConnell, the Rev. Reinhold Niebuhr, another leader in the Federal Council of Churches, Prof. Parker T. Moon of Columbia university and Everett Colby.

Coöperating with the Federal Council of Churches in the drive against the cruiser bill is the National Council for Prevention of War, a clearing house for the pacifistic activities of 31 organizations, including the American Association of University Women, the American Farm Bureau federation, the American Federation of Teachers, which fights the military training of youth; the National Education association, and the World Alliance for International Friendship. Also among the organizations represented are the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, the Fellowship for Reconciliation, and the National Consumers' league, all of which have received financial assistance from the Garland fund under its administration by Socialists, communists and other radicals. The head of the national council is Frederick Libby, a Quaker, who was barred from speaking in the Washington public schools because of unpatriotic utterances.

The church lobby coöperates freely in joint undertakings with the radicals whose interest in achieving a defenseless America is political. The Socialists base their pacifism on unwillingness "to give a single life or a single dollar" in "support of capitalism" while the communists frankly admit they would abolish the army and navy that they may the more easily overthrow our present form of government.

Endorsed By Bishop.

One of the principal joint undertakings of the church lobby and the radicals was the publication of the Lane pamphlet, circulated by the Socialistic League for Industrial Democracy which "bores from within." The colleges, the Civil Liberties union, the Fellowship for Reconciliation, the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, all are financially assisted by the Garland fund, and to some extent by the Federal Council of Churches.

The Lane pamphlet was endorsed on the flyleaf by a committee including Bishop McConnell, the Rev. Samuel Cavert, Harold A. Hatch, Frederick Lynch, the Rev. C. C. Morrison and other leaders in the Federal Council of Churches, Jane Addams, Carrie Chapman Catt, Sherwood Eddy, Zona Gale, and Senators Norris, William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], Henrik Shipstead [Farm-Labor, Minn.], and Robert M. La Follette, [Rep., Wis.] Among the organizers of the anti-cruiser bill mass meeting next week who endorsed the radical Lane pamphlet, are Dr. Morrison, Paul Kellogg, Henry N. MacCracken, Bishop Edward L. Parsons, Rabbi Stephen S Wise and former Gov. William E. Sweet of Colorado.

WILBUR PRAISES C. A. OF C. STAND FOR CRUISER BILL

The Chicago Association of Commerce was congratulated on its stand in favor of the fifteen cruiser bill, now before congress, in a message from Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur, which was made public yesterday by William R. Dawes, president of the association.

"I have felt for some time that the business interests and commercial organizations of the United States have not appreciated the great importance to them of the maintenance of a navy of sufficient size and strength to safeguard at all times out-sea borne com belligerent nations."

"If the efforts toward perpetual peace are unsuccessful and any of the nations of the earth are drawn into war, the business interests of this country will be vitally affected and will suffer severely unless the United States is strong enough on the outbreak of the war to convince all nations that United States commerce will be adequately protected."

DIES SUDDENLY AFTER PARTY ON NEW YEAR EVE

Gus Schroeder, 50 years old, 3332 West North avenue, died at his home yesterday following a New Year's eve party with four friends.

Thomas Michaelson, Hans Jordan and Harry Erickson, all of 1713 North Kedzie avenue, where the party was held, and Julius Johnson, 1844 North Kedzie avenue, Schroeder's friends, took him to his home in a taxicab after he had become ill. He died before a physician could be summoned. The police were unable to determine the cause of death. They held the four men for the inquest.

JANITOR OVERCOME BY GAS.

Arnold Sparks, 25 years old, colored, a janitor living in the basement of an apartment building at 161 East Ontario street, was overcome by fumes from a hot water heater yesterday. An inhalator squad revived him.

HOOVER WORKS ON INAUGURAL ADDRESS AT SEA

Party Stages Gay New Year Celebration.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ABOARD U. S. S. UTAH, Jan. 1.—The Hoovers' New Year's day on a battleship was one which will long be remembered by them. No noise ushered the new year in for them—only the striking of the ship's bell and the gentle wash of waves.

President Elect Herbert C. Hoover was asleep, but Mrs. Hoover was on the bridge with the captain, looking on the brilliant constellations wheeling over the masts, and the dark waters of the night.

Today was bright, with trade winds bringing long blue rollers to the ship's side. After breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Hoover watched the colors of the waters and flying fish playing. A reception was arranged by the captain of the ship at 11 o'clock, on the upper deck. Notables at Washington appeared in burlesque costumes and a sort of gridiron performance was held. Deck tennis was played in the afternoon and a movie concert after dinner.

Hears Washington Rumors.

The ship's tabloid paper is bringing constant political surprises to the Hoovers in the way of conjectures on cabinet appointments and other matters supposed to be in store for him at Washington. He has given no word of appointments or plans for Washington, except that he will remain there only a few days and then go to Florida.

Mr. Hoover has planned tentative trips to Havana and Santo Domingo before his inauguration, but nothing is certain. Mr. Hoover is working on his inaugural address and getting together material gathered in South America for a report and future use.

Mr. Hoover is finding the voyage comfortable. He is in fine health as he nears home.

We will pass about seven miles northeast of Porto Rico tomorrow and will dock at Hampton Roads, Va., early Sunday.

Waves Drench Some.

U. S. S. UTAH, Jan. 1.—(AP)—There were showers early this morning soon after the Hoovers arose, and a brilliant rainbow stretched from horizon to horizon off the port bow. The rain was succeeded by clear skies and the tropical sun beat down the rest of the day, although the heat was tempered by stiff trade winds.

The President Elect had his usual nap after luncheon while Mrs. Hoover operated a portable motion picture machine on various parts of the ship.

Few members of the Hoover party escaped drenching during the day as seas broke over the bow.

COOLIDGES END HAPPY VACATION ON SEA ISLANDS

On Way Back to Washington from Georgia.

Sapelo Island, Ga., Jan. 1.—(AP)—His mid-winter vacation on the Sea islands of Georgia at an end, President Coolidge tonight was on his way back to the national capital.

New Year's day was spent quietly on Sapelo island, where the chief executive and Mrs. Coolidge were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Coffin. With an overnight railroad journey ahead of him, the hunting trails were abandoned and the chief executive rested quietly at the Coffin home.

Late in the day, Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge, their official party and their hosts, boarded the Coffin yacht, the Zapala, for the first stretch of the homeward journey, through the meandering marshland channels to St. Simons island, thence by automobile to Brunswick, where the presidential special was awaiting the chief executive's arrival.

Had Enjoyable Vacation.

Mr. Coolidge frankly enjoyed his stay here and expressed his gratitude for the hospitality that had been accorded him. In the course of his six day visit he hunted with success for pheasants, wild turkeys and quail, and one morning was spent in a deer drive, which, although fruitless for Mr. Coolidge himself, resulted in a member of his party, Col. Osmun Latrobe, his military aide, bringing down a fine doe.

Sees Many Points of Interest.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge attended services at historic old Christ Episcopal church and visited several places of historic interest. Mr. Coolidge enjoyed an oyster roast and early Monday engaged in an unsuccessful hunt for wild turkeys.

At odd moments, Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge have posed for Frank O. Salisbury, an English portrait painter who accompanied them to Georgia to picture the President for the New York Genealogical and Biographical society. The paintings are now completed so far as the sittings are concerned.

2,657 CASES OF FLU UNDER QUARANTINE, STATE REPORT SHOWS

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 1.—[U.P.]—The weekly health report issued here by the state department of public health revealed that there are 2,657 cases of influenza and 1,333 cases of pneumonia under quarantine in Illinois. Chicago reported 770 cases of influenza, while 962 of the total pneumonia cases are reported out of Chicago.

Diphtheria, 242; scarlet fever, 366; typhoid fever, 9; small pox, 55; whooping cough, 97; tuberculosis, 125; mumps, 91; chicken pox, 350, and measles, 247.

UNKNOWN YANKS GIVE $100,000 FOR BRITISH MINERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 1.—A generous American gift for the unemployed English miners was announced tonight. Some American friends of the prince of Wales, touched by the appeal he recently sent out over the radio, cabled $100,000 for the lord mayor's fund.

Sir Godfrey Thomas, the prince's private secretary, received a trans-Atlantic telephone call from a prominent American in New York, a personal friend of the prince, who said that he and his friends had been impressed by the way the prince spoke in behalf of the miners and "would it be regarded as an intrusion if financial assistance was offered by American citizens?"

Sir Godfrey assured him that help from any source would be welcomed. A draft for $100,000 was delivered within a few hours from the London branch of an American bank. The subscription was entered as from "some American friends of the prince of Wales."

The Annual Capper & Capper Sale of Suits and Overcoats for Winter

When Capper & Capper announce a sale, you may be sure that unusually worthwhile values are being offered. In this instance, doubly desirable savings are available. Because of unseasonable weather conditions during the last Autumn season, the selling of Fall suits and overcoats was noticeably retarded. As a consequence, selections for this event are an especially praiseworthy assortment of suits and overcoats from our regular stocks and we are proffering them at one-third less than their regular prices. Every sale-item is wholly in keeping with the Capper & Capper standard of fabric, styling and workmanship. Here, certainly, is an excellent opportunity to replenish your wardrobe with Capper & Capper wearables at prices appreciably lower than is customarily associated with clothes of this type. Besides the feature-offerings listed below, there is still another large assortment of garments (including evening clothes) of fine quality worsteds, in wanted patterns and models, at special price reductions.

ALDERMEN URGED TO MAKE VEHICLE TAX DO ITS DUTY

Dawes Tells Them Public Wants Street Repairs.

Failure to adopt a measure for scientific expenditure of the vehicle tax fund so as to remedy bad street conditions caused the Chicago Association of Commerce to send each alderman a letter yesterday.

President W. R. Dawes wrote the letter. He reminded the aldermen that they received the report last October revealing bad pavement conditions and expressed surprise that some of them, at a recent meeting of the finance committee, admitted they had not read it. Warning them that the public is awakening to the fact that pavements are poor because of misuse of the vehicle tax fund, he urged them to act on the association's report without delay.

Reminds Them of Their Concern.

"Reports in the public press indicate that members of the finance committee are unfamiliar with the report of the association with reference to use of the vehicle license tax," said Mr. Dawes. "Believing that every alderman would be interested in any suggestions having to do with securing better street conditions, we mailed a copy of this report to each member of the council immediately upon its completion. This was in October.

"During the summer when a taxpayer's suit tied up repair work on the north side aldermen from every section of the city expressed their concern over the condition of the city's streets. We cannot believe it possible this interest passed with the completion of the street repair season."

Streets Get Only 67.7 Per Cent.

The association's proposed measure provided for the expenditure of a greater portion of the $4,000,000 annual vehicle tax fund on actual street repairs, slashing to a minimum the present heavy costs of collection and administration. Out of each $10 paid for an automobile tag, the report stated, $3.23 slips away in the city hall. Only 67.7 per cent reaches the holes in the streets. The association plan is designed to put 93 per cent into repair work, allowing no more than 7 per cent for collection and administration.

Recommendations in the report were based on a scientific survey made by the association's street traffic committee, which drafted Chicago's model traffic ordinance. John T. Redmond heads the committee.

Budget Recalls Report.

After the report went to the council in October it apparently was pigeonholed. Nothing was heard of it until a week ago, when the council finance committee, drafting the 1929 corporate budget, ran into the license department appropriation, 75 per cent of which comes from the vehicle fund. The department asked for $372,000, $295,000 of it to pay 150 so-called license investigators. Ald. Joseph Smith described them as "precinct captains," while Chairman John Clark charged that "a lot of them don't work at all."

Ald. Guy Guernsey proposed that the department be abolished. He also urged immediate action on the association of commerce report. Several members then said they knew nothing about it.

Heated arguments ended with a compromise decision to set up a lump sum appropriation for the department with a string on it and an agreement to take up the association report in connection with the vehicle tax budget which will be drafted within the next two weeks. Ald. Guernsey said he would insist upon its adoption or rejection before any of the 1929 license tag money is expended.

Thinks It's Police Job.

Ald. Guernsey's viewpoint is that the work the license department is supposed to do could be done more effectively by the police. The same point was stressed in the Dawes letter.

"One of the important points made in our report," said Mr. Dawes, "was that the cost of collection has become excessive. Other features mentioned had to do with the growing amounts spent by other departments and for purposes other than the actual repair of the streets. We question as a matter of policy the employment of more than 100 men to perform a function more properly belonging to the police department."

U. S. ENTERS AIR SPEED RACE WITH THREE POWERS

[Copyright: 1929: By The News, New York.]

LONDON, Jan. 1. — The United States will be one of four nations competing in the Schneider trophy high speed seaplane race which will be held off Southampton late in August or early in September. The American entry had a narrow escape, however, from being too late. It reached London only one hour and twenty minutes before midnight last night, the time at which the official entries closed. Up to yesterday the only challengers were Great Britain, Italy and France.

As the planes stand now, there will be ten aircraft taking part—three British, three Italian, three French, and one American. The winners will speed over a straight course and may reach 360 miles an hour, in the opinion of aviation experts here. There remain only eight months in which to produce and test these high speed machines. Aircraft builders are now wrestling with the difficult problems of making their planes lighter, and at the same time pushing their speed still further ahead.

The teams are expected to be at Calshot, near Southampton, at least a month before the race. Altogether 200 foreign competitors are expected in other races, including pilots, mechanics, official observers, and technical experts. British aviation, which now holds the Schneider trophy, is planning to provide one large hangar at Calshot and another commodious shed for the foreign teams.

250 MORE CANAL WORKERS LOSE JOBS THIS WEEK

President Elmore Bitter Over Bond Suit.

The pruning knife will be wielded again this week on the sanitary district pay roll as a result of the failure of the board to sell the $27,000,000 bond issue because of a suit started by Attorney Austin L. Wyman for a secret client. Howard W. Elmore, president of the board, forecast the pay roll reduction and he made some comments on the failure of the bond issue because of the suit started by Attorney Wyman.

"About 250 or 300 more employés will lose their jobs this week," said Mr. Elmore. "We have now approximately 1,700 employés, but will have to reduce down to around 800 or so. We will try our best not to endanger the health of the community by reason of the failure to pass the bonds.

Blames Bond Suit.

"It seems that somebody was more anxious to collect a claim of approximately $125,000 than to see the bonds sold so the district may operate efficiently and for the good health of the community.

"It is true that some outside agency agreed to pay the claim of the mysterious Wr. Wyman. However, the district would have had to pay for it in the end by reason of reduced bids for the bonds or some other way. Attorney Wyman admitted that his client's claim was not legally collectible.

"I for one would not stand for the claim to be paid if it was only for $2 as long as it was one that could not be legally collected."

Explanation by Attorney.

Attorney Wyman protested yesterday that his attitude and that of his client is misunderstood, but he continued to refuse to reveal the identity of his client or why he should institute a suit to tie up the bond issue.

"It is true that the claim my client had against the district was not legally enforcible," admitted Attorney Wyman yesterday. "The claim, however, was not the prime motive of the suit. My client was anxious to institute reforms in the district from a civic angle and personally wanted to see the bonds defeated. The claim was not raised by us at all, but offers of settlement came from the other side."

Mr. Wyman said he did not know of his client's claim when he filed the bond suit. The lawyer said the claim was of several years' standing.

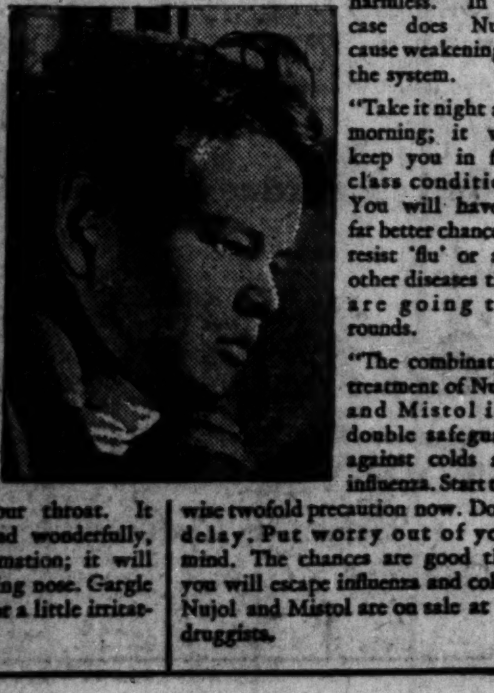
Dr. David says:

"To avoid influenza do these two things"

"THERE is no use worrying every time you draw a breath for fear you will breathe in some influenza germs. Do the following two things: first protect your nose and throat; second keep your system in good condition.



"As a first precaution, I am prescribing Mistol as it protects the nose and throat against the germs of influenza. Use it every morning, and again when you come home at night. Use it freely; it will do no harm.

"Just tilt your head back and apply Mistol with the special dropper which comes with every package, until you feel it trickling down your throat. It will clear your head wonderfully, relieve any inflammation; it will help dry up a running nose. Gargle it for a sore throat or a little irritating cough.

"As a second precaution I am prescribing Nujol. It is not a laxative or cathartic but a pure, natural substance that helps your system function at all times the way nature intended it to. Like pure water, it is harmless. In no case does Nujol cause weakening of the system.

"Take it night and morning; it will keep you in first class condition. You will have a far better chance to resist 'flu' or any other diseases that are going the rounds.

"The combination treatment of Nujol and Mistol is a double safeguard against colds and influenza. Start this wise twofold precaution now. Don't delay. Put worry out of your mind. The chances are good that you will escape influenza and colds. Nujol and Mistol are on sale at all druggists.

A neighbor told mother and REM checked this little girl's cough

"I've used REM since last January and it sure is good," says Mrs. J. Easterley. "I find it checks a cough in a hurry. I'd been troubled with a bad cough, and a neighbor, Mrs. Clark, had one at the same time. She relieved her's by taking REM and told me how good it was, so I got a bottle at Gottschalk's Drug Store at W. Kentucky & 17th St., and it was as good as she said. My little girl Mary Agnes is a regular little boy, outdoors all the time. I've given her REM for every cough she's had and it's relieved her wonderfully quick."

LEADER DENIES SCIENCE REVISES CONCEPT OF GOD

Osborn Repudiates Claim of Bible Conflict.

New York, Jan. 1.—[Special.]—Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, repudiated tonight the contribution made to the convention last week by Prof. Harry Elmer Barnes, Smith college sociologist, who declared the concept of God would have to be redefined in the light of discoveries in astrophysical science.

Dr. Osborn referred to a "sensational speaker who spoke on a nonscientific subject" in his brief speech at the American Museum of Natural History, where Dr. Harlow Shapley, director of the Harvard college observatory, announced for the first time that he and his associates had proved the intergalactic space was transparent and thereby no obstacles appeared in the way of scientists who may attempt to penetrate into the outer universes and measure their spaces.

In his brief reference to Dr. Barnes, Dr. Osborn referred to the inclemency of the weather and was reminded of the Negro preacher who "thanked the Lord that thou art with us tonight despite the weather."

Intruded Personal Opinion.

Upon the conclusion of the lecture Dr. Osborn elaborated his reference in a statement to reporters.

"This is a scientific meeting and covers the whole realm of what can be estimated by its scientific membership," he said. "It has to do with weighing, measuring and analyzing the universe, and covers the whole realm of what can be estimated and understood, and it stops there.

"Mr. Barnes took an unwarranted liberty in intruding a metaphysical, philosophical and religious subject. It was an unwarranted intrusion. He took advantage of this great solid platform of the American Association for the Advancement of Science to give expression to his own opinions on a subject totally unrelated to the subjects under discussion.

Not View of Scientists.

"As president of the association, I desire to protest and I desire to have the public understand that Mr. Barnes' views do not reflect the program of our own proceedings. They were calculated to give a wrong impression. If there had been a group on philosophy, religion or metaphysics to take up these subjects it would have been appropriate for him to present his views before that group.

"We are very desirous of requesting the clergy to relieve the public mind concerning the possibility of any antagonism between science and religion. There is none and there can be none. Some of the greatest men of science have been very religious men. If I had been present when Mr. Barnes gave his talk, I would have protested against him continuing his paper."

Fight Laws Against Evolution.

The scientists in attendance at the convention today got solidly behind a movement to counteract the tendency in certain American states to forbid by law the teaching and discussion of the theory of evolution in schools and colleges. The American Association of University Professors authorized a committee to coöperate with the scientists in preparing to work for the principle of complete freedom of teaching, on the ground that efforts at restriction only retarded the actual progress of human knowledge.

RESIGNATION OF DEAN FROM CATHEDRAL TO BE ACCEPTED BY BOARD

New York, Jan. 1.—[Special.]—The resignation of the Very Rev. Howard Chandler Robbins, dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, which was submitted to the trustees last Thursday, will be accepted at a special meeting of the board unless the unexpected happens, it was learned today.

Although Dean Robbins declined to enlarge upon the paragraph in his letter of resignation which gave as his reason for seeking immediate retirement "a fundamental difference of opinion between bishop and dean with respect to the rights of the latter," it was learned that the reference was to friction over administrative functions connected with routine affairs of the cathedral.

For Young Men—A Special Purchase, Just Engineered, of Fleece Ulsters!

... And now added to our sweeping Clearance of Young Men's Overcoats. Big football men, alert, slim basketball or track men, quick stepping, slender salesmen, young office men and bank clerks—the men in their late teens, twenties, thirties—from heavyweights to bantamweights—all can pick their favorite styles here, then find their proper sizes in that style.

College Coats . . Semi-dress Coats . . Montagnacs
Camel Pile Coats . . . . Belted Back Coats

And you will find it a pleasant task picking from:

Blues . . Blacks . . Oxfords . . Fancy Patterns
European Fabrics . . . . American Cloths

For Business and Professional Men: Fine Ulsters—priced from $75 to $125

... All are shown at substantial reductions from former selling prices. Many are products of our own shops—others from the finest makers in the industry. The woolens are practically all from Scotch and English looms—thick, warm fleeces, Montagnacs from France, fancy weave cheviots from Huddersfield—a profusion of colors in blue, gray and brown mixtures.

Many of these coats were made in London by recognized Ulster manufacturers, such as Kenneth Durward and Burberry.

Most of these garments are made in big Storm Coats with wide collars—belted all around or belted back—either in raglan shoulders or set-in sleeves. Others are in more modified ulster types with fitted bodies—no belt—collars not so wide. Fabrics have been adapted to put each type in the model to which that fabric best lends itself.

When Zero Comes—

... Can Winter be far behind? And footprints in the snows of January oft' remind us that Chicago's most inclement and dangerous weather imperils health of too lightly clad men and young fellows throughout January, February and much of March.

THE UNDESIRABLE ALIEN.

Secretary Davis of the department of labor asks for the adoption of a method by which aliens can be enrolled as a means of finding and deporting the undesirables. Few countries other than the United States allow people to enter and do as they please without any supervision. The orderly and peaceable person conforming to the regulations imposed on him and obeying the laws of the land is not molested or made to feel that he is under police control, but the person who is known to be undesirable does not get in and the person who, having been permitted to enter, discloses himself as undesirable is not long in getting out.

Both British and continental police are peremptory in handling such cases. The French police rid Paris and any other part of France of the person whose conduct is not approved. It is not merely a question of crime. People are deported because their habits were not liked. A number of minor offenses may be tolerated in a paying customer, but if the police decide that a departure is indicated there is a departure.

This sensible rule for the protection of the country even from nuisances is not applied in the United States, although here it is known that a great deal of the disorder and crime are committed by aliens attracted to America by the opportunities of making money by crime and by terrorizing their respectable and well to do fellow countrymen. Many of them succeed in getting citizenship rights and gain that protection. Then they can be handled only in the criminal courts.

It is not intended to put peaceable aliens in the United States to discomfort or avoidable annoyance. Elsewhere aliens expect to submit to regulation and there is no reason why this country, where so much injury is done by undesirables, should not use the same police methods that are used and justified by results in other lands.

ON BEING FORTY.

Time coagulates after forty, like cream long shaken in a bottle, and what was the simple fluid of events one after another is full of clots and new dimensions. Time complicates and thickens. The change confuses men long used to life's swift flowing, and some of them regret it.

Over the frontier of youth come long lines of emigrating men and women. They trample down the ground, and the dusts of years rise higher. Some hurry on with welcome for the new land; others assume indifference. Some move over the border slowly and close their eyes. Young and old, they cross the line of forty, for age and years may have different meanings.

Time is melodic for the first four decades of living, and flows along in a simple tune. But later years make time harmonic. It is complex and polyphonic, and contrapuntal memories and distance tune themselves into the theme. For at forty man has both a past and future. Life crowds him on, and many strains are woven. At twenty-five or thirty women feel the years that men now feel at forty, and thirty years for men a century ago was older than is forty-five today. To the old man forty now is youth; to the boy it is far along, but to the man himself at forty it is young or old, or not temporal at all, according to the pattern of his world. Life on a large scale finds forty young, with the most of life ahead. Life on a small scale will mark forty as the end.

Though forty is a state of mind that varies with the person, it has authentic motives. Some men at forty renounce their youth, as if a date could change their desires. Others grasp far more than they can handle. To renounce authentic interests and desires before the wish is there, because they seem untimely, is a cowardice that brings mediocrity and dullness on the modern age. To seek false youth is hardly less an evil. If men will be themselves at forty, young or old, and forget the yearly marker, the world will be the better. The dull routines of many lives are imposed by fears and accumulations, bad habits, properties that restrict the valid spirit. Forty is complex and polyphonic. To make the most of it takes all a good man has.

Time is a virgin during two score years of living. Young years go by with a thin blooming and promise full fruition. "As for my part," says Montaigne, "I think our minds are as full growne and perfectly joynted at twentie years, as they should be, and promise as much as they can. A mind which at that age hath not given some evident token or earnest of her sufficiency shall hardly give it afterward; put her to what trial you list." But man can learn—given the ability—better at forty than at sixteen, if he has occasion, and every man should learn new games, new instruments or arts as he grows older. "Young men," says Bacon, "are fitter to invent than to judge, fitter for execution than for counsel; and fitter for new projects than for settled business." But their fitness resides more in their choices and their habits than in a changed ability. If a man has the habit of original thinking before twenty-five, says William James, he can keep it all of his life. Forty is a habit that a man makes good or bad.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE AND THE NAVY

Four political factors have operated in the development of the United States navy. The revolutionary wars with England, first on the land, then on the sea, were the origin of the American naval tradition and organization. The civil war consolidated technical and tactical advances and the transition from sail to steam. The Monroe Doctrine made the navy pan-American and an agency of peace as well as of war. The world situation involved in the great war brought the navy into a world status of potential domination. All of these factors have now disappeared or are declining, with one exception: the Monroe Doctrine remains probably the most important consideration in our naval policy and planning. Though a new factor will arise in time through the change of the world focus from the Atlantic to the Pacific with the rise of oriental power, that is not yet a dominating influence. The Monroe Doctrine today has first place.

And around the Monroe Doctrine the American navy has been largely built, as Lieutenant Commander L. C. Dunn shows in the December U. S. Naval Institute Proceedings. The Monroe Doctrine has borne on our naval policy since long before the war with Mexico. Our Caribbean policy and our relationships with Europe, with the exception of the recent European episode, have been defined, so far as naval matters are concerned, largely by the Monroe Doctrine. To call it a Monroe Doctrine navy would not be far wrong, for of all continuing influences on naval construction and naval policy this no doubt is the greatest.

Today the Monroe Doctrine is still the primary interest in naval matters. Negatively it defines our defensive relations with Europe. Positively it encourages pan-American friendship and development, of which Mr. Hoover's good will tour is a masterful example. As a diplomatic agent and a means for furthering a constructive policy southward the uses of the navy have not been fully realized. Mr. Hoover, it may be, will emphasize this peace value of the navy.

Today battleship tonnage stands as follows: United States, 525,850 tons; Great Britain, 556,350 tons; Japan, 301,320 tons. In aircraft carriers the totals are: United States, 78,700 tons; Great Britain, 107,550 tons; Japan, 63,300 tons. First line cruisers, built, building and appropriated for, count as follows: United States, 155,000 tons; Great Britain, 397,140 tons; Japan, 213,955 tons. Though we stand about at par in battleships and aircraft carriers according to the treaty provisions of 1922, in cruisers we are far behind both Britain and Japan.

Cruisers are of critical importance in the Monroe Doctrine navy, and in this America is weak. With great distances and long trade routes and without adequate coaling stations, America stands in greater need of a strong force of large cruisers than any other nation.

As a formative influence on the navy the Monroe Doctrine has been, and still should be, of prime importance. Naval construction should be accommodated to those demands.

CROSSING THE TRACKS.

Four young people of Kenosha were ground immediately to death when two automobiles in which they were following a hidden treasure were struck by a North Western locomotive. Another youth in the party died subsequently and three others were badly injured.

Six persons, all members of two families, were killed the other day when their automobile was struck by a Soo line train in Oak Park. A seventh was injured.

In neither of these grade crossing tragedies can the blame be fixed on the motorists for reckless driving nor on the engineers for neglect. With extraordinary precautions on the part of the drivers in the two accidents the collisions, of course, would have been avoided, but only ordinary safety measures were taken. Despite safety first campaigns, the great volume of motorists will continue to exercise only ordinary safety measures.

The fault is in the railroad crossing system, once satisfactory for horse drawn vehicles but now obsolete and a threat to the lives of motorists. It is not convenient for an automobile driver to come to a complete stop before crossing the tracks, to get out and look both ways for an approaching train, and it is not done. Anything short of that procedure is only an ordinary precaution. Safety demands that railroad crossings shall be separated, either by elevation or depression, from automobile traffic.

That a countrywide program of railroad grade separation has not been undertaken is partly the failure of the companies to take the initiative and partly the hesitancy of regulative and legislative bodies to compel such a program. These two tragedies in the Chicago area with the loss of eleven lives are startling reminders that traffic facilities are dangerously inferior to traffic conditions.

REAPPORTIONMENT IN SIGHT.

[The Rocky Mountain News, Denver.]

The house census committee at a meeting today is expected to report a reapportionment automatic after the 1930 census on certification of the secretary of commerce if the house itself fails to act, as it has since 1921. The membership would remain at 435 as at present. Seventeen states will lose 23 representatives and 11 states will gain that number. California would gain six, Michigan four, and Ohio three.

The decision to avoid an increase in size is wise, for the house even now is so large it is unwieldy. Were the present basis maintained, it is estimated an increase of 100 members would be necessary after 1930.

The duty of the house to carry out the mandate of the constitution and provide for reapportionment is plain. There has been no reapportionment since 1911, and as a consequence some 14,000,000 persons are without fair representation. If the 1930 census is ignored, the number will be 30,000,000.

States which will lose representation naturally will oppose legislation, as they have since the 1920 census. They should not be permitted to flout the constitution and continue the present unfair situation.

SINUS TROUBLE AND CLIMATE.

The old word "catarrh" has been abandoned by most people. In its place has come "sinus trouble." But changing the name has not solved the problem of catarrh. Many physicians recommend their patients with very troublesome sinus infections to go to the dry regions of the southwest.

Dr. W. Detweiler says that there has been a great influx of such people into southern Arizona in the last ten years. In this region the winters are mild and there is no snow and ice and no gales except in the higher reaches of the mountains. The rainfall is only ten inches, and almost all of that is bunched into three short rainy seasons. There are regions in this southwest where the rainfall is less than ten inches. The atmospheric humidity is low and the percentage of cloudless hours is high. The air is relatively free from dust and smoke.

When a case of chronic sinusitis first arrives in southern Arizona, the dry air may irritate the nasal mucous membrane. In some cases there is a temporary watery discharge. More frequently there is a feeling of rawness. This reaction is temporary. In a short while the nasal secretion seems to dry up and disappear. All types of cases of chronic sinusitis seem to do well in this climate, except it be those who have too many nose operations. But that group is in a bad way.

If the X-ray picture and the transilluminations show pus in the sinuses, Dr. Detweiler drains in some instances. In many cases, after a period of residence in the dry air, the nose membranes dry enough to permit the sinus to drain without operation. He drains the maxillary sinus, the one under the cheek bone, quite frequently. He drains the ethmoid sinus occasionally. The frontal and sphenoid sinuses he does not drain.

The southern Arizona climate benefits sinus trouble, alias cartarrh, through the operation of light, as well as through the quality of the dryness of the air. There are some who attribute many remote disorders, such as bronchiectasis and mucous colitis, to sinus trouble. Such is the cause of many cases of bronchiectasis, but not all. Many cases of this disorder are benefited, at least, by the southwestern climate. There is no proof that mucous colitis is due to sinus infection or that living in a dry climate cures it.

SYMPTOMS OF GALLSTONES.

A. B. writes:

1. What are the symptoms of gallstones?

2. Are they cured without operation?

REPLY.

1. Among the symptoms are pain under the ribs on the right side, indigestion, acidity of the stomach, and jaundice.

2. No. But they often cease troubling, which is nearly as good as a cure.

CURE FOR WARTS.

A. B. M., writes: This is a sure and painless cure for warts:

Get a 10 cent bottle of glacial acetic acid. Apply a little acid with a toothpick 2 or 3 times daily for 2 or 3 weeks, and the wart will gradually disappear leaving no scar and causing no pain. I know this is good, as I have removed 30 warts from my two hands.

"COMMON LAW DIVORCE."

Chicago, Dec. 26.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Is there such a thing as a common law divorce?

2. My sister was a common law wife to a man for about three years, but that is over twenty years ago, and she has not heard of nor seen him since. She had to leave him as he was drunk and abusive so much. He told her she could never marry without getting a common law divorce.

3. Would it be legal for her to marry now a man who wants to give her a home? H. W.

1. No, assuming that what you mean is a termination of the marriage relation simply by virtue of the parties having acted as if it had terminated.

2. In the absence of a ceremonial marriage the legality of the relationship would depend upon whether there was ever an agreement for a legal as distinguished from an illicit relationship and upon whether that agreement was entered into in a state recognizing common law marriages. Since 1905 Illinois law has not permitted the contracting of common law marriages in this state, but if the relation was valid when and where it was entered into it would be valid everywhere.

3. Not if the facts are such that there was a valid common law marriage.

EXTENDED VISIT.

Chicago, Dec. 26.—[Friend of the People.]—I have a relative in Europe aged 45 who is a physician and surgeon and served as such in the world war. He came to this country as a tourist to visit. Is there any way he could stay longer than six months here? E. D.

An alien who is admitted to the United States for a temporary stay as a tourist may be granted an extension of such temporary admission by making application to the immigration officer at the port where entry to the United States has occurred. The granting of such an extension, however, depends entirely on the conditions under which such extension is requested. S. D. SMITH, District director of immigration.

NEXT SUMMER'S PAVING.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—[Friend of the People.]—When will the streets in this neighborhood be paved? We are in the 6200 block on South Kostner avenue and we have already received the notifications as to the amounts we are to be assessed. A. B.

There is a special assessment proceeding now in court for paving a system of streets, including Kostner avenue, between 59th and 63rd streets, and several other streets.

We expect to have the assessment confirmed in time to start on the work next summer. Some of the property owners filed objections which have delayed the confirmation. JOSEPH F. McCLOSKY, Secretary, board of local improvements.

We Make Our Annual Report.

In compiling our annual report of column conditions and the outlook for 1929, we would say that last year was a splendid year for columns, and next year will be more so. Poetry is getting better and better, with a big crop in sight for the spring market. Prose wheezes, young and on the hoof, are in great demand, with a fair supply. Paragraphs written by the column conductors themselves will be unusually abundant during the coming year owing to a new invention which, by merely touching a button, will turn out a paragraph on any subject, set in type, punctuated, and copy read. It is easy for the col. con. to know if the joke is any good, because the new machine has a laughing attachment which bursts out with loud and merry guffaws of mirth if the joke is funny. Altogether, prosperity is the watchword of the hour as far as columns are concerned, with seven times as much prosperity easily in sight for 1929.

Alma Mater—Your Child's Grown Up.

R. H. L.: At last I have taken the decisive step: henceforth the world will know I have put childish things behind me. Reluctantly I put my dreams away . . . the varicolored episodes of adolescence . . . the memories . . . the hubbub of the fraternity house . . . strolls on an ageing campus with the squint-eyed roommate, who pondered thoughts too vague for words . . . those riotous things they still call dances, with Mil's face ever before me . . . Shirley scampering down the steps of the girls' dorm (gotta be back by 'leven or I get campused!) . . . perilous peregrinations in skeleton flivvers . . . those night sessions, with stories, and plans for a Utopian future . . . "Hold that line! Hold that line!" . . . Fight, Wes-lee-yan . . . but the book is closed. These things go down into the limbo of forgotten things and I enter into the life of common men. I have made the drastic move. I have bought a pair of garters. OSWALD——!

Al, You Ought to See Those Letters.

We'd like to acknowledge by name the writer of every letter that came to us yesterday telling of the pleasure of the senders in having attended our Al Smith Radio Party over the Air Line last Sunday night. But yesterday was New Year's, and we just had to break away for a while and go to Janet's New Year party and sing over some of the dear old songs of long ago—and, besides, the mail simply swamped us. It was a nice party, Al's Radio Birthday Party, and we're so glad that so many of you were there and that you enjoyed it so much. And the things you said about Al were so lovely that we're thinking of boxing up the whole lot of letters and sending them to him.

Lagniappe.

NOW THAT it's the glad New Year let's all let the dead past bury its dead, and bygones be bygones, and everything like that. However, a wave of bitter anger still sweeps over us when some bird pipes up and yaps, "Is this cold enough for you?"

WARS ARE OPENING so fast now we can't keep up with 'em. Now it's a War on Grafters. And we'll bet that fifteen minutes after the smoke of battle has drifted away and the bugles have sounded a truce some bird is going to pop out at us on the Boul. Mich. and offer us a solid gold brick for two dollars and twenty-five cents.

AND, ANYHOW, that's a wonderful way to keep people off the Sanitary District pay roll—don't give 'em any pay.

"YOU CAN PICK your own manner of welcoming the new baby year," said the Fort Wayne Journal Gazette, "—at a church watch party with prayer, at a gin party with jazz, or quietly and decently at home with your family." Not knocking the watch and gin parties.

OH, HERE is a bright idea for Chicago for this glorious, promising year of 1929. Build a subway! You know—an underground railroad like they have in New York, Paris, London, and Madrid. Goes under the ground and carries passengers and everything. Wouldn't that be swell.

NOW, that's over! Three cheers for the Fourth of July. R. H. L.

DRY CRUELTY
MRS. MILLER SENTENCED TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT FOR VOLSTEAD VIOLATION

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 2, 1864.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY.

JANUARY 2, 1899.

MANILA.—The following dispatch, dated Friday, Dec. 30, at Iloilo, Island of Panay, has just been received here by boat: "The situation at Iloilo is grave. The transport Newport's boats are being lowered with four machine guns mounted in their bows. Fifteen hundred natives, fully armed, are at Melo, a suburb of Iloilo. Seventeen thousand more, it is reported, are awaiting orders to embark at Island of Negros, 15 hours' sail from Iloilo. The rebels insisted upon inaction until Gen. Aguinaldo could be heard from. Gen. Miller refused and prepared to land forces. The rebels are strengthening their position and are preparing to resist."

HAVANA.—Today the Stars and Stripes went up over Morro prison, over the Fortress of Cabanas, and over the palace which has represented Spanish royalty in this new world. Spanish transports loaded with soldiers and a steamer carrying Capt. Gen. Castellano and his staff dropped down the harbor and stood out to sea while the Seventh army corps was marching along the Prado in the heart of the city. In a ceremony at the palace before his departure Gen. Castellano formally yielded the island to Maj. Gen. John R. Brooke, the new civil and military governor.

CHICAGO.—The tenth annual dinner of THE TRIBUNE family was held at the Auditorium hotel yesterday afternoon. Every employé of THE TRIBUNE was invited. Among those who responded to toasts were four war correspondents—H. J. Whigham, Richard Harding Davis, John M. Maxwell, and Henry B. Chamberlin. James Keeley was toastmaster. Telegrams were read from Joseph Medill and other absent ones.

WASHINGTON.—Nelson Dingley, chairman of the house ways and means committee and author of the tariff bill and war revenue act, is lying near death with grip.

CHICAGO.—Miss Pearl Adelaide Swift, daughter of ex-Mayor and Mrs. George B. Swift, and Tracy John Taylor will be married tomorrow evening at the Centenary Methodist Episcopal church.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 2, 1919.

COPENHAGEN.—A Polish army of 30,000 is marching on Berlin, according to a dispatch quoting rumors at the German capital. Gustav Noske, member of the Ebert cabinet, in charge of military affairs, is said to have ordered the Fifth German division to meet the Poles.

AMSTERDAM.—Ignace Jan Paderewski, famous musician, is leading the Poles in the fighting against the Germans at Posen, the Berliner Tageblatt states.

NEW YORK.—The United States transport Northern Pacific has been aground off Fire island since 3 a. m., Jan. 1, with 2,481 overseas troops aboard. They are in a nerve racking situation as heavy seas sweep over the ship's decks.

PARIS.—President Wilson tonight is en route to Rome, where he will be the guest of King Victor Emmanuel. During his stay in Rome he will also visit the pope and the Methodist college.

CHICAGO.—Closing of the Café Royale, formerly Rector's, at Monroe and Clark streets, one of Chicago's most famous old restaurants, was announced. Rector's was established in 1884 by Charles E. Rector. In early days it was to Chicago what Delmonico's was to New York. In its palmy days Rector's was reputed to be the best restaurant in the United States, according to Delmar Johnson, who was with the establishment twenty-six years.

AMERICAN HEADQUARTERS IN NORTHERN RUSSIA, ARCHANGEL.—Fighting their way through the frozen untracked forest and deep snow, American soldiers of the 339th regiment, with the Polish legion, Russian volunteers, and their French allies have advanced fifteen miles up the Onega river on the extreme west of the Archangel sector, driving the bolsheviki before them.

LABOR GOVERNMENT.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—I desire to express my gratitude to THE TRIBUNE for affording an avenue of expression to dissatisfied union men of this city.

I have read the statements of Mr. Anderson and H. B., referring to the labor gangsters pardoned by Len Small. I was very much pleased, as I know that everything stated by Anderson and H. B. is the very truth.

The public knows nothing of the wrongs practiced by the labor leaders who control conditions in Chicago. Our business agents have swell cars, but they never go near a job. They spend their time at lake resorts or taking trips to New Orleans as guests of Big Bill, who, with the rest of his gang, has built an edifice of debt for Chicago and Cook county that will stand for some time.

We union men are dissatisfied because we have leaders who know nothing about the labor movement. During the last election we had two so-called labor candidates so politically bad that decent men hung their heads in shame. Thanks to THE TRIBUNE, they were eliminated for the time being. If they are to be kept where they belong we union men must wake up. As it is now, we have a bunch that keep in office by the support given by a band of pay roll patriots provided with jobs by business agents where there is nothing to do or where there is some method of stealing material from the jobs or being kept on padded pay rolls and splitting with the foreman or business agent.

The writer of this communication has been a union man for 35 years and never had a political job from a business agent. I have had to work under conditions unfair to the people employing union labor. I have personal knowledge of splits made to foremen on jobs by men who only worked one or two days a week and the full wage was collected. Men have been rushed by ignorant and incompetent charge men and every rule of the union violated.

The citizenry of this locality must back up Frank Loesch and John Swanson and the federal authorities and help clean up the building trades situation in Chicago and Cook county. Break up the hookup with the city hall gang. Refuse to support any man for office who uses the labor movement as a shield for his nasty grafting record. A. S.

BUNION HIGHLIGHTS.

Evanston, Ill., Dec. 30.—As to your Sport Highlights of 1928, rotogravure in Sunday's issue, long live the golfers, tennis champs, fist flingers and others there featured. I would not pluck a single feather from their peacock plume of fame. But in the name of unbeatable grit couldn't you have spared one little corner of the page to Andy Payne and his fellow bunioneers for their certainly unique accomplishment of running, walking, limping and hobbling across the continent? G. M. K.

THE PEOPLE VERSUS YACHTSMEN

Chicago, Dec. 29.—I think Emil Johnson's action in refusing to allow a yacht owner to make a winter storage and repair lot of Lincoln park is to be commended. Have your camera man take a picture of the rubbish on the shore around that boat, within 100 yards of Sheridan road, and see what you think of it. I think there has been more money spent on the north lagoon this year to make the yacht owners happy than in any other section of the park and that's certainly for the favored few and not the people. Yachtsmen have no kick coming on their treatment in Lincoln park. F. T.

FIRE STATION RELIC.

Chicago, Dec. 29.—One of your correspondents writes under the heading "Give the Laddies a Hand," praising the firemen for their wonderful work in saving a little boy's life. Let us go a little bit farther and give them better living quarters, which will do them more good than a hand.

Squad 5, stationed at 7531 Dobson avenue, is quartered in a building that I believe is a relic of the Chicago World's Fair. I know there is a movement on foot to preserve a lot of the old buildings, but I do not believe that anybody after seeing the condition of this building would want any one to be forced to live there.

Squad 5 and engine company 47 are noted throughout the south side district for the wonderful work that they perform daily, and I am sure that the men would appreciate better living conditions more than applause. P. J. HYNES.

PLAINCLOTHES TACTICS.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—One morning last week I was in a café having breakfast when two plainclothes men walked in. Ordering every one to line up, they began searching the men. Not until several men had been searched did any one know whether they were policemen or bandits.

Wednesday evening a plainclothes man rapped on the door of a flat on West 51st street. A boy let him in thinking he was the insurance agent. Two others rushed in behind him. They had been given the wrong address, they explained later.

In each case they were in street clothes. They ordered people to raise their hands, using rough language, without showing their stars. And it is common knowledge that they have fractured men's skulls for asking to see their badges. So why condemn the methods of the prohibition agents? R. L. CORNELIUS.

PRESERVING THE COUNTRY TOWNS.

Evergreen Park, Ill., Dec. 28.—A Voice of the People writer suggests that Chicago be expanded to embrace Cook county. Why spoil the rest of Cook county outside Chicago? We have good management and low taxes that more than make up for the cost of transportation. Speaking of soft mayoralty and trustee jobs in the small towns that would be done away with under the proposed arrangement, our mayors do not live in hotels to dodge the tax payers. Our streets and alleys are in good condition. Also we have one of the best school systems in the country. When this town is annexed to Chicago I want to move. REGULAR SUBSCRIBER.

PREPOSTEROUS.

Waukegan, Ill., Dec. 29.—Why stop at life imprisonment for a pint of liquor possessed by a party for his own use? Why not pass a real law allowing the drys to stone to death such a bad man or woman? E. V. G.

CHICAGO GETS ITS MILK, BUT PRICE WAR CONTINUES

Showdown Is Postponed; May Go to Courts.

Milk was delivered to all dairy stations in the Chicago area yesterday, despite the announcement of the Pure Milk association that no deliveries would be made except at an increased price to the farmers.

As things turned out, it appears that the entire controversy will go to the courts. Meanwhile, farmers will make delivery, expecting to get an increased price, and the milk distributors will accept the milk, expecting to pay the old price. The farmers' demand is for $2.85 a hundred pounds, while the distributors insist on maintaining the old price of $2.50.

No Boost for Consumers.

No immediate prospect of an increase in the retail price of milk to Chicagoans was being considered by either side, it was said.

When the farmers drove into the dairy stations with their milk yesterday morning they saw signs posted stating that the companies would pay $2.50 a hundred in January, February, and March. Notwithstanding this, practically all the farmers delivered their product.

John F. Knox of Wadsworth, Ill., who delivers 100 pounds daily to the Bowman plant at Gurnee, Ill., and Henry Olson of Zion, whose daily output is 400 pounds, refused to deliver their milk at $2.50 and drove off with it.

Believes Companies Must Pay.

W. C. McQueen, president of the Pure Milk association, said that the farmers should deliver their milk, for he contends that with all the principal milk companies having been formally and legally notified of the increase, they would be obliged to pay it, regardless of the signs.

The test will come, it is believed, on Feb. 10, when the milk companies send out checks to the farmers in payment for January deliveries. If the companies pay at the rate of $2.50, and this is now regarded as a foregone conclusion, it is expected the Pure Milk association will take the case into court.

Walmsley Sees Victory.

On the other side, Dr. F. D. Walmsley, president of the Borden company, declared that the day's events had shown the Pure Milk association's efforts to be wholly without effect. The farmers paid no attention to the "association propaganda," he said.

Dr. Arnold H. Kegel, commissioner of health, after receiving a report from his corps of inspectors, declared deliveries had been made without incident, and that there would be no difficulty in obtaining a full supply of pure milk from healthy cows.

YALE ADMITS GIFT OF MILLIONS WAS OFFERED BY HARKNESS

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 1.—[Special.]—Yale was offered several millions of dollars by Edward Stephen Harkness, of New York City, to erect the "college within a college" which he later offered to Harvard, according to an official statement made by the Yale University officials tonight.

The statement said that Harkness, who is a Yale graduate of the class of '97 offered the gift, with a time limit attached, but that the university could not reach a decision within the time set and the offer lapsed.

Last Saturday Secretary Lohmann of the university was quoted as saying that Harkness never made Yale such an offer. Harkness now is said to have promised Harvard $10,000,000 for the purpose.

PORTES GIL ENDS RULE OF GRAFT IN MEXICAN CAPITAL

Places Federal District Under Business Head.

BY JOHN CORNYN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 1.—After almost four centuries of government by ayuntamientos, or city councils, Mexico City and the towns and villages in the federal district, which is to Mexico what the District of Columbia is to the United States, began the new year with a business director and administrative council appointed by President Portes Gil. The new system is in conformity with a recent law suppressing city and municipal councils in the federal district and places Mexico City in relatively the same political situation as Washington.

"Free municipalities," for which Madero strove and which the succeeding revolutionary governments fought, were found "pernicious in practice," a prominent political leader said.

Control by Grafters.

A gang of professional politicians, he said, backed unscrupulous ward bosses and established themselves in every town and village in the federal district, fleecing the public, putting obstacles in the way of business and flooding the district with "inspectors," spies, and grafters, who took advantage of every kink of the law to mulct and fine people for any alleged violation. They "made business a nightmare," the manager of a great dry goods store said today.

The new plan has already been tried out partially in Mexico City and several other towns, where it has given satisfaction. In eighteen months, as appointed head of the federal district, retiring Gov. Villa Michel paid all its debts and built eight fine school houses, whereas former municipal governments had successively run the district into debt.

Appoint Finance Director.

Dr. Manuel Puigy Casauranc, former newspaper proprietor and former minister of education and industry, commerce, and labor, today was appointed director of the federal district, with the enormous task of reconstructing the finances of the national capital and two-score other towns with considerably over a million inhabitants.

Nearby towns of from 40,000 to 60,000 inhabitants, such as Mixcoac and Tacuba, have been added to Mexico City.

The most important feature of the new administration in the federal district is to direct the merchants themselves to watch any infringements of the law.

Conductor Dies in Train Collision Near Matteson

In a rear end collision of two freight trains on the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern tracks just west of Matteson yesterday, Roy Brown, 45 years old, conductor of one train, was instantly killed. The caboose in which he rode was demolished and two box cars ahead were derailed as the locomotive of the second train plowed into the rear of Brown's train. The engineer, whose vision was obscured by the snow, was not held. Brown's home was in Joliet.

UNDERGROUND FREIGHT TRANSPORTATION

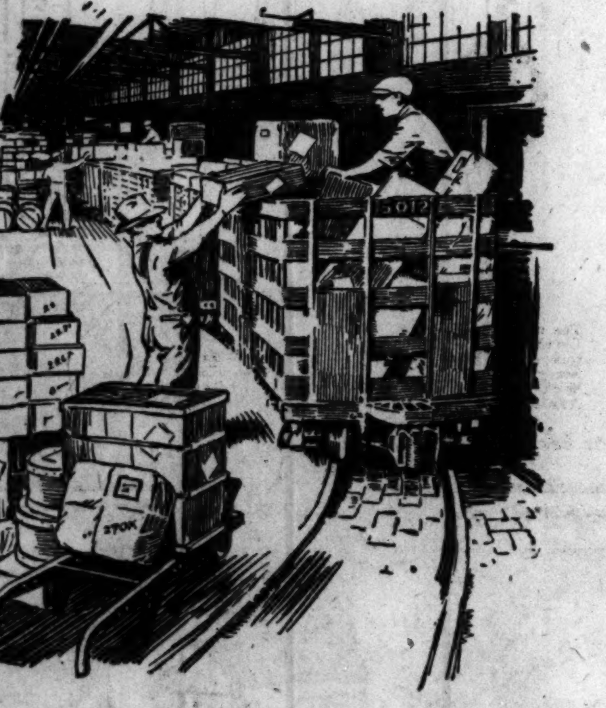
CHICAGO FREIGHT TUNNELS

loads 100,000 ordinary freight cars a year



Story of the Freight Tunnels

The freight tunnels have become an integral part of Chicago's great system of gathering and delivering package freight. All railroad freight stations have tunnel facilities — approaches, elevators and tracks —and the newer freight terminals were designed and constructed with a view to making the fullest use of tunnel service. The tunnels not only receive from them freight for delivery to Chicago merchants and deliver to them package freight for shipment but they transfer a great volume of such freight—passing through Chicago — from one railroad freight terminal to another. The stores and warehouses of many large shippers were also designed for the purpose of using tunnel service. So great is the dependence on the tunnels that the loading platforms for trucks and teams, in the case of many of these buildings, would be inadequate if that form of transportation only were available.

Twenty-five hundred freight cars of package merchandise, in less than car lots, leave Chicago every afternoon over 28 railroads for thousands of destinations.

Gathering, carting, sorting, routing and issuing bills of lading for some 50 trainloads of package freight is a task in which the service of Chicago Freight Tunnels plays an important part.

The tunnels connect directly with all railroad freight stations, with the large general warehouses, with many commercial houses and, through their four Universal Freight stations, their services are available to all shippers in and near the Loop. Delivery at any tunnel station of any number of shipments brings a through bill of lading for each of them and completes the shipper's work. This method saves time, trouble and money and it takes the hauling of 600,000 tons of package freight — more than 1,000,000 truck movements — off the streets of the Loop and vicinity every year.

The greater the traffic in the tunnels,
The smaller the traffic on the streets.

SPEEDY TRIALS URGED TO EASE JAM IN COURTS

Bench and Bar Committee to Discuss Plan Today.

Quick trials in all criminal and civil cases is the objective to be discussed today by the new bench and bar committee of the Chicago Bar association. The meeting will be held at 5 o'clock at the association quarters in the Burnham building.

The Criminal court calendar is crowded as it never was before, and the courts are frequently confronted with the danger that criminals held in jail will escape under the law which requires that they be tried within four months.

Civil law business is also dragged through interminable delays, court officials pointed out. Damage suits frequently are held up for two years before the litigants can obtain a trial.

Committee to Seek Remedy.

The remedy for this situation will be sought by the bench and bar committee, according to the announcement made by Sidney S. Gorham, president of the Chicago Bar association, who called the meeting.

Members of the committee include Chief Justice Frederic R. De Young of the Illinois Supreme court; Chief Justice John M. O'Connor of the Appellate court; Chief Justice John J. Sullivan of the Criminal court; members of the executive committees of the Circuit and Superior courts; Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court; Judge Edmund K. Jarecki of the County court; Judge Henry Horner of the Probate court; President Gorham of the Bar association; two vice presidents of the association, Frank Bush and William P. Sidley, and Carl R. Latham, past president.

More Judges Are Asked.

Suggestions for relief of the crowded dockets which have already been made all point to the need for more judges. Under the Illinois constitution Cook county is supplied with judges according to the growth of its population, and by the method provided in the law the county now is entitled to 22 more judges.

The legislature should be asked to provide at least a part of these, according to State's Attorney John A. Swanson, Chief Justice Sullivan and Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago Crime commission.

REVELER KILLED; TWO POLICEMEN HELD AS SLAYERS

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Beuren Carrell and Harry Lee, patrolmen attached to the Canfield station, were arrested early today on charges of manslaughter after the death of Harold Burkhart, 25, a New Year's reveler, who, witnesses said, was struck by a bullet fired by one of the policemen.

An assistant prosecuting attorney said charges of manslaughter would be preferred against the person or persons firing the shot.

Stephen Kim, one of Burkhart's companions, was wounded in the shoulder in the fusilade of shots which struck down Burkhart. The policemen admitted firing pistols into the air in celebration of the new year, but denied they had fired directly at either Burkhart or Kim.

LAWYER'S WIFE SAYS SHE'LL SUE OTHER WOMAN

Mrs. Elizabeth Maher yesterday reiterated her intention of entering suit against Mrs. Sophia Delavan Cowles, prominent business woman, charging her with the alienation of the affections of her husband, Capt. Edward Maher, well known attorney.

"I shall probably institute suit for separate maintenance against my husband, Mrs. Maher added. "Our married life has been ruined." She repeated charges made Monday that she had entered Mrs. Cowles' apartment at 642 Bittersweet place and found her husband, from whom she has been separated for several months, with Mrs. Cowles.

Neither Capt. Maher, who served in the Spanish-American and world wars, nor Mrs. Cowles could be located yesterday. Employés denied he was living at the St. James apartments, 444 St. James court, the address given by Mrs. Maher.

Vare Is in Florida in Hope of Regaining His Health

Fort Pierce, Fla., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Weakened by his long trip here, Senator Elect William S. Vare of Pennsylvania was at the Fort Pierce hotel today beginning a period of convalescence from an illness which has kept him in bed for many weeks. Upon arrival here Dr. John J. Shaw, personal physician to the senator elect, said the "senator's condition remains unchanged."

INITIATIONS TOO ROUGH, COLLEGE FRAT DECIDES

Miami, Fla., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Unnecessary roughness in the initiation of candidates for admission to chapters of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, college fraternity, was condemned yesterday at the final business session of the national convention here with the adoption of a committee report placing the order on record as disapproving such action.

Three of eight university groups petitioning for admission as collegiate chapters were given charters by vote of the convention. They were at the University of Vermont, University of California in Los Angeles, and Rhode Island State college.

FORMER FELONS MAKING GOOD AS MANUFACTURERS

Marshall Stillman Movement in Practice.

New York, Jan. 1. — (Special) — Former convicts who about a year ago went into manufacturing women's bags are making good. The Amazon Leather Goods company, Inc., of 25 West 26th street, which for a year has been operating in conjunction with the Marshall Stillman Movement Industries, Inc., the business end of an enterprise which envisages the employment of reformed crooks, will be formally taken over by the incorporated industries tomorrow. The consideration involved is said to be in the neighborhood of $100,000.

Early last month $100,000 in 8 per cent preferred stock of the company was offered to the public. Today it was said that $50,000 of it has been subscribed in about thirty lots and arrangements have been made to underwrite another $30,000 of the stock. This money will be used in acquiring the company, which will probably be done without formality.

Business Growing.

Of the sixty-six employes of the factory, sixty are former convicts, representing each penitentiary in the state. Last year the company did a $720,000 business as compared with $300,000 the year before. It was said the business is now showing a 20 per cent profit and that orders on the books and guarantees for orders indicate that the company will do a $2,000,000 business in 1929.

An order for $1,000,000 worth of goods for export may be increased to $1,500,000, it was said, if sufficient capital is obtained to increase factory facilities.

Help Newly Released Fellows.

After the 8 per cent on the stock is paid the profits are divided 50 per cent to the employes and 50 per cent to reserve surplus, overhead, expansion and contributions to the Marshall Stillman Movement which provides clubs and dormitories for newly released convicts.

One of the leaders in the work is Alpheus Montague Geer, son of Alpheus Geer, who devoted fifteen years of his life to giving ex-convicts a chance to earn an honest living. Former City Magistrate Frederick J. Groehl is president of the industries company.

CHINA COLLECTS BIG INCREASE IN 1928 CUSTOMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Jan. 1.—Despite the famines, civil wars and other calamities suffered by China last year, the customs returns for 1928 amounted to more than 60 million dollars, as compared with 48 million dollars for the previous year, thus showing an increase of approximately 12 million dollars.

The Chinese maritime customs report for last year was issued today and says that all foreign loans and domestic obligations were met in full, leaving a considerable balance. All ports excepting Harbin and Amoy showed a considerable increase in income over the previous year. The largest increases were registered by Shanghai, Hankow, Dairen, and Tientsin.

With the event of the tariff autonomy with the recently announced increased schedules to become effective on Feb. 1, it is forecasted that the customs revenues this year may approximate 100 million dollars.

DR. WORK DENIES HE IS BOOSTING CABINET JOBS

Says Hoover Needs No Advisers.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 1.—[Special.]—Dr. Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican national committee, issued a statement today deprecating published reports that he was preparing to advise President Elect Herbert Hoover as to the personnel of his new cabinet.

While no names were mentioned, it is assumed that Chairman Work had reference to inferences that he had indorsed Mrs. Alvin T. Hert of Kentucky, vice chairman of the national committee, for the post of secretary of the interior and would urge her selection by Mr. Hoover.

The statement was issued after wide publicity had been given throughout the country to rumors that Dr. Work was actively supporting the boom that has been launched in Mrs. Hert's behalf.

"I regret the publicity given to conjectures attributed to officials of the party that has been given to probable presidential appointees of the next administration," Mr. Work said.

"Those who know our next President best thoroughly understand, because of his very wide acquaintance and independent mind, that he needs no referee to advise on appointments, and that, of a certainty, no one has been so designated. Certainly no party official would publicly express his views or wishes as to presidential appointments, and not at all unless requested to confidentially do so by the appointing power. There has been no basis at any time for any other assumption."

Breasted Leaves for U. of C. Expeditions in Near East

Prof. James Henry Breasted, archeologist and director of the Oriental institute of the University of Chicago, left yesterday for New York whence he will sail this week for Egypt. Two expeditions sponsored by the university are now excavating in the Near East, one at Luxor, ancient capital of Egypt, and the other in Palestine.

Egan, Attacker of Girl, Is Re-arrested by Police

Frank Egan, 26 years old, convicted by a jury last summer of attacking a young girl and beating her so severely she was permanently paralyzed, was found loitering in the South Shore Gardens, a cabaret at 83d street and South Chicago avenue, yesterday and taken into police custody "on general principles." Egan, who lives at 7833 Bennett avenue, was released from Joliet a month ago when the Supreme court granted him a new trial. The jury's sentence had been life imprisonment. Egan was held without charge at the South Chicago station and paraded at the police showup.

Fred W. Green Inaugurated for 2d Term in Michigan

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Fred W. Green was inaugurated today for his second term as governor of Michigan. The oath of office was administered by Walter O. North of the state Supreme court. Following the ceremonies a reception was held in the executive chambers.

Other state officers inaugurated with Gov. Green were Wilbert M. Brucker, attorney general; John S. Haggerty, secretary of state; O. B. Fuller, auditor general; Frank D. McKay, state treasurer; Luren D. Dickinson, lieutenant governor, and Justices Louis M. Fead and William W. Potter of the Supreme court.

New Year's Reveler Gulps Poison as Dare and Dies

Towanda, Pa., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Louis Myers, 26, died today from the effects of poison taken on a dare at a New Year's party here last night. Guests were discussing the recent suicide of Miss Esther Vanderpool, 19, when Myers went to the kitchen and obtained a bottle of the same poison the girl swallowed. Reappearing among the guests, he asked if any one dared him to drink it. Thinking he had placed water in the bottle and was joking, a member of the party called the dare and Myers drained the bottle.

Ship Captain, 3 Boys Save Six from Burning Vessel

Miami, Fla., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Three boys, aided by a ship captain, saved the lives of six men today when a reconditioned 35 foot cruiser burned after an explosion seven miles southeast of Miami. A. C. Duval, owner of the cruiser and his brother, Oscar Duval, both of Miami, were being treated by physicians tonight. The four others were unhurt. The Marskee reached the six men after they had launched a row boat from the deck of the burning craft, just before the gasoline tanks exploded and the boat sank

F. D. ROOSEVELT TAKES OATH AS N. Y. GOVERNOR

And Al Smith Steps Out of Public Life.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 1.—(AP)—A new governor of New York—Franklin Delano Roosevelt—was inaugurated today amid the plaudits of a crowd that filled the assembly chamber in the state capitol. A demonstration equally enthusiastic was given to his predecessor, Alfred E. Smith, who today reëntered private life after a quarter of a century in public service.

A departure from the ancient ritual of inaugurations in Albany was made when the retiring governor introduced his successor immediately after the latter had subscribed to the oath of office. In his speech, which was in the nature of a farewell to the public, former Gov. Smith sketched the growth of the state's activities during the 25 years he had been a part of the state government.

"I am turning the government over to you—not perfect, no human institution reaches perfect, but as good as it can be made," Mr. Smith said. He added that the state officials, by their coöperation, were responsible for about 90 per cent of the state's progress.

Gov. Roosevelt in his inaugural address pleaded for the coöperation of the citizenry in helping him reach a solution of the problems confronting the government. Among the problems he mentioned were the question of water power, simplification of court procedure, and improvement in the condition of the farmer.

Case Inaugurated.

Providence, R. I., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Norman S. Case was inaugurated in his own right today as governor of Rhode Island, having served for nearly a year as successor to the late Gov. Aram J. Pothier.

Mississippi Coroner Has No Clew to Negro's Lynchers

Parchman, Miss., Jan. 1.—(AP)—A verdict of "death from causes unknown" was rendered by a coroner's jury today in the case of Charley Shepherd, Negro convict, who was burned to death last night near Rome after having confessed to murder and abduction.

The Chicago Market is covered by ONE newspaper—with 857,000 daily circulation and 1,207,000 on Sunday!

TODAY, on the threshold of 1929, the Chicago Tribune can announce that:

With its present record-breaking circulation, the Chicago Tribune reaches practically every English-speaking, able-to-buy family in Chicago.

Without aid from any other medium, it can place practically all the buying power of the gigantic Chicago market at the advertiser's disposal.

Of the 46 merchandising districts which comprise residential Chicago, eleven are above average in buying power. These eleven districts contain 233,272 families, and these families buy 205,585 Tribunes daily and 209,841 on Sundays—practically complete coverage.

Fourteen districts of average buying power contain 232,129 families. These families buy 145,163 Tribunes daily and 185,033 on Sunday —a practically complete coverage of those whose tastes and means resemble those of the families in the first groups.

Then come the twenty-one districts below average in purchasing power. They contain 308,139 families—the majority either foreign-born or living on the bare margin of existence. Yet these districts have some buying power—and they absorb 118,892 Tribunes daily and 178,899 on Sunday.

What more could advertisers ask? Here is America's second greatest market, spender of nearly two billion dollars a year in Chicago retail stores. And in this huge market is one newspaper which passes by the illiterate, the indigent, the non-English speaking—and reaches practically all the rest, every day in the year!

To reach the full buying power of this market, you need use the Chicago Tribune only.

"GAS" EXPLOSION ON LIBERTY PLANE BLOWS 2 INTO SEA

Accident at Porto Rico Delays Patterson Flight.

BY HARWOOD HULL.

[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.]

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Jan. 1.—J. M. Patterson's air yacht, Liberty, is not as free as its name. Today the New York and Chicago publisher's ship is delayed here owing to a second major accident to its personnel. While the plane is scheduled to take off tomorrow for Haiti, it may be held longer, owing to the severity of burns received last night by J. Russell Roe, radio operator, in an explosion following the refueling of the amphibian plane.

The explosion occurred about 8 o'clock, while Mr. Roe was in the ship's cabin. The cabin is believed to have become filled with gas fumes during the refueling, which had been finished.

Chief Aviation Machinist Mate Sutter, U. S. N., who was on the nose of the ship, was blown into the water. He also suffered burns.

A spark from an unexplained source caused the explosion, which hurled Mr. Roe from the cabin and into the bay. The water extinguished the flames of his clothing and hair. Both arms were scorched, while the hair about his head, mustache, eye brows and lashes were burned off.

When fished from the bay, Mr. Roe was brought ashore and taken to the army hospital for medical attention. He spent the night at the hospital. This morning army doctors said the burns were painful and extensive, but not serious.

The accident occurred after Liberty had flown to the Virgin Islands and back without stopping there. Mr. Patterson, Pilot Becker, Floyd Gibbons, and Mrs. Alicia Simpson, Mr. Patterson's daughter, had gone to the Hotel Condado Vanderbilt for a New Year's eve party, with the understanding that they would fly today. Mr. Patterson was not advised of the accident until Mr. Roe was in the hospital.

Today Mr. Patterson inspected the plane to determine whether the explosion had caused damage sufficient to delay the continuance of the air cruise about the West Indies.

DOCTORS FIND COPPER IN FOOD, WATER IS BENEFICIAL TO BLOOD

New York, Jan. 1.—(AP)—The Journal of Experimental Medicine reports in its current issue that from evidence now at hand the quantities of copper found in food and drinking water will not injure any human organ. Furthermore, evidence is accumulating to show that small amounts of the metal have a beneficial effect on the blood in cases of anemia.

The periodical, published by Rockefeller institute, made public today the results of nearly three years of research at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia university.

The problem was undertaken because experiments elsewhere had associated copper poisoning with the rare disease known as hemochromatosis and because the increased use of copper and its alloys in American homes had made desirable definite knowledge of the possibilities of such poisoning.

The scientists conducting the Columbia experiments were Dr. Frederick B. Flinn, director of industrial hygiene at the medical college, and Dr. William C. von Glahn, associate professor of pathology.

RABBI RESIGNS AS THE AMERICAN LEGION CHAPLAIN

Beek Finds His Various Duties Too Arduous.

Pottsville, Pa., Jan. 1.—(AP)—The Pottsville "morning paper" will tomorrow carry an announcement by Rabbi Herman Beck of the Localoheb Zedek Reformed congregation that he has tendered his resignation as national chaplain of the American Legion to Vice National Commander Edward White.

Rabbi Beck, who was elected national chaplain at the American Legion convention in San Antonio last September, asked White to have his resignation placed before the executive committee of the Legion when it meets in Indianapolis on Jan. 14.

Labors Too Arduous.

"Without seeking any office," the rabbi's announcement reads, "I have successfully been post chaplain, state chaplain, and national chaplain of the American Legion. This work makes many heavy demands upon me and my health has for some time not been of the best. Though my congregation has generously granted me many privileges in connection with these positions, I feel that this is an opportunity to relieve myself of some of these arduous duties.

"I have been assured that my successor will be another Jewish rabbi and therefore the recognition given by the American Legion to the many valiant soldiers of Hebrew faith who fought in the world war will not be lessened by my resignation. I appreciate the honor of my election and regret that my health will not permit me to give the fullness of service which the office carries with it."

Vice Commander White was here for several hours Sunday conferring with state, district, and local officers of the Legion. He made no announcement of the chaplain's resignation when he left for his home in New Haven, Conn.

Rabbi Beck came to this country from Russia as a child and studied for a time at the Rabbi Isaac Elchanan seminary in New York. His father, Rabbi Isaac Beck, lives in Providence, R. I. He first became a member of the Legion here and was made chaplain of the Pottsville post. Later he became chaplain of the department of Pennsylvania and last September was elevated to the national office.

Corset Stay Saves Woman's Life from Reveler's Bullet

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 1.—[U.P.]—The life of Mrs. Edith Ayres, 36, Indianapolis, was saved today by a corset stay. Mrs. Ayres had returned from a New Year's party and was sitting in the front room of her home. Some one walked up on the front porch, police said, and fired two bullets through the glass of the door. One of the shots struck Mrs. Ayres in the side. The corset stay stopped the bullet.

Pioneer, 91, Dies as New Year Dawns

Buchanan, Mich., Jan. 1.—[Special.]—As 1929 opened, Gordon Nelson Parketon, 91, died in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Frank Kinney, near here. He was one of the few men still living who had the honor of voting for Abraham Lincoln in the Emancipator's election in 1861. He had been a resident of Buchanan and Oronoko townships for 80 years. An attack of pneumonia caused death.

Home of Italian Editor and Banker Is Bombed

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 1.—(AP)—The family of Vincent Giuliano, Italian banker and newspaper publisher, escaped injury early today when a bomb blew out one side of the house, wrecked the basement and broke all the windows on the first two floors. Police recalled that Giuliano was a defense witness recently in the trial of an Italian Columbus day parade shooting here, which was the result of Fascist and anti-Fascist friction. Giuliano is the publisher of the Italian Tribune of America.

Three Killed When Train Hits Auto in Minnesota

Minnesota City, Minn., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Three persons were instantly killed and a fourth was critically injured here early today when a Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific train struck their automobile. The dead are: John Schumanski, Iona Weber, and Gladys Stolz. Gertrude Page is in a critical condition at the Winona hospital.

FISHWICK SEES BETTER MINING "DAYS AHEAD"

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 1.—(AP)—"Better days ahead," Harry E. Fishwick, president of the Illinois Mine Workers, said today in a New Year's greeting to Illinois miners and the coal consuming public.

"The mining industry," he said, "has turned the corner. We cannot regain over night the markets we have been gradually losing over a period of years. We do believe, however, the future will demonstrate the soundness of the new policy of the international policy committee, announced last July.

"We believe that our organization has retreated to a position which can be defended, and we ask for the continued coöperation of all elements of the coal consuming public.

"We believe we are entitled to this and we shall continue to do everything to deserve any assistance given us in trying to rehabilitate the coal industry in Illinois."

Flames Damage Autos in West Side Garage

A 2-11 fire in the Hamlin Motor garage, 3831 West Madison street, caused damage estimated at $8,000 to the one story brick structure and forty automobiles stored within, yesterday. Firemen and garage attendants ran 110 other cars to the street before the flames got too hot. Rudolph Kohn, proprietor of the garage, was unable to determine the cause of the blaze.

Civil War Veteran, 80, Gets Divorce, Weds Reno Woman

Reno, Nev., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Among the last divorces granted in Reno in 1928 was that of an eighty year old civil war veteran, William H. Wharton, late of Minneapolis, who obtained a decree from Georgina Park Wharton on the ground that she was excessively jealous. He immediately obtained a marriage license and was wedded to Grace E. Orner of Reno.

Why Procrastinate With Deafness?

There's only one way to find hearing, and the health and happiness that go with it. And that's to look for it. Each day that you put off the search is only another lost day of nervous irritation and social embarrassment.

So why not look for hearing today? And why not start the quest in the private consultation rooms of the Acousticon?

We honestly believe that you will find it there, as so many others have through the medium of the new and finer Acousticon—a scientific hearing aid with a tiny receiver, or earpiece, no larger than a silver dime.

TEN-DAY FREE TRIAL

Take the instrument home with you if you wish. Test it for ten days. Be sure that it's the sort of hearing aid you've always hoped to find. Learn how clearly, how distinctly it transmits sounds to subnormal ears. Probably you'll keep it, but if you don't, you may return it without charge or obligation.

If you find a call impossible, merely send your name and address to Dept. 73-A—for a free home test. Dictograph Products Company, Inc., 13th Floor, 180 N. Michigan Blvd., Chicago, Ill.

VAPEX . . . the modern way to fight a COLD

No dosing, no appliances, no bother—just breathe the pleasing vapor

A DROP of Vapex on your folded handkerchief—breathe the vapor deeply—your cold is relieved instantly. Inhale it frequently, at any time, no matter what you are doing. The odor is pleasant and invigorating. Congestion is broken up.

A drop of Vapex gives off its healing vapor for an entire day, even noticeably increases in strength for several hours. One or two drops on the edge of your pillow at night will fight the cold as you sleep. This is the modern way to stop a cold!

Vapex kills cold germs—this astounding discovery was made in England during the war. With all around them suffering from colds and influenza, a few workers in a government laboratory remained in perfect health. What was the explanation?

Tests, supervised by physicians and government officials, proved beyond a doubt that these workers were rendered immune by a vapor given off by the materials with which they were working. The discovery was an important one. A new product—Vapex—was immediately welcomed throughout England, where its use for colds and similar ailments has become general and widespread.

Druggists in America now have Vapex—in the little dollar bottle containing 50 treatments, and the package with the green triangle. Vapex is distributed by E. Fougera & Co., Inc., New York City.

MICHIGAN ROLLS UP 32 TO 11 WIN ON PENN STATE

De Pauw Loses to Purdue Five.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 1.—[Special.]—Michigan's varsity basketball team found little difficulty taking the measure of Penn State in Yost field house tonight, 32 to 11. It was the Nittany Lions' second straight defeat by a Big Ten team, Northwestern winning, 41 to 17, last night at Evanston, Ill.

Joe Truskowski, captain elect of the 1929 football eleven, showed the way to his teammates by netting three field goals and five free throws for high scoring honors. Held at bay from the first the Lions, using a second string lineup at the outset, found Michigan's tight defense too much to cope with, and even the insertion of the regulars shortly after the start failed to change the complexion of the affair.

Michigan scored eight points before the Lions got started and led 17 to 3 at the half.

With the count heavily against them the Lions looked good for a comeback as the second period opened, but the Wolverine defense tightened again, and it was only on occasions that Reinhold, Jacobson or Acting Capt. Hamas got away for a field goal. In the meantime Truskowski, McCoy, Orwig, Balsamo and Rose all added their share to the Maize and Blue total. Lineup:

PURDUE, 47; DE PAUW, 24

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 1.—[Special.]—Indiana's ranks of undefeated basketball teams were cut to two here tonight when Purdue went on a scoring spree and decisively defeated De Pauw, 47 to 24. The Boilermakers played throughout the game without the services of Capt. Wilbur Cummins, forward, who was kept on the bench with an injured knee, but Murphy and Harmeson teamed together in a scoring combination that snowed under the Methodists from the start.

BUTLER WINS AGAIN.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 1.—[Special.]—Butler university toppled its third regional champion and continued undefeated here tonight when it turned back the University of North Carolina, southern title holder, 43 to 20. Butler led at the half, 21 to 13, and because of the sharpshooting of its forwards was never seriously in danger.

Rickard Goes Under Knife; Appendicitis

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 1.—(AP)—George L. [Tex] Rickard, president of Madison Square Garden, New York and prize fight promoter, was operated on for appendicitis here early tonight. His condition was reported as good after the operation.

Rickard became ill at his home this morning and believed he had indigestion. When the pain became acute he summoned a physician, who diagnosed the case as appendicitis. He was taken to the hospital and operated on at once.

The promoter's illness prevented him from attending the opening night of the Miami Beach Kennel club, a new greyhound racing plant of which he is principal owner.

Want to Chum with Fistic Nabobs? Here's a Shortcut

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 1.—The increasing attendance of high class and socially refined society millionaires at the prize fights in Madison Square Garden seems to call for a number of introductions.

It is important, for instance, that the Princess Francesca Raspigliosi should recognize Mr. Joseph [Singletooth] Jacobs, one of the leaders of the profession, and not confuse him with either Mr. Mike Jacobs, the ticket scalper, or Mr. Lew [Tintooth] Fink, as she might do, owing to the similarity of names.

Society Seeks the Boys.

It is not really necessary that the boys, on their part, should inform themselves about the princess because it is the refined and socially exclusive millionaire element which is seeking them out, not the boys who are intruding on society. If it is ever necessary for Singletooth to address himself to the princess, he will probably evade the irritating social problem of the correct name and pronunciation by calling her "Baby"—as "Hello, Baby," or "Listen, Baby."

Tintooth, owing to his long association with Mr. Tunney, who had moments of acute refinement himself, probably will be more formal; he might call her "your majesty."

The princess, however, if she is to succeed socially in her new sphere, should know who the various gentlemen are, which ones do not speak to which other ones and so on through a large and complex social system, fraught with imminent possibilities of embarrassing error.

Frightens Fight Fan.

I single out the Princess Raspigliosi for instance because I saw her name mentioned prominently in the society reporters' stories of those present at the recent contest between Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska peasant, and Rene De Vos, the protégé of Mr. Anthony J. Tony Drexelhyphen Biddle, comma, jr., period, new paragraph.

Moreover she was the one who whipped out a double barreled 4.7 breech loading or loading lorgnette during the semi-final bout and fixed her sights on Mr. Tony Vaccarelli, who thought he was looking down the muzzle of a sawed-off shotgun and tried to climb out of the ring.

At the time I asked Mr. Francis Albertanti who that one might be and he said, "That is some exclusive foreign duke's wife; Princess Raspberries, I think."

For the benefit of the princess and others who are newcomers to the Garden the following biographical information may be found helpful in making or avoiding small talk:

Mr. Joseph Singletooth Jacobs is manager of Izzy Schwartz, Johnny Dundee and Jack Ki Yi Delaney. With him avoid mentioning the Sharkey-Delaney thing, as he insists this was on the square.

Mr. Mike Jacobs, ticket scalper, once had Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst locked up on Ellis island to ballyhoo a lecture given under his management. He postponed the lecture and she nearly starved in hunger strike waiting for him to get her out.

Mr. Lew Tintooth Fink used to rub Mr. Tunney. Nice manners. Did not attend Tunney nuptials.

Mr. Will Gibson—ask him about the time he brought ministerial committee to hotel room in Seattle to meet his fighter, who was supposed to be writing letter home to dear old mother and was compelled to slam door and back track with committee owing to scene in room. Very gentlemanly; bathes.

And Here's More Data.

Mr. Leo P. Flynn—avoid anecdotes, as he tells dialect stories. Managed Dempsey in Chicago but lost the referee. Avoid mention of this. Avoid mentioning music; he might sing. Avoid topic of dancing; he might dance.

Mr. Jack Curley keeps wrestlers and setters, speaks French, will ask your home address; don't be coquettish about this, he merely wants to send a ham for Christmas.

James J. Johnston, collector and subdivider of modern and antique prize fighters, voluble on all topics; turn him on and let him run—then run.

Mr. Will McCarney, owned Jess Willard, pledged him for board bill and let him go by default; has lots of luck, uniformly bad; bathes.

Mr. Max Boo Boo Hoff, prominent sinister character of Philadelphia, tried to corrupt nature's nobleman in sesquicentennial uplift; believed to have undermined escutcheon of clean sport; cable address, Sinister, Philadelphia.

John the Baptist—first name John, last name Baptist, hence John the Baptist; doorman on gallery entrance of Garden; social leaders will not meet him nor he them; an even break.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

NEW YEAR'S WISHES.

FOR Tex Rickard I wish a rising new Dempsey and for old Jack another flock of Firpos he can maul. And, please have a flock of horsemen for King Knute at Notre Dame and bring to Stagg another Eckersall. Favor Mister Tunney with a hat both big and high and a velocipede that functions in reverse. Give Ohio State alumni a coach who'll never lose and leave a mascot with Comiskey for his purse.

Give old Paddy Driscoll the well of Endless Youth, Rogers Hornsby wants a disposition meek. Give to Mister William Wrigley the pennant he deserves and the Black Hawks one even break a week. Leave a bit of conscience with the wrestlers and their czars and some bouts we know are on the up and up. Give Sir Tommy Lipton another speedy scow and for Pete's sake let him win his bloomin cup.

Give each fan some Annie Oakleys for all big games next fall and bring ducats near the ringside by the ton. For myself I'm asking nothing—just one tiny little thing—please show me how to make a HOLE IN ONE.

Paul Fogarty.

Sangor Whips Morgan in Ten Round Battle

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 1.—[Special.]—In a slashing fight Joey Sangor of Milwaukee won the newspaper decision over Tod Morgan of Seattle, Wash., the world's junior lightweight champion, here today. Morgan did not lose his title, as decisions are not officially given in Wisconsin.

The fight was the feature of Promoter Tom Andrews' show held in the Auditorium this afternoon. It attracted a gathering of 7,000 who paid $20,000.

Sangor's margin of victory was small. In the fourth round Joey turned loose a left hand which landed below the belt line. It was a foul blow. Morgan went down and was assisted to his corner. After a short rest Morgan consented to continue, but he had been hurt.

Sangor took advantage of Tod's weakened condition and won not only the fourth round, but the fifth, sixth and seventh sessions. The eighth and ninth were even and Morgan had a shade in the tenth. The champion won the second and third, while the opening stanza was about even.

It was a vicious fight and at times they stood toe to toe and turned punches loose with both hands. They mixed their punches and each stopped as many around the body as on the head.

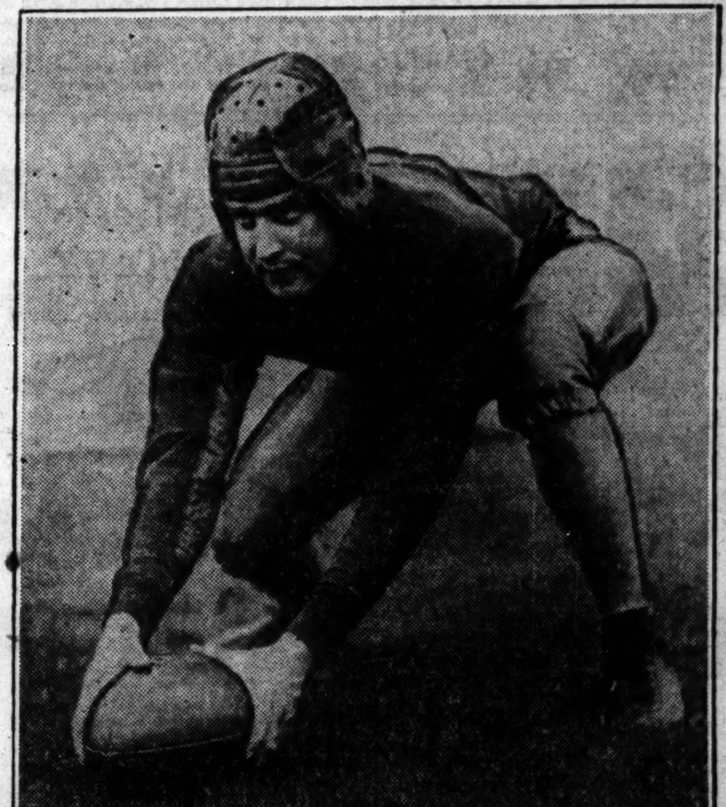
Morgan was fouled. There was no question about it. The blow declared legal by Referee Walter Houlihan took a lot out of the champion. He did not respond in his customary fashion in the next three rounds and it was in these sessions that Sangor piled up the lead which gave him the decision.

It was Joey's first fight since he was knocked out by Armando Santiago in Chicago. The local boxer showed no effects of the knockout and was after the champion all the time. The only way Sangor could have won Morgan's title was to have knocked him out or taken the fight on a foul. They met at the junior lightweight limit of 130 pounds. Morgan weighed 128½ pounds at 10 o'clock this morning and Sangor 128.

Jackie London, the Chicago lightweight, won the decision over Jackie Nichols of Milwaukee in the sixth round semi-windup.

In the opening bout Harry Minikel of Milwaukee stopped Kid Guyse of Rochester, N. Y., in the first round.

Louis New and Vic Walters, Milwaukee lightweights, went six rounds to a draw in the second preliminary.



Roy Riegels, California's captain for next season, became football's greatest goat when he ran 69 yards in the wrong direction as Georgia Tech beat the Bears 8-7 yesterday.

Player Whose Mistake Cost Game Defended by Mates

Pasadena, Cal., Jan. 1.—[Special.]—Roy Riegels, the boy whose mistake paved the way for defeat of his California team, was in tears in the dressing room and was shielded by his coach, Nibs Price, and his captain, Irving Phillips, after the game.

Phillips gave interviewers Riegels' explanation of the latter's sensations when he ran 69 yards back to his own goal line with the ball. In the words of his teammates, Phillips and Rus Avery, who asked questioners not to go to Riegels, this is what happened:

"He picked up that ball and he was so excited that everything was in a jumble.

"He was not hit on the head or hurt in any way. He saw a clear road ahead of him, with only one or two football figures and it looked like the road to a touchdown. The thought that he was not running toward the right goal never entered his head. The sudden chance to do something after he unexpectedly picked up the ball made him forget to look about. He feels terribly over it, but it was only one mistake. He played the best game on the field during the second half. None of the fellows censures Riegels."

Peter Pund, center, who opposed Riegels and who captained Georgia, said: "That was a tough break on Riegels' part. I'll never forget playing against him in that second half. He was a battler and I admire him for it."

Big Six Stars Win; Game Ends in Fight

Dallas, Tex., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Blue Howell of Nebraska and Bob Mehrle of Missouri plunged and sidestepped in phantom fashion today to give a team of Big Six gridiron stars a 14 to 6 victory over a handpicked southwest conference eleven before 10,000 spectators.

Darting through holes opened by a stalwart line, the Cornhusker and his aide wasted no time in smashing through a forward wall which the southwest thought impregnable. In less than four minutes after the kickoff, Howell and Mehrle alternated at their relentless driving for the former to score a touchdown. Mehrle added the extra point with a place kick.

The southwest squad braced momentarily, but early in the second quarter Mehrle knifed through the line, eluded the secondary interference and raced 20 yards before he was brought down on the southwest's 28 yard line. Behind perfect interference Howell plunged for a first down and then cracked the line for his second touchdown.

All thrills of the contest, Dixie's last of a lengthy season, were not confined to the exploits of Big Six scoring aces. Late in the game when Howell was chased out of bounds by Burgess, a crowd of several hundred swarmed on the field when the southwest player apparently swung at his opponent. The game was delayed several minutes while police cleared the field. Lineup:

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., Jan. 1.—Georgia Tech's Golden Tornado this afternoon defeated University of California's Golden Bears, 8 to 7, before a crowd of 70,000, and in the contest another tragic figure was added to the Hall of Goats.

Until today professional baseball boasted the prime goats of sport: Merkle, who failed to touch second and cost the New York Giants a pennant; Snodgrass, who lost a world series with a muff; Zimmerman, who chased a winning run across the plate to decide a world series. Fine goats these, but none so tragic as Roy Riegels, captain elect of California's 19 team. Roy decided today's game by running 69½ yards to his own six inch line where he was tackled by one of his teammates. A safety followed a few seconds later and that safety decided the outcome.

The score was 0 to 0 when Riegels suffered his terrific lapse. California was operating deep in Georgia Tech territory. Three plays had failed to gain the prescribed ten yards for the Golden Bears. Benny Lom shot a bullet pass to Barr on fourth down but it was too hot to handle. Tech ball.

Joy Turns to Dismay.

Not much noise from the California section for an instant. Then a roar of ecstacy. On the first play Mizell of Tech fumbled on the 25 yard line. Joy was great when the Californians saw Riegels seize the loose ball and start for the enemy goal, little more than 30 yards away.

Then there was a hush. Riegels had whipped about-face and was starting on his historic dash—SIXTY-NINE AND A HALF YARDS IN THE WRONG DIRECTION!

Riegels is a lineman—a center. And centers aren't supposed to be the fastest of runners. But Riegels was grasping at the stuff of which heroes are made. He sprinted like one possessed. Benny Lom was among the first to see the bottom had fallen out of the world—and Benny is the fastest of California's speedsters. He tried to overtake Riegels, shouting frantically the while. But the center outran him until he was just about to cross his own goal. Then Lom pulled Riegels down with a Herculean tug at the latter's arm. The ball was down six inches from California's goal.

Maree Blocks Punt.

The score still was 0 to 0. A good punt would, perhaps, save Riegels' name from going into the book as one of sports' greatest goats—the "bonehead" of his era.

The two principals in the drama took their places in the play they hoped would stave off years of humiliation—Riegels as the ball passer, Lom as the punter. But the panic was on. Maree of Tech broke through and blocked the kick. California recovered, but the score was Tech, 2; California, 0.

Riegels moved, a dejected, pitiful figure, to the side lines after the scoring play. Onlookers thought he had been withdrawn but it was revealed later that he had wanted to leave Rose bowl forthwith.

But team mates wouldn't have it. Eventually the captain elect yielded to their entreaties, and when the whistle blew for the start of the second half, California's greatest goat was in there battling for all his life was worth.

Both Score Touchdowns.

In the next quarter—the third—the Golden Tornado, still merry from the stimulating effects of the unbelievable break, hammered its way to a touchdown, then failed to add the point.

The score at the end of the third quarter was Tech 8; California 0. Though it couldn't have happened under the ethics of the battling game of football, it perhaps would have been humane for California to have eased up its offensive. The boys then could have consoled themselves they would have been beaten, regardless of the tragedy play.

In the fourth quarter, however, California put on a desperate drive and scored a touchdown and extra point. That made the fatal safety the key to victory. Throw out Poor Roy's 69½ yard run and the score would have been California 7; Tech 6. Right there is at least ten years' food for the California chapter of the Brotherhood of Second Guessers.

There were other high points to the game—principal among them being Lom's dash for 68 yards in the second quarter for what apparently had given California a touchdown and the

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Hammering the Detroit Cougars' goal with a shot a minute for sixty minutes of hockey didn't do the Chicago Blackhawks a bit of good at the Coliseum last night, for the Cougars, with hardly more than half as many shots, scored twice as many goals. The final score was 2 to 1, but it might just as well have been 4 to 1 in favor of Detroit or 5 to 2 in favor of Chicago.

The Hawks returned from their eastern trip an improved team, however, and their continuous attack kept a crowd of 5,000 yelling. Despite the temporary loss of March, due to an attack of tonsillitis, and the fact McKinnon played with a crippled shoulder, the game wasn't won and, in fact, was on the verge of a tie every minute until the horn ended the last period.

Change Style of Play.

An apparent change of style sent Vic Ripley down the ice playing the sort of game the old time rover did when seven men made up a hockey team, and in consequence he got a lot of shots.

All three of the goals scored were earned, all coming as the result of good passing, which was the essential reason Detroit won. The Cougars passed with meticulous care, Lewis, Cooper, Herberts, and Hay in particular being adept at eluding the Hawks' defense and making a perfect pass to one of the others planted in front of the Hawks' goal.

Both the Cougars' goals came in that way, the first after nine minutes of the first period, in which the Hawks had had the advantage in attack. George Hay, who once wore the black and white Chicago uniform, sped down the left side of the ice and, crowded to the boards by Chicago's defense, whipped a perfect pass to Carson Cooper, who had broken through to wait about ten feet in front of the Hawks' net. Gardiner never had a chance to save the shot.

How They Scored Again.

The Cougars scored again in the first minutes of the second period on the same play, merely reversing the side of the ice. Cooper took the puck down the right side of the ice on this marker, and when crowded out by the Hawks' defense, passed to the speedy Herbie Lewis who whipped the puck past Gardiner from less than ten feet directly in front of the net.

Six minutes later the Hawks got their one and only goal through a fine bit of team play by Coture and Ripley. Coture took the puck from the corner back of his own goal and snaked down the ice to inside the Cougars' blue line. Blocked, he passed to Ripley, who was also blocked, and passed back. Coture, within a couple of feet of the right corner of the net, but with Dolson on that corner, flipped the puck back to Ripley who scored from about three feet away with a clear shot.

Cooper Knocked Out.

Shortly after Cooper lost his balance when racing for the puck near the Hawks goal and crashed into the boards, knocking him cold. No one was near him at the time, but Gottselig drew a penalty and after a rest Cooper came back.

Leummen Rolls 18 Strikes, Averages 252

Bill Leummen tossed 18 successive strikes and swept the maples off the alleys for an average of 252 yesterday afternoon in a five game match rolled on the Holy Martyrs alleys at 43d and Richmond. His string of strikes came in the third and first half of the fourth frame.

He started with a 243 mark, dropped to 214, and came back in the next for a perfect game. In the following frame he rolled six successive strikes and reached 245. The 259 count in the last game represented his second highest of the match and ran his total pinfall to 1,251.

IRELAND HOLDS RUGBY TITLE.

PARIS, Jan. 1.—(AP)—For the sixth successive year Ireland won the annual international rugby match by defeating France today, 6 to 0. Ireland now has won 13 of the 16 contests that have been played.

FlyHawk, 14-1, Wins Holiday Stake at N. O.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 1.—Fly Hawk, racing in the silks of William Maher, won the $5,000 New Orleans handicap here this afternoon by a length and a half from the favorite Solace. Crossco, owned by Val Crane of Chicago, was third but far back of the two leaders.

Fly Hawk had been overlooked in the betting and was at more than 14 to 1 as he came with a dash in the stretch and won the battle. The race was the feature as the Fair Grounds season opened today, and it was witnessed by a record breaking crowd of more than 20,000.

Twelve started, including most of the good horses quartered here, but the start was good and the contest was remarkably free of interference. Solace was quickest to get into his racing stride and he sprinted to the front and led the field a hot clip. He was at one time three lengths to the good, and appeared the winner.

When the field made the turn into the stretch Fly Hawk moved up from third place, and in the next furlong took the lead and won easily by a length and a half. Solace took the place by 4 lengths from Crossco.

The time for the mile and a sixteenth was 1:46 4-5.

BREAKS RECORD AT HAVANA

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 1.—Tutti Frutti, a South American horse, ridden by the South American jockey, Perez, won the New Year's handicap at Oriental park today. He broke the track record when he galloped the mile and a sixteenth in 1:43 3-5.

There was a tremendous betting plunge on Tutti Frutti. The bookies quoted him at 6 to 1 as the betting opened, but so much support was mustered for him that he was at 2 to 1 at post time.

BRAVES PREXY TO BE CALLED IN BRIBE CASE

Boston, Jan. 1.—(AP)—An attack of pleurisy that placed him in a physicians' care may prevent Emil Fuchs, president of the Boston Braves, from appearing before the city finance committee tomorrow to testify in connection with the controversy over the Sunday baseball question, Braves' officials said tonight.

Fuchs and Charles Adams, vice president of the Braves, whose intimations that a Boston city councilor sought graft to assure early and favorable action on the baseball order started the rumpus, have both been summoned to testify under oath. Others who were expected to appear were Thomas H. Green, president of the city council; Robert Quinn, president of the Red Sox, and Arthur L. Race, manager of a local hotel.

THE CHOICEST BEEF. from the International Livestock Exposition

—in thick juicy steaks . . . full-bodied roasts . . . tender cuts

on Pennsylvania trains this week

Your mouth can't help watering—and your eyes shine, as your knife cuts keenly this tender beef . . . From within its sizzling, appetizing exterior, savory juices flow forth—palate-tickling!

This week on Pennsylvania trains the choicest of all choice beef will be served: as steaks—as roasts—tender cuts in a variety of toothsome dishes. Whatever the cut, it's the finest beef the country produces—prize-winning beef from the famous International Exposition in Chicago: Hundreds of Pennsylvania cooks have been schooled in the royal etiquette of its preparation.

They are trained twice each week in three special schools. And they know how to cook prize foods!

Ask for prize beef this week on the diners of Pennsylvania trains. It will add zest to your trip.

UNIVERSITY FIVE BEATS O'CONNOR IN K. C., 19 TO 18

Clings to Tie for Lead in North Division.

Overcoming O'Connor's first half lead to win out, 19 to 18, University kept even with Marquette for first place in the Knights of Columbus basketball league, north division, yesterday at the Broadway armory. Dutgen and Flynn did the chief scoring for the winners with six points each. Marquette triumphed over its old rival, De Soto, 21 to 13. University lineup:

Ethel Lackie, Maker of Six World Swim Marks, to Quit

Miss Ethel Lackie of the Illinois Women's Athletic club, holder of six world's sprint swimming records and a national championship for women, plans to retire from amateur competition Following the example of John Weissmuller, former teammate, she is to make her final appearance at the Illinois Athletic club tomorrow night in connection with the annual Cook county interscholastic swimming championship meet.

Miss Lackie is the veteran of all outstanding girl swimmers in the country today. Most of her contemporaries preceded her into professional activities. Notable among these was Miss Gertrude Ederle, English channel conqueror; Miss Helen Wainwright, Miss Eileen Riggin, and Miss Ethelda Bliebtrey are others who early deserted the amateur ranks.

Tired of Swimming for Glory.

Like Weissmuller, Miss Lackie felt that she had been in competition a long time and swimming for "glory only" was beginning to lise some of its thrill.

Coach William Bachrach of the I. A. C., who developed Weissmuller, took charge of Miss Lackie's training in 1923. In a short time she broke her first world's record. Like Weissmuller among the men, she became the stylist among women crawl stroke swimmers. More delicate and slight of build than most of her rivals, she earned her margin of superiority by perfection in the execution of the ideal American crawl.

"Unlike most girl athletes, Miss Lackie always has done her best when competition was keenest," said Bachrach today. "She has a temperament that seems to key her up to supreme efforts when challenged. Next to Weissmuller I consider Ethel the most perfect exponent of the crawl stroke. She gets her results not so much by muscular power as by graceful execution and a fighting heart."

Her World's Records.

Miss Lackie holds the United States indoor championship at 100 yards. In 1924 she won the 100 meter championship at the Olympic games, and then returned to this country to win the 100 yard indoor championship.

Her world's records are as follows:

50 yards	27.2 s.

75 FOOT POOLS.

50 yards	27 s.
100 yards	60 9-10 s.

STRAIGHTAWAY.

50 yards	27.1 s.

Coach Bachrach hoped to bring Miss Lackie to the point of swimming the 100 yard free style in a minute or less—the unattainable dream of all girl sprint stars. However, the I. A. C. broke up its girls' team before this achievement could be realized. Miss Lackie transferred to the Illinois Women's Athletic club, for whom she competed during the last year or so.

Miss Lackie is a Chicago girl, and she learned to swim at the 74th street beach near the home in which she was born, and still lives with her parents.

BIALAS WINS IN SKATEOFF FOR EASTERN TITLE

Newburgh, N. Y., Jan. 1.—[Special.]—Valentine Bialas of Utica, skating in the colors of the Lake Placid Skating club, won the skateoff for the men's middle Atlantic speed skating championship here today. Tied with Allan Potts of the Brooklyn Ice palace after the regular program had been completed, Bialas led the Brooklynite by five feet over the tape in a thrilling 880 yard duel.

The disappointment of the day was Irving Jaffee's failure to figure more prominently. Jaffee, skating for the Iceland Skating club, was expected to prove the most dangerous contender to succeed Charles Gorman of St. John, New Brunswick, for the crown. Gorman, who had won the title for three preceding years, did not compete today.

Margaret McBride of the Toronto Speed Skating club swept all three of the women's events and became champion for the second successive time in this division, with 90 points. B. Mackay, of the Parkside Ladies Athletic club, Toronto, finished second with 40 points.

Hunters Vote 1928 Season a Big Success

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Saidora, Ill., Jan. 1.—With the Illinois duck season over because the state law wrote finis to the sport in this state at sundown Dec. 31, the duck hunters down here along the Sangamon and the Illinois are writing in their logs that this has been one of the most successful seasons in several years.

In the first place it was a good year for the puddler ducks as far as nesting conditions up north were concerned, and the birds came down from Canada in large numbers. Secondly, the migrating waterfowl when they hit the Illinois river country found considerable natural food and water at a reasonable level.

Under such conditions it is not surprising that the sport of throwing shot at the waterfowl was [during the season of 1928] about as fine as any duck hunter would want.

On our last day with the pintails and the mallards before the season closed we had the opportunity of sitting behind another fellow's blind for ten minutes and getting the complete picture of live decoys, duck call, hunter, and gun synchronizing their stuff so as to get a big fat greenhead within range.

It was about 10:30 in the morning. The birds were pretty quiet around our blind, so we walked over to the timber hole where Carl Dreutzer was shooting. His blind was among the trees about forty feet from shore. We sat down on a log for a chat with C. D., who was standing on the ice behind his willow blind. Suddenly we spotted a greenhead above the trees.

"Sh-sh-sh," we signalled C. D. as the bird circled. The live decoys began to broadcast, Carl added a few quacks with his duck call while we crouched on our log seat. Down came Mr. Mallard, his glossy green head glistening in the morning sun. It was a beautiful sight—bird in the air, hunter kneeling tense upon the ice. And then—wham! and down came the mallard kerplunk on the ice.

Stribling Floors League for Count in First Round

KAPLAN FINDS KING EASY.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Lou [Kid] Kaplan, former featherweight champion now fighting as a lightweight, won the decision over Ritchie King, Philadelphia, in a 10 round bout here today. The veteran Kaplan showered his youthful opponent with punches whenever and wherever he pleased.

O'DOWD BEATS RONAN.

Columbus, O., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Eddie O'Dowd, Columbus featherweight, won a decisive victory over Homer Ronan, Newark, in a 12 round bout here tonight. Joe O'Malley and Shifty Dandoe, Columbus welterweights, slugged through ten rounds, with Dandoe helpless except in one or two.

HYBERT WINS.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Floyd Hybert, Cleveland, won a newspaper decision over Wilson Yarbo, Cleveland, in the six round main bout of a boxing show here today.

TUT WINS DECISION.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 1.—(AP)—King Tut, Minneapolis, Minn., clawed his way to a decision over Russie Le Roy of Fargo, in ten rounds here today. Le Roy had the better of it early but as the bout progressed Tut seemed to get stronger while Le Roy weakened under the terrific pace. Each weighed 138 pounds.

MILLER DEFEATS PAYNE.

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Freddie Miller, Cincinnati featherweight, won the decision over Cecil Payne, Louisville, Ky., in a ten round bout here today.

PALM K. O'S LEONARD.

Hamilton, O., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Frankie Palm, Cincinnati welterweight, knocked out K. O. Leonard, Nashville, Tenn., in the second round of their ten round bout here today.

DILLON, FIRPO DRAW.

New Castle, Pa., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Henry Firpo of Louisville, Ky., and Jack Dillon of Nashville, Tenn., fought a ten round draw here today. Dillon was outfought and outslugged by Firpo, but the Nashville boy was clever at infighting.

BROWN WINS ON FOUL.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Norman Brown, Chicago, 147, won on a foul in the fifth round of a ten round fight from Meyer Grace, 149, Philadelphia, here tonight.

Georgia Tech Wins Coast Game, 8 to7

lead. But the referee ruled he had blown his whistle before Lom got under way and the ball was called back midst the boos of California partisans.

Lom Passes to Touchdown.

The touchdown which made the score 8 to 0 for Tech was made by Thomason in the third quarter. A few moments previous to the scoring California had held on its one foot line, then had kicked out. Mizell and Thomason drove right back, however, covering 45 yards for a touchdown in two plays.

California launched a desperate drive at the outset of the fourth quarter, with Lom continuing as the star of the losers. His passes were the chief factors in a march of eighty yards and a touchdown by Capt. Phillips on one of Lom's heaves. Barr added the point.

California, with 13, more than doubled the first down showing of Tech, which had six. California's more effective use of the forward pass is shown in the fact the Bears made 125 yards with this technique, as compared with 25 for the southerners.

MALONE SCORES EASY VICTORY OVER J. GIBBS

Reno, Nev., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Jock Malone, St. Paul middleweight, won a decision in 10 rounds of tame fighting with Jack Gibbs of Los Angeles in a New Year's show here this afternoon.

Important...YOUR HEALTH!

*Includes: Round-Trip Railroad and Pullman Tickets; Luxurious Room with Bath and Meals at the famous French Lick Springs Hotel; Free Golf; Free Mineral Waters

You need a little rest—a few days of utter freedom from business and worry.

Take a trip down to French Lick Springs. The rest, relaxation and the waters will do you a world of good. You'll come back looking and feeling like a new person.

Sound advice, for all of us! We should take a health vacation in winter, say medical authorities. Our bodies and minds call for it.

Fortunately, such a vacation need not be costly—in time or money. Famous French Lick Springs is only a night's ride from Chicago—and the Monon, by special arrangement with the French Lick Springs Hotel, is able to offer an "all expense" vacation at very low cost.

Stay longer if you wish

Spend five days—at a total expense of only $67.50. (You can stay longer if you wish at proportionate rates—your railroad tickets are good fifteen days). This bargain price includes railroad ticket with lower berth Chicago to French Lick and return—a luxurious, outside room with private bath and meals at the noted French Lick Springs Hotel—free golf—free use of the wonderful mineral waters.

You can take a systematic course of medicinal baths at greatly reduced rates. These baths are of all types—sedative, tonic, eliminative. A competent medical staff is maintained to prescribe the type best suited to your particular needs—and to advise you, if you wish, regarding waters, exercise, rest, proper diet.

For exercise, you can take delightful hikes through inspiring wooded scenery, or if the weather be inclement, there is a spacious enclosed veranda extending around the hotel; you can ride horseback over winding trails in the hills; you can play golf; you can dance to the rhythm of a fine orchestra.

No bothersome details

The Monon relieves you of all details and worry on this trip. All you need do is buy your tickets and hotel card. We will make your Pullman and hotel reservations—take care of your baggage—handle everything. Plan now to enjoy this health-building vacation. Special offer holds good until March 20.

Phone, or call on J. J. Curtin, Ticket Agent, Consolidated Ticket Office, 163 W. Jackson Blvd., Chicago. Phone: Wabash 4600. Or mail coupon to E. P. Cockrell, General Passenger Agent, Chicago.

WHEAT OUTLOOK NOT FAVORABLE TO BETTER PRICES

Faces More Competition from Abroad.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A bearish feeling prevails in the world's wheat situation, with prices in Chicago the lowest of the season, and with supplies of wheat the largest known, there being 138,743,00 bu in the visible supply, compared with 85,577,000 bu a year ago, while Canada has 111,620,000 bu, against 75,780,000 last year. Marketing has been extremely heavy, with the largest crops in a number of years. Canada has marketed close to 400,000,000 bu since Aug. 1 and the United States over 70 per cent of crop. Supplies on ocean passage of 54,384,000 bu are more than 8,000,000 in excess of last year. World's shipments are large, and close to the record. Australia and Argentina have larger surpluses than last year, while most European crops are smaller than a year ago, and Russia is uncertain.

American and Canadian wheat growers will have to compete with Argentina and Australia wheats in foreign markets to a greater extent during the next six months than they have in the first half of the year just closed. The trade as a whole is disposed to look for a decline of 5 to 10 cents or more in wheat prices here unless something happens to the winter wheat crop during the next four months.

Prices Under a Year Ago.

A few men in the grain trade are fairly optimistic as to maintenance of a price level somewhere around the present with May wheat at $1.18 and July at $1.20, while March is 2⅝c under May. These prices are 12⅛@15½c under those of a year ago. This, it is claimed, should discount a good part of the present bearish feeling. They base their belief on the difference in conditions between the United States, Canada and the southern hemisphere countries. Holders in the latter have not the storage facilities nor the money with which to hold their grain and market in a conservative way, and rush it forward as soon as harvested. This gives European consumers the benefit of their position as compared with holders and producers in the United States.

Wheat sales on the Chicago Board of Trade in 1928 were approximately 81,000,000 bu less than in 1927, and the open interest in futures at the close on Dec. 29 was 126,860,000 bu, of which 110,669,000 bu were in the May delivery, or practically double that of a year ago.

Free Marketing of Corn.

More corn has been marketed and consumed out of the 1928 crop than in recent years. Speculative sales on the Chicago Board of Trade for the year, while larger than wheat at times, decreased 17,556,000 bu. Sentiment in the corn trade is more in favor of the present level of prices, which are almost the same as a year ago for the May delivery, being 91c, or 19c over last year, with an open interest of 62,390,000 bu, or 12,951,000 bu under a year ago. Visible supply stocks are materially less than last year, and country elevator operators are rushing in the corn as fast as marketed, as so far there has been no incentive in holding. Expectations are that with cold weather, which usually comes in January, there will be a liberal marketing movement and a good demand, as Argentine corn will not be available in Europe for some time and prices of Argentine corn in foreign markets are higher than in Chicago.

May oats in Chicago a year ago were 55⅝, against 48c at present. December closed around 48½c on Monday, or ½c over May, a condition that is not known to have prevailed heretofore under normal conditions. The market is largely a cash proposition. The open interest in all deliveries in Chicago, exclusive of December, is 25,056,000 bu, compared with 33,139,000 bu a year ago. In May oats the open contract is 20,839,000 bu, or about 6,000,000 bu less than a year ago. The market has attracted less attention the last year, with sales of 818,889,000 bu, a loss of 338,000,000 bu from sales in 1927.

Rye, which for the last few years has attracted unusual attention, was less interesting to the speculative and export trade during the last six months. Total sales of futures of 395,473,000 bu decreased 67,488,000 bu for the year, with the open interest at the close 8,845,000 bu, or 554,000 bu less than a year ago.

Continental Motors Net Income Exceeds '27 Profits

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 1.—Net income of Continental Motors corporation for the year ended Oct. 31. was $550,000 in excess of the net profits for the same period of the preceding year. Income totaled $1,802,835, or the equivalent of $1.02 a share on 1,760,845 no par shares. This compares with $1,248,831, or 71 cents a share, for the previous year. Ross W. Judson, president, told stockholders: "Profits from operations exceeded by nearly $1,000,000 those of previous fiscal year, and the increased business has been handled with smaller inventory. The cash position shows an increase of $2,207,886."

FORD ORDERS.

Ford Motor company of Canada, Ltd., reports almost as many unfilled orders for spring delivery as had accumulated before deliveries were started on the present models. The company's plants will return to a six day week basis in February.

NEW HEIGHTS ARE ATTAINED BY INSURANCE

BY CHARLES BARTON.

The business of insurance, legal life insurance in particular, rose to new heights in 1928. According to the Association of Life Insurance Presidents all prior records were broken in the amount paid to policyholders and their beneficiaries, in the volume of new production, in the net amount added to the total insurance in force, and in additions to the invested assets which secure the payment of policies at maturity.

The total payments to life insurance policyholders and beneficiaries during the year will approximate $1,700,000,000 as against $1,500,000,000 in 1927. The 1928 figures show an increase of 56 per cent over the payments of five years ago, for such disbursements in 1923 were $1,088,000,000.

New Life Insurance.

About $18,500,000,000 new life insurance—ordinary, industrial, and group—was written in 1928, according to a forecast based on the reports of two hundred and twenty-four companies, transacting over 93 per cent of the business of United States companies. This is $1,365,000,000 more than the $17,135,000,000 in 1927—an increase of 8 per cent. The growth in the yearly volume of new insurance is clearly indicated when it is realized that 1928 is the sixth successive year in which a new record has been established.

After allowing for terminations, maturities, lapses, etc., $8,000,000,000 net was added during 1928 to the insurance in force, making a total as of Dec. 31, 1928, of approximately $95,000,000,000 on the lives of sixty-five million policyholders.

The assets of the companies increased during the year by $1,600,000,000. This is by far the largest amount ever added in a single year. These assets now total $16,000,000,000, having more than doubled in seven years.

The year treated the fire insurance companies satisfactorily according to C. M. Cartwright of the National Underwriter. Taken as a whole, the companies expect to clear up their 1928 business at a profit. New financial records may be established.

Most of them have maintained a more conservative policy in underwriting, Mr. Cartwright finds. Various fire prevention activities all over the country have been another notable factor in reducing the loss ratio.

Operate in Stocks.

Some of the companies noted for their stock market operations and which have financial experts at their elbows, reaped large rewards during the period of market advances. These profits helped increase their earnings and they have, therefore, been able to pay handsome dividends, solely because of investments in the banking field. Cases are pointed out where some have suffered extensive underwriting losses, and yet, in the windup, are able to make excellent statements.

Casualty companies have not afforded a general summary of conditions for the year but it is known that underwriting losses, particularly in regards to motor liability insurance and workmen's compensation, have been heavy. An increasing toll of automobile deaths and injuries has been severely felt among the companies that insure against such eventualities.

Aviation insurance passed into adolescence during 1928 and looks forward to fuller maturity in the near future.

Minor Changes in Car Industry Are Important

BY LEON STOLZ.

The importance of the automobile in American industrial expansion has been generally recognized at its true value. Few observers will deny that the requirements of motor car manufacturers for steel, copper, aluminum, and other metals, for upholstering materials, glass, textiles, and lacquers, among countless other items, has been the greatest single stimulus to industry in the last decade. That has been said before, and so often that a good many observers are inclined to think that the show is about over.

When physicists accept a new law in mechanics, no one supposes that the law, having been discovered, is no longer operative. Often that is exactly what happens in economic matters. By the time the causes of economic movements are generally accepted they are frequently of diminished importance.

Some Increase Certain.

It is true that we cannot count upon the same rapid increase in the sale of automobiles that has taken place in the last ten years, though some increase is certain and a considerable expansion in foreign markets can also be predicted. What it seems we can count upon is the constant modification and refinement of the automobile with resultant demands for new materials and new factories to make them. It is a common error to assume that the present has achieved the apex of accomplishment.

What even minor changes in automobile specifications mean to industry is well illustrated by recent developments in glass manufacture. A little more than a year ago, the first cars equipped with the new type of laminated shatter proof glass were placed on the market. Now the new glass is standard in many cars in all the price ranges from Cadillac, through Chrysler to Ford. All of the big glass companies are swinging into production with new equipment.

Two Thin Sheets.

Ten years ago the closed car was a luxury. About six years ago it became a popular necessity. With that modification in automobile style, came an enormous increase in the demand for glass. It is estimated that the automobile factories took 65,000,000 square feet of old fashioned plate glass last year, three-fifths of the total production.

Laminated glass consists of two thin sheets instead of a single plate. The new glass instead of being cast is made by running a continuous ribbon of glass from a tank over the grinding and polishing tables. The continuous process saves enough in costs and handling charges to enable our factories to meet the competition of the Belgians despite the cheapness of labor there.

Dame Rumor Talks About Utility Holding Companies

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 1.—Rumors have persisted that important banking interests are planning to launch a number of holding companies on a large scale in public utility, oil, and industrial groups, so large, in fact, that many of the present holding companies and investment trusts will be quite eclipsed. This argument has been used quite extensively during the last few days in urging the purchase of high grade stocks at current levels.

Carries Many Passengers in 1928 Without One Death

Although over 60 million persons were transported by the Chicago and North Western railway during the last two years, not a single passenger fatality occurred, according to Fred W. Sargent, president. The system covers more than 10,000 miles.

THE BOND MARKET IN 1927 AND 1928 AS TOLD BY THE AVERAGE MONTHLY PRICES OF 40 BONDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 1.—A statement of the Bank of Italy Trust and Savings association, California, released today, shows total resources of more than $847,000,000 and represents the largest gains for a single year ever experienced in the history of that institution. The increase in resources exceeds $82,000,000, while the growth in deposits to $698,000,000 puts this figure more than fifty-three millions above that of a year ago. The number of depositors has grown to 1,456,000, establishing a new national record in bank patronage.

Investment in United States bonds is over $200,000,000, and this item, together with cash of $97,000,000, gives the institution a high ratio of liquidity. Stockholders of the bank have received $12,000,000 in regular dividends, two additional dividends of 50 cents per share, or $2,000,000, and have participated in the distribution of 50,000 shares of Bank of America stock, valued at $10,000,000. The combined return, on the basis of these dividends, is $24,000,000, or an average of $12 per share for the year on the 2,000,000 shares of stock outstanding.

Last Week of Year Notes Oil Production Increase

Tulsa, Okla., Jan. 1.—(AP)—An average daily increase in oil production for the United States of 38,708 barrels was reported today by the Oil and Gas Journal for the final week, ended Dec. 29, of the old year. There were relatively large increases in average production of light and heavy oils in virtually every area.

CHRYSLER SEES GOOD SIGNS ALONG THE 1929 BUSINESS, AUTO ROAD

New York, Jan. 1.—(AP)—The year 1929 should be one of unprecedented prosperity in the opinion of Walter P. Chrysler, president and chairman of the Chrysler corporation, who bases his belief on the theory that the present rate of prosperity is in thorough keeping with modern speed, to which he says the automobile has contributed mightily.

"Generally speaking," Mr. Chrysler said, "business is excellent and will be better in most lines. Manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers are not unduly over extended in credit. Industry is not suffering from the over production which has sometimes characterized it in the past. I can see nothing but good signs along the road of business in the present year.

"Our automobile industry will achieve another production and sales record. I believe the figure will be approximately 4,750,000 cars by the end of next December. I believe the United States and Canada will export approximately 1,000,000 automobiles, thus realizing an ambition that has dominated our manufacturers for some time."

WILL EMPLOY MORE WORKERS AT HAWTHORNE

Charles L. Rice, vice president of the Western Electric company, said yesterday that as the result of an expansion program the personnel at the company's Hawthorne's works here will average 30,500 men and women during 1929, an increase of 7,100 over the average number employed during 1928. This will make the Hawthorne plant the largest single manufacturing establishment in Illinois and will necessitate the annual pay roll of about $58,000,000.

South Shore Inaugurates Flat Two Hour Schedule

Wholesalers Take Forward Stride in 1928

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Several important developments affecting the wholesale trade in Chicago occurred during the year just ended. Most of these entailed physical expansion of some of the larger houses, while others less tangible were of no less importance in aiding Chicago as the great central market of the nation.

One of the changes regarded as particularly significant was the growing tendency on the part of everybody connected with the wholesale business to coöperate in an effort to build up the central market. A few of the things accomplished by this effort were: an exceptionally successful convention of the Interstate Merchants' council during which 3,500 buyers registered; the two days' market arranged in connection with the International Live Stock exposition, which brought an unprecedented number of buyers to the market during an off season period; the various style shows which helped to impress on the merchants the importance of Chicago as a style center and a quality market, and the formation of the Chicago Market association, whose purpose it is to improve and advertise the market.

Add to City's Prestige.

These developments, coupled with Chicago's growing importance as an air center and radio center of the nation, added prestige to the city's reputation as the nation's central market. The theaters, the civic opera, conventions, exhibits and various other attractions contributed to this prestige.

The establishment of the Furniture Mart has served as a pattern for other lines in the market to fashion after. During the year work was begun on the new Merchandise Mart at Kinzie and Wells streets and the Chicago river. This building, destined to be, at least until the projected Apparel Mart is completed, the world's largest building, will utilize the air rights above the Chicago and North Western railway.

What the Furniture Mart has done to make Chicago the center of the wholesale furniture business it is expected that the Merchandise Mart will do for the wholesale merchandise market.

Wholesale Firm Expands.

During the year Carson Pirie Scott & Co. expanded their wholesale building by 80,000 square feet. The firm's wholesale branch now occupies the entire block bounded by Monroe, Market, Adams streets, and the river with a total floor space of 1,000,000 square feet.

Recognizing the importance of Chicago's growing market, THE TRIBUNE during the year began printing a daily list of arriving buyers. It is aimed to help the buyer get in touch with the merchants who could fill his needs and bring the merchant and buyer in closer relationship. News stories telling of the latest developments in the wholesale market also became a regular feature of the business section.

Employe Owned Company Elects Ketcham President

New York, Jan. 1. — Frank A. Ketcham, who started in 1900 as a stock room apprentice, was elected president of the employé owned Graybar Electric company of New York at the first meeting of directors today. He succeeds Albert L. Salt, who was elected chairman of the board.

BANKS IN HUGE MERGER REPORT GOOD PROFITS

Net Earnings More than in 1927.

The Illinois Merchants Trust company and the Continental National bank, two Chicago institutions that will take steps shortly to conclude their billion dollar merger, both report increased profits for 1928 last night. When combined, the two banks will be known as the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company.

Net earnings of the Illinois Merchants for the year 1928 were $7,780,631.16 after providing $1,800,000 for taxes and after making ample provisions for losses, both known and anticipated. These earnings are equal to 51.87 per cent on the capital stock of $15,000,000 and are equal to 17 per cent on the average capital, surplus, and undivided profits of $45,775,490.

Compared with 1927.

This compares with net earnings in 1927 of $6,872,283.81, which equaled 45.82 per cent on the capital stock of $15,000,000 and 15.16 per cent on the average invested capital in 1927 of $45,326,982.

Out of the net earnings of $7,780,631.16 for the year 1928 the regular dividend of $20 per share, plus $4 per share extra, was paid, aggregating $3,600,000, and the balance, $4,180,631.16, was transferred to undivided profits and reserves.

"We are happy to report that 1928 was particularly profitable for our bank," asserted George M. Reynolds, chairman of the Continental National board. "Net earnings were even better than in the preceding year."

Funds Set Aside.

After setting aside $2,180,000 for taxes and providing for losses, net earnings for 1928 were $8,747,214.34, Mr. Reynolds said. These earnings are equivalent to 24.99 per cent on the caiptal stock of the bank, or 11.73 per cent on the total invested capital. Net earnings for 1927 were $7,452,265.67.

Dividends for the year amount to $5,600,000, leaving $3,147,214.34 to be carried forward to the undivided profits account.

WILL OPEN BANK FOR SOUTH SIDE IN I. C. RAILROAD STATION

Formal opening of the Illinois Central Bank and Trust company will take place on Saturday, Jan. 5. To serve the greatest number of Hyde Park people with maximum convenience the bank is located in the station of the Illinois Central railroad, at the corner of Fifty-third street and Lake Park avenue. Back of it is a firmly grounded belief in the future of this section and the determination to work with those who are making Hyde Park greater and more prosperous. It has capital, surplus, and reserves of $450,000.

Edward B. Carson, chairman of the board of directors, is president of the Calumet National Life Insurance company and of the Standard Industries corporation. Mr. Carson has been a resident of the south side for many years and is well and favorably known to a large number of its residents. Cecil A. Evans, who is president and a director of the new bank, is also president of the Bryn Mawr State bank on 71st street. Other officers of the bank are: Samuel J. Aurelius, vice president, cashier, and director, formerly an officer in the Calumet National bank, and George R. Du Bois, assistant cashier, formerly with the National Bank of the Republic of Chicago.

Estimate Railroad Bond Maturities at $353,000,000

Maturities of railroad bonds and notes during 1929 are estimated at more than $353,000,000, as compared with $292,000,000 in 1928 and $357,000,000 in 1927. Maturities of public utility bonds and notes are placed at $281,000,000, the largest in five years, against $208,000,000 in 1928 and $280,000,000 in 1927.

WALL ST. RESTS AND PONDERS ON MARKET COURSE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 1.—American markets being closed for holiday and business suspended, the financial community devoted today either to resting from its intensive year-end activities or to discussing the probable drift of events at the opening of the new year. Conjecture prophecy during the few past weeks had directed itself to a long range view of 1929, but interest just now will converge particularly on the course of the markets during the next few weeks.

January has rather usually presented a picture of slackened activity on the stock exchange as in general trade. A different result might seem to be logical on Wall street, at any rate, in view of the easing of money and the output of funds available for reinvestment which accompany the beginning of a year. The reason why that result frequently failed to happen is, no doubt, that the influence of the "January disbursements" is anticipated on the December security markets. It is possible that a great part of the bidding up of stocks during the fortnight past was purely in expectation of the movement of outside capital into the market after New Year's day, and that sometimes turns December's speculative buyers into sellers during January.

Arouses Curiosity.

Whether that is to be the result this month or not there will be much in the immediate course of the markets to pique curiosity. Money rates and

The new year opened with hogs and lambs selling above the first market day of 1928 and cattle below a year ago. Hog receipts dropped below all expectations at 28,000, and, with outsiders taking more than 35 per cent of arrivals, advances of 10@15c were general on shipping kinds. Best reached $9.25, highest since Nov. 19, against $8.90 the first market day of last year. General average price moved up 10c at $9.05. Only 5,000 were left at the close, with 42,000 estimated for today.

Despite the fact that top cattle are selling 50c@$1.00 below a year ago, with receipts yesterday totaling only 7,000, movement of stock was extremely slow. Quality was less desirable and best available stopped at $15.35, averaging 967 lbs, selling late in the day. Butcher stock held barely steady, yearling heifers showing some weakness. Calves sold firm.

Lambs Reach $16.00.

There was a scramble for yesterday's meager supply of fat lambs and prices advanced 15@25c further, fed westerns at $16.00 going back to July 10 for an equal. A year ago top lambs stopped at $13.50 and two years ago the top on the first market day of the year was down to $13.00. Receipts were unusually small for Tuesday, comparing with 21,562 a year ago and with 17,409 two years ago. Aged and yearling sheep were firm.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 11,000 cattle, 42,000 hogs, and 15,000 sheep, against 15,154 cattle, 26,778 hogs, and 13,647 sheep the previous Wednesday and 8,914 cattle, 22,267 hogs, and 15,309 sheep a year ago.

United Fruit.

N. I. O.—Lower passenger rates between New York and Havana, announced by United Fruit company to meet the rate war recently started, appear likely to affect its income to only a moderate extent.

The company has large interests in fruit, sugar, and other shipping routes.

For the nine months ended Sept. 29, 1928, it reported net income before taxes equivalent to $7.08 a share on its stock, as compared with $6.66 a share for the first nine months of 1927 and $6.60 a share for the same period of 1926.

In the third quarter of 1928 the company had a strikingly prosperous period.

In the face of a heavy domestic fruit crop earnings for that quarter advanced over those for 1927, the balance per share before taxes totaling $2.64 a share, against $2.24 a share for that period of 1927.

The company handled about 43,000,000 stems of bananas in the first nine months of this year, or about 5,000,000 more than in that period of last year.

Normally it handles considerably over half the American banana business.

Cash holdings after payment of the Oct. 1, 1928, dividend were approximately $35,000,000, as against $27,000,000 a year ago and $29,000,000 on Jan. 1, 1928.

Both profits and cash have been mounting and it is expected that 1928 will be shown to have been one of the company's best years.

Its good showing has been made, too, without the benefit of sugar, in which about one-third of its assets are invested.

This is a high grade stock.

Anaconda Copper's Increased Dividend.

M. R. S.—Better markets for copper are recognized in the increase of Anaconda Copper Mining company's dividend rate from $4 to $6.

This follows an advance from $3 with the August payment.

The company's income is being increased as a result of higher dividends by Chile Copper, Inspiration Consolidated Copper and Greene Cananea Copper and the inauguration of payments by Andes Copper Mining.

The stock rates fairly well.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 1.—The contraction of more than $300,000,000 in brokers' loans in the last three weeks, bringing the total down to its lowest point since the middle of November, has created much conjecture in the financial district as to the course which the figures will follow in the new year. The reduction has helped materially in correcting the speculative situation that has developed during the prolonged autumn advance in the stock market, and securities generally are held in much stronger hands now than was the case up to the first week of December. If speculation should be resumed on a heavy scale, with the general public participating, however, another upward trend in brokers' loans would be looked for. The loans increased $1,281,404,000 net last year, which was not considered by speculative Wall street disproportionately large, in view of the extraordinary volume of stock market trading.

For the quarter ended Nov. 30, 1928, the company reports net profits of $384,334, equal to 29c a share earned on the common stock. For the nine months ending Nov. 30, 1928, operating and miscellaneous income of $2,067,054.41, which after charges amounting to $46,579.71, leaves a gross profit of $2,020,000.70.

Starting the NEW YEAR successfully by consistent saving . . . and looking forward to the NEW BANK to be opened soon

The beginning of a new year is an incentive to those who save regularly to increase their efforts so that each year will show greater progress than the last. It is a reminder to those who have not saved, or whose saving has been intermittent, of what can be accomplished in a year by consistent saving.

To our customers the new year will also bring a connection with one of the world's foremost banking houses—CONTINENTAL ILLINOIS BANK AND TRUST COMPANY—soon to be formed by the consolidation of Illinois Merchants Trust Company and Continental National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago.

Customers will find this new bank a valuable asset to them. It will afford a prestige that will be useful, directly and indirectly. It will provide the utmost in savings bank service. The personnel of its Savings Department will comprise men of broad experience in banking and business and with sympathetic understanding of financial problems—men to whom depositors may confidently go for personal counsel.

In the new bank, customers will be served by the same officers with whom they are now transacting their business and to whom they look for guidance in financial affairs.

Savings will draw interest from January first if deposited on or before Tuesday the fifteenth.

The Trend of Prices

The recovery of the market—nearly 75% from the low prices of the recent break—raises the question of whether a "new bull market" is ahead. Is this the time to buy stocks? What policy will be most effective during the early months of 1929?

Our current bulletin analyzes the present situation. It presents a new investment ratio, which is designed to take advantage of conditions as they now exist.

A general discussion of the securities outlook is given, together with comments on the following companies:

American Steel Foundries
General Railway Signal
Humble Oil
Standard Oil of California
Texas Corporation
Texas Gulf Sulphur
Canada Dry Ginger Ale
Goodrich
Air Reduction
Postum
International Harvester
Firestone Tire & Rubber

WALL ST. RESTS AND PONDERS ON MARKET COURSE

Wonders What This Month Offers.

sterling will be particularly watched; the action of each may be significant. That money rates will fall in Wall street is a matter of course; the question remains, however, how long the decline will last and how far it will go.

The situation is peculiar, because both the very large recent lendings in New York by the foreign money markets and the abnormally heavy "brokers' loans" by corporations were admittedly attracted by the extremely high interest rates. To what extent they would be recalled in a rapid reduction of those rates and how such withdrawal would affect the money market's position is one of the doubtful questions. It is involved, as are most other immediate considerations with the course of events on the stock exchange.

Ordinarily the January reaction in money rates and the consequent recall of foreign money bring a decided rise in sterling. Not unfrequently, that recovery has gone so far at the opening of a year as to start a substantial outflow of gold from New York to Europe. This has not been the invariable sequence; we have had several recent years in which large autumn gold imports by America from Europe, suspended temporarily in December, have been resumed in quantity after the turn of the year. On the present occasion European markets seem to be themselves in doubt as to which way events will move.

Only Certain Fact.

The only certain fact is that Europe's presence balances in our market are extremely large, including, as they do, not only the new loans in the Wall street market but a standing credit, running into the hundreds of millions chiefly for French account. Wall street's abnormally high money has been the inducement for leaving here the one account; the other is subject either to actual recall or to use in "ear-marking" gold for European account at the federal reserve.

It is a somewhat complicated picture, and no one is yet predicting the outcome confidently. It is even possible that the year may begin with a period of hesitancy, of cautious readjustment, and of obscurity in the general drift of markets. That is not Wall street's own present expectation, however, and even supposing events to move that way in the next few weeks, another and an important test of the situation would be in order, say at the end of February or in March.

POINTS TO GAINS IN EFFICIENCY OF U. S. RAILWAYS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 1.—[U. P.]—Railroad performance in 1928 reached the peak in operating efficiency and economy, R. H. Aishton, president of the American Railway association, announced today.

Outstanding operating records established this year were:

1. Fewer trains and locomotives in proportion to the amount of traffic.
2. The average load per train was 2.6 per cent greater than in 1927.
3. The distance traveled each day per frieght train averaged more than 507 miles, an increase of 20 per cent over 1923.
4. The number of tons of freight moved one mile by a train per hour was greater than ever before.
5. Freight traffic was handled with the greatest fuel conservation ever reported.

Preliminary reports show that class 1 railroads returned 4.65 per cent on their property investment in 1928 as compared to 4.28 per cent in 1927, Aishton said.

Passenger traffic was less in 1928 than for any year since 1908. It decreased 32.8 per cent under the record year of 1920.

Freight traffic was less than 1927 and considerably under 1926.

It's Easy to Produce but Selling Is Harder Problem

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 1.—There certainly is little question as to the ability of America to speed up production, but the task of increasing sales looms much harder. It is predicted that 1929 will see American concerns embarking on intensive foreign sales campaigns, the like of which has never been witnessed before in England and continental Europe. A considerable percentage of British shipping is said to be idle through lack of trade. The recent move to the shipping board to checkmate the entry of a British steamship line into the New York-Havana trade, is regarded in many quarters in Wall street of typical determination with which American interests are going after foreign trade in 1929.

TO THE STOCKHOLDERS OF ILLINOIS MERCHANTS TRUST COMPANY AND TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN

Finds Basic Industries in Healthy State

BY FREDERICK H. RAWSON.

[Chairman, Union Trust Company.]

The year of 1928, after getting away to a bad start, gradually improved and the last quarter was one of marked activity both in production and distribution so that all in all we have every reason to be satisfied with results for the year.

We look forward to 1929 with every confidence and belief that we may expect a continuation of good business. The reasons which contribute to this spirit of optimism are the following:

The political situation. Mr. Hoover's election spells a continuation of the same policies and high ideals so ably defined and practiced by President Coolidge.

The great basic industries, such as steel, automobiles and building are keeping up in a highly satisfactory degree. There has never been a period of depression so far as I can remember during periods of building activity.

Labor is well employed at high wages, which in turn are being used to augment savings accounts, the purchase of homes and better living conditions in general, all of which means a high purchasing power.

There is a much better feeling throughout the agricultural section. The farmers are showing increasing intelligence in the rotation of their crops and in cheaper production by utilizing, to a greater extent, modern farming machinery; and it is to be hoped under President Hoover's wise administration the condition of this very important class of people will be still further stabilized and improved.

Overland's 1928 Output of Cars Now Exceeds 315,000

New York, Jan. 1.—[Special.]—December shipments of motor cars by the Willys-Overland company will exceed 15,000 units, bringing total production for the year to more than 315,000 cars. The company will enter the New Year with plants turning out automobiles at the rate of 1,000 a day, according to statements made today by John N. Willys, president. Production for the first six months of 1929 is expected to reach 300,000 cars, as against the previous high production record for a similar period of 200,000, reached in the first half of 1928. More than 35,000 cars are to be built in January and this output will be gradually increased, Mr. Willys said.

THE BUFFER

By ALICE HEGAN RICE

SYNOPSIS.

Hickory Hill has been the homestead of the Freers for generations. Cynthia Freer, chained to it by family obligations and a promise to her mother never to leave her, strains at her bonds and longs to be free of the place and all it entails.

Cynthia's mother returns to Hickory Hill after a day's absence in the city. She inquires anxiously of her daughter whether or not her son, Barney, is at home. Cynthia replies that he hasn't come in yet.

INSTALLMENT III.

THE APOLLO BELVEDERE.

To be sure, Barney's friends were amusing enough and Ethel's vapid little beaux needed only a smile from Ethel's big sister to make them her victims, but, since her affair with Ted Faulkner, Cynthia had declared herself "off men forever." And in order to strengthen this decision she lent a ready ear to a still small voice within her that whispered disconcertingly ironic comments upon mankind in general.

"Cynthia," said her mother, recalling her wandering thoughts, "I've saved the most exciting thing I have to tell you till the last!"

"No, it was the same one."

"You don't mean the Apollo Belvedere?"

Instantly Dorothy Freer's banners were flying. The ghost of a dimple haunted her cheek and her eyes brightened.

"Cynthia," she said, "what will you say when you hear that I have been to a movie with him?"

"A movie? Dolly Freer, are you crazy? Why, you hardly know the man's name!"

"It's Mr. Benson—Curtis Benson. Don't you love it? He's a clergyman, so, of course, he must be all right."

"Not necessarily. Is he married?"

"I don't think so. He has the most stunning figure, and I wish you could see his smile."

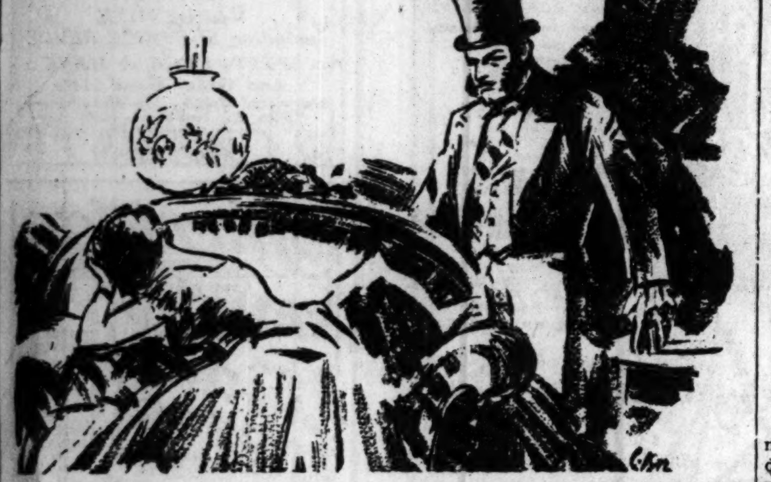
"He won't see mine if he's up to any mischief. He probably thinks you are about thirty. He'd fade away if he saw Barney and Fred and Ethel and me."

"Well, I'm just crazy to show you to him!" declared Mrs. Freer, bridling. "Even if he is married and has a dozen children, they can't be as nice as mine!"

"Motherkin, you are a scream!" said Cynthia. "Go on, tell me all about it."

"You see," she was saying, "it was the fourth time we had gone in on the train together. That first day, as I told you, he got on at Fulton. I suppose he must have seen how I admired him. Honestly, Cynthia—you needn't laugh—he really is the handsomest man you ever laid your two eyes on. When I asked him to put the window up for me his smile was simply marvelous. He has the whitest teeth—they simply flash at you when he smiles."

"Sounds like a dentifrice ad," said Cynthia. "But go on. What did he do after he flashed his teeth at you?"



She had been all but married to the handsome gentleman with sideburns.

"Why, he talked all the way into town. He's from South Carolina, too, and I know some of his mother's people."

"How romantic!" said Cynthia. "What is he doing here?"

"That's the interesting part of it! He's the man that's to be tried out at St. Timothy's. Did you ever know such a coincidence? He's boarding out at Fulton for the summer, just looking over the ground, you know, and he doesn't know a soul. I'm dying to ask him to call. Only, Miss Lizzie would think it positively immoral for me to have a man call on me."

"She can think he's coming to make a pastoral visit. But you haven't explained yet about the movie."

"Well, just as we were getting to town he asked me where he could get a comfortable, quiet dinner. I told him about the Exchange, and after I got through the interview with your Uncle Herbert and Julius it was too late for the 6:30 o'clock train, so I went over to the Exchange. Who should be there at a table alone but Mr. Benson! He simply beamed when he saw me and begged me to join him. It would have been too silly to refuse, so we had our dinner together. Then he said in the sweetest, most tactful way, 'I wonder if you are as kind-hearted as you are charming, Mrs. Freer?' I said I hoped more so. Then he said he was lonely and a bit homesick and that I would be doing a Christian act if I'd stay in town and go to a movie with him."

"I hope you paid for your dinner," said Cynthia.

"I tried to, but he wouldn't let me. Cynthia, do you think I've been very awful?"

"Of course not. There's nothing in the ten commandments about letting a man flash his teeth at you. I am glad you've had a good time. But you'd better run along to bed. It's nearly one."

"But I won't get to sleep till Barney gets in, anyhow."

"I wish you'd give him a latchkey, mother. He doesn't get in a minute sooner by us waiting up for him."

"Yes, but I know when he's in."

"You mean you know when he's not in. But never mind, go on to bed. I'll stay up till the two o'clock car. If he isn't on that, he won't be here."

"I am dead tired," admitted Mrs. Freer. "But you won't be cross with him when he comes, will you? Remember, the child is on the road all week and only has Saturday and Sunday at home. Do be gentle with him. He's so sensitive."

"He's a selfish pig," said Cynthia, but smiled indulgently as she said it.

Turning out the lights, Cynthia once more took her seat in the window and breathed in the warm richness of the night. There was a certain luxurious joy in the play of the wind on her bare throat and arms.

But before long the worries and perplexities that had assailed her earlier in the evening began to return and presently they were swarming about her like a horde of hungry insects. After all, what had her three years of sacrifice amounted to? Things had gotten worse instead of better. The more she assumed responsibilities the more others shirked them. How much more she could do for them all if they would only set her free to live her own life in her own way! If she could only get away from them all, with regular hours for work, she could soon be sending checks back to meet the household expenses instead of being the domestic drudge she now was. She longed passionately to get out into the world, into touch with the big things of life, where she could meet interesting people, interesting men.

What right had Barney, a spoiled, headstrong, selfish boy, to keep his mother and sister in a state of perpetual anxiety and worry? If he was bent on going to destruction, why couldn't he go without dragging them with him?

From the valley below came the sound of an approaching train. She sat tense, hoping against hope that it would slow down for the station. It was not going to stop. Yes, it was. It had stopped! A moment later she heard her collie, Meph, scurrying off the front porch, where he had been napping, and go tearing down the hill path. Then she heard a cheerful whistle in the darkness and knew that it was Barney and that he was all right.

Mrs. Freer was right when she predicted that Miss Lizzie would stand by in time of trouble. When one of the clan was in danger Miss Lizzie was always the first to mount the war horse and lead the rescue party. Among the many complexes from which she suffered, the family complex was now the most acute, though even that could be traced to a tragic love affair of the long ago.

She had been all but married to the handsome gentleman with sideburns in the wide trousers and turn-down collar whose faded photograph still reposed nightly under her pillow. The trousseau had been bought, the invitations were out, the wedding cakes were baked, when the groom elect inconsiderately changed his mind.

Miss Lizzie promptly succumbed to what she called the will of God and, being determined that her body should show what her outraged feelings suffered, manufactured a physical disability that kept her in her room for over a quarter of a century. Every nervous symptom was a form of compensation, but, while she enjoyed the care and attention to which invalidism entitled her, she also demanded an outlet for her energies. The handling of Grandfather Freer's estate provided this outlet. When she was not enjoying a nervous collapse she was likely to be dictating long letters to Cynthia or having her meticulously copy interminable columns of figures from one ledger to another.

Miss Lizzie had evidently been created to inhabit a different planet from the one she occupied. She never ate what other people ate, she could not stand the noises to which ordinary ears are attuned. Crowing roosters and ticking clocks were her abominations.

Hickory Hill had run down and down until it had gotten discouraged and stopped altogether. The once prosperous farm was now a neglected waste. The old house sagged and creaked under its hand hewn shingles. It was a decrepit old house that hunched one shoulder.

The first premonition of change had come when Cynthia returned from college and asked for the small room off the upstairs back porch for a den. Miss Lizzie had never heard of a young lady having a den. A den was the peculiar property of lions and smoke addicted men. The room, to be sure, was only used for storage, but then it had always been used for storage.

Cynthia persisted until she carried her point.

Good Morning!

Little Colleen's latest vehicle is, more or less, a farcical affair and doesn't do a great deal for her, to my way of thinking. May the new year be kind to this small lady and bring her more yarns like "Happiness Ahead"!

The story of "Synthetic Sin" is tres [French] ridiculous unless you regard it as farce pure and simple. It is about a callow maiden who believes she is a Bernhardt, persuades a playwright—who falls in love with her—to give her the leading rôle in his heavy problem play yclept "Waverly's Woman"—and fails ignominiously.

"It's pretty tough on an innocent kid like you to try to play a woman of experience," consoles the blonde villainess of the piece.

So Colleen, accompanied by her dear old southern Mammy, descends on New York's underworld to acquire experience. She emerges unscathed, but ready and willing to forsake the stage and all its works for the old fashioned job of wife and mother.

Miss Moore does the best she can with her improbable rôle. Antonio Moreno, looking rather like a figure in a clothier's window, acts as the figure might if brought to life and endowed with fair intelligence. Gertrude Astor, Montagu Love, Gertrude Howard, and Edythe Chapman give the most realistic performances.

"Synthetic Sin" has been well staged and protographed, and the direction is adequate to the story.

THE CAST.

Sally	Sally O'Neill
Producer	Roland Drew
Lila Le Roy	Corliss Palmer

Here's a light, bright little offering. All about the little-girl-who-wanted-to-be-an-actress-but-couldn't-get-a-job-and-then-the-Great-Big-Producer-up-and-married-her-and-They-Lived-Happily-Ever-After.

Not much of a story, that one, but it wins and holds your interest because of the people who act it.

Sally O'Neill, Irish and cozening, bats her eyes and you fall for her hard and at once. Roland Drew as the producer does natural things in a natural way and is mighty easy to look at. Others in the cast are satisfactory and the Happy-Cinderella ending sends you away from the theater pleased if not credulous.

See you soon.

Corn Beef Hash Breakfast Climax to Dance for Deb.

New York, Jan. 1.—[Special.]—Corn beef hash at a debutante fête! Society was put on a corn beef diet at the dance which Mrs. Richard Edwards Breed of Park avenue gave at the Ritz Carlton tonight for her deb daughter, Jane Porter Breed.

It was another one of those dances which circled the clock—beginning with dinner, progressing through supper, and ending up with a corn beef breakfast.

As a sop to esthetic guests Mrs. Breed offset the corn beef breakfast by transforming the ballroom into a blossoming cherry orchard.

Among the guests at Jane's debut were Count and Countess Alfredo Jannin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Graham, the young Guernsey Currans, and the Eugene E. Du Ponts of Wilmington, Del.

Rain Delays Mummers' Famed Philadelphia Parade

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 1.—(AP)—The annual Mummers' parade, Philadelphia's gorgeous New Year's spectacle, was postponed today, because of rain, until noon Saturday. H. Bart McHugh, director of the pageant, said the costumes of some of the captains weighed 150 pounds when dry and that it would have been impossible to carry them when soaked with rain. Prizes aggregating more than $25,000 are to be awarded.

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your questions to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Stanley Frandsen, 6203 North Artesian avenue, was awarded $5.

The Question.

What do you consider the outstanding events of 1928?

The Answers.

C. P. Christensen, 122 South Michigan avenue, supervisor of insurance—The Bremen flight was one of the most important. The passing of the Boulder dam act was a big thing for our country, though it took nine years to get it through. Amelia Earhart's flight, and Wilkin's north pole trip were achievements of distinction.

Mrs. T. N. Scofield, 440 North Albany avenue, demonstrator—Hoover's election. I believe he will make a good President. He was not my choice because I do not believe in prohibition. We might place Miss Earhart's flight across the Atlantic as something we can credit to the women's side of the house.

C. D. Sill, 7446 South Park avenue, telegrapher—The election of Herbert Hoover. The election of a President is one of the important events that regularly can occur in this country. The wonderful strides made in commercial and passenger aviation and the phenomenal development of the talking movies are important items.

Miss Edna Herron, 127 North Dearborn street, public stenographer—The election of Herbert Hoover, unquestionably. It is not improper to give the women of the country much credit for the election of Mr. Hoover. Prohibition, that was the reason. I am a Democrat, but I helped elect him.

Mose Silver, 5614 Ellis avenue, clerk—Prosperity, plenty of work, high wages. Perhaps you wouldn't call these events, but if we had had hard times and were out of work and broke and everything had gone to the bad, then it would be worse than any ordinary, untoward event. We elected Hoover this year. Prosperity will continue.

J. E. Baum Awaits Skin of Lion That Menaced Him

James E. Baum of Lake Forest is awaiting the arrival of a lion skin as a memento of an adventure on the Rahad river, in the eastern Sudan, near the border of Abyssinia, when at the risk of his life he killed a lion. The killing was done about Thanksgiving, and perhaps he will tell about it in a book which soon will be published.

Mr. Baum had finished a trip of about 2,000 miles in Abyssinia, working both north and south from its capital, Addis Ababa, and had returned to Chicago without a lion. He then made another trip to Africa and met in the Sudan the lion that later became his. As the Field museum is well supplied with lions, probably Mr. Baum will use the skin at his home in Lake Forest, which he recently bought from Cyrus McCormick Jr. Mr. Baum has been active for several years as a traveler and writer.

LITA GRAY CHAPLIN, who was good front-page copy for a time through the circumstance that Charles Chaplin was her husband, is billed as next week's headliner in the Palace. A bulletin from that establishment implies that the lady sings. . . . And Miss Adela Verne, an English pianist who gets along nicely with our two-a-day audiences, also is to be in the bill.

Miss Helen Morgan, whose contributions to the performances of "Show-Boat" are held by many who have seen the diversion to be among the potent reasons for its long New-York popularity, is taking part with Eddie Cantor and Paul Whiteman in the Midnight Frolics, which Mr. Ziegfeld has after eight years restored to the roof of the New-Amsterdam Theater down there.

Miss Phyllis Povah, not in Chicago since "Minick"; John T. Doyle, here as the doctor in "The Baby Cyclone"; and Harold Healy, who was so good as the baseball manager in "Elmer the Great," are in "Vermont," the play by A. E. Thomas which George M. Cohan will make known Monday next in New-York.

Robert Kelly, not easily to be forgotten as the Reverend Davidson in Miss Eagels' performances of "Rain"; Miss Mary Servoss, who was Portia when David Warfield acted Shylock; Miss Beulah Bondi, immense as the mean lodgings-keeper in "Saturday's Children"; and Edward Pawley, who had the title-rôle in the short-lived experiment with a dramatization of "Elmer the Great," are to be in "Street-Scene," one of next week's listed novelties in New-York. The play is by Elmer Rice, who hasn't been "acted" in Chicago since, in 1915, "On Trial" was shown in the Grand Opera-House.

Another new show for next week in New-York is called "Deep Harlem," and is a Negro song-and-dance piece.

Sir: I wonder that you made no comment at the time of the recent death of E. J. Connelly. It is true that his latter years were spent in the films; but he was an actor of some consequence in other years, and is remembered easily by older theater-goers by reason of some notable characterizations. I do not believe you are old enough to have seen him in an old-time farce, with songs, called "A Soap-Bubble," written by the late Montgomery Phister, a dramatic critic of Cincinnati. Mr. Connelly was later a member of Weber and Fields' famous troupe. My brother tells me that he saw him act the famous rôle of Jack Rance in "The Girl of the Golden West" in New-York when that play was new; but my recollection is that the part was acted by Frank Keenan.

Eleanor G. Hayes.

Chicago: December 30, 1928.

E. J. Connelly was a well-known actor of the stage before he went into films. He was not with Weber and Fields; but he was with Mr. Weber after the separation from Mr. Fields, and in that employment took part with Miss Marie Dressler in a burlesque of "The Girl of the Golden West" put on while the original was running in New-York.

Miss Ingeborg Torrup, a dancer from Denmark, is the Roxane of Walter Hampden's current New-York revival of "Cyrano de Bergerac"; and it is recalled that Roxane was Miss Margaret Anglin's first important rôle, and that the great Bernhardt acted it here, to Coquelin's Cyrano, in 1901.

The tradition of George Arliss as Disraeli persists: the character is to be his first when, later in the year, he goes in for the sound-movies. And the play of "Disraeli," in which Mr. Arliss acted through five seasons, was regarded by experts as worth something less than four dollars in cash at the end of its first week in Chicago, early in 1911.

Town Dickens Made Famous Clings to Fame

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 1.—The little village of Blundeston, on the east coast of England, which Charles Dickens immortalized under the name of Blunderstone as the boyhood home of David Copperfield, has started a campaign to raise the necessary funds for the preservation of the town's ancient monuments as a memorial to the great author who wrote about them.

The old church, with its round Norman tower, is the pride of the town, and in "David Copperfield" David and Peggotty are named as members of the congregation, and Dickens tells how his hero gazed at the church and the graveyard from his little room at the Rookery, which now is the parsonage.

Adjoining the church is the village school, founded two hundred years ago. This is included in the memorial scheme which provides for the restoration of both church and school, the latter to continue its work of instruction, an appropriate memorial to an author so much loved by children.

For the completion of the work $25,000 is being raised by private subscription by a committee of which the Rev. C. Willoughby Bean of Blundeston parsonage, Lowestoft, Suffolk, is the secretary. A large number of prominent persons have indorsed the purpose of this fund, included among them being the American ambassador to England, Mr. Alanson B. Houghton.

Among prominent English persons who have joined in this appeal are the duke of Grafton, Viscount Ullswater, the bishop of Norwich, Lord Huntingfield, and the lord mayor and lady mayoress of London.

Evangeline Booth Fails to See Salvation Army's Ailing Chief

LONDON, Jan. 1.—(AP)—Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation Army in the United States, today received a letter from Mrs. William Bramwell Booth saying it would be impossible for the American leader to see the sick commander-in-chief of the army for the present, because it was feared he could not stand the excitement. Mrs. Booth expressed regret at having to deny her sister-in-law's request.

An official of Miss Booth's party also told the Associated Press that Commissioner Catherine Booth, daughter of the general, left the army's international headquarters last evening without attempting to see her aunt, although both were in the building at the time. It was stated that Commander Eva sent a note to her niece asking to see her, but the latter replied that it was impossible for her to do so at the moment. Later she departed without further communication.

This same official said his chief could not obtain any definite information respecting the real condition of Gen. Bramwell Booth at the international headquarters. He said the staff there seemed as much in the dark concerning the health of their commander-in-chief as was Miss Booth.

John D. Jr., Wife, Youngest Son Plan Egyptian Trip

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 1.—John D. Rockefeller Jr., Mrs. Rockefeller and their youngest son, David, are sailing from New York in a few days to spend a month's holiday in Egypt, it was learned today.

It is Mr. Rockefeller's intention to take a rest and to make a voyage up the Nile. The journey is purely for recreation and to take the opportunity of seeing the country of the Pharaohs during the season when it is most attractive to visitors.

Mr. Rockefeller's pleasure trip, which is described as purely informal, nevertheless brought to mind his offer of $10,000,000 to King Fuad and the people of Egypt in 1928 for the purpose of building and maintaining a museum of Egyptology in Cairo which would be "the finest museum building in the world," and a vital institution for carrying out investigations leading to the fuller knowledge of the history of civilization.

Noted Hairdresser Gives Valuable Tips About Dyes

by Antoinette Donnelly

Hair dyeing is one of the livest features of the present-day huge beauty industry. And the conscientious operators are trying to raise it to the standard that so important a thing to a patron deserves.

What soothes a woman's soul so well as a good job and a becoming one? And what is more discouraging than a poor piece of dye workmanship?

Nicholas, Fifth avenue hairdresser, talking to brothers and sisters in the business, in one of the current trade publications, offers a few points which potential clients of home or professional work might well absorb, too.

"Of prime importance," he says, "I believe, is the requirement the hairdresser should make a careful study to ascertain the proper dye for the patron's complexion. We have all seen heads beautifully dyed from the standpoint of workmanship, but something wasn't quite right and we discovered that the dyed head was not in harmony with the patron's skin. Just as much care should be taken on this particular point as is done today in the matter of individual hair cuts and styles."

Before beginning to dye a patron's hair, Nicholas studies the complexion carefully. Then he suggests, for instance, a dye in a sandy tone for a dull complexion. A clear, dark skin, our authority finds, responds becomingly to either a dark or light dyed head. A dark skin that is not particularly clear cannot stand as intense a dark or light shade; a more neutral tone is advisable. For the fair complexion, a sandy or blonde color is generally most effective. For the older woman, he thinks shades of ash blonde and neutral brown are the most becoming because they are soft and quiet in tones.

To support my oft-expressed conviction that it is better not to dye at all than not to afford the most skilled hairdresser, a point given considerable attention by the expert is the subject of hair texture. Fine hair takes dye much quicker, medium more time, and coarse hair a much longer time.

The amount of gray hair mixed with the natural shade has to be considered in the amount of dye preparation used. Whether the hair is dry, oily, whether it has been dyed before, and how, are features of importance, too, and all of this is knowledge ordinarily denied the layman through lack of experience.

Best Time to Curb a Jealous Tendency Is in Early Youth

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"All human beings have the germ of jealousy in their make up. In some it lies dormant; in others it takes on monstrous development."

So says Joseph Collins in "The Doctor Looks at Love and Life" [Doran].

Like everything else of which we are constituted, Dr. Collins claims jealousy to be an inheritance and an acquisition. And if you may disagree on the laws of heredity, at least the doctor insists that no one denies that jealousy is a heritage from our remotest ancestors and from barbarism.

"It originated," it is explained, "at a period in the development of the human species when possesison depended upon might, and retention upon contrivance and violence."

In women, jealousy is less brutal and devastating than in men, Dr. Collins concedes. But what it lacks in brutality, feminine jealousy compensates for in keenness of instinct, penetration, in greater insidiousness and less amenability to reason. Those of artistic make up, according to our authority, are its easiest victims, its growth depending upon the emotionability of the human.

Its manifestations are diverse. It may be brutal or meek. When it is brutal it is caused by distrust of the beloved person; when meek it finds its origin in mistrust of oneself, of one's charms and capacity to retain affection. The latter "is the more painful, since it crushes the individual and denies him the glamor and luster achieved by the one who can externalize his passions."

Though jealousy is defined as part of the ego urge, and therefore difficult to eradicate, Dr. Collins believes that catching it young and treating it to the same forceful training that is given the principles of veracity, chastity, temperance and self-control, will serve as a preventive of future outbreaks and misery.

"We try," says the doctor, "to infuse into our children sentiments of altruism, of courage, of generosity, but we do little or nothing toward reaching our youths that jealousy is more likely to cause misery to themselves and others than almost any other component of their emotional makeup."

Priest Seeks Traces of Life Going Back for 12 Million Years

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 1.—[U. P.]—Hoping to find in the ancient stone outcroppings in northwestern New Mexico the skeleton of a doglike beast that roamed America 12,000,000 years ago, the Rev. T. E. Reynolds, St. Louis Jesuit priest, has left on a one-man searching expedition.

Father McReynolds is a member of the St. Louis university staff, and has been studying the science of prehistoric animal life at the University of California. He plans to spend six weeks in the lonely New Mexico "badlands," sleeping in the open and subsisting on such meat as he can kill with his rifle.

Lost Her Temper.

The most embarrassing moment of my life came to me while teaching in a small town. I had to reprimand a lad and did it with too much zeal, as I see now. Having finished my reproof to the boy a neighbor's parrot screeched: "My! You did well! Do that again!"

This seemed like a personal rebuke to me. To hide my embarrassment from the children I turned toward my desk only to see the superintendent standing in the open door. Although he said nothing about the affair then or later, yet the confusion taught me a wholesome lesson. Forever after I kept my temper under control in the classroom.

The Car Balked.

I had been driving an old horse that needed a lot of coaxing. One day I bought an old machine for $5. Soon after I was out on the road in the car when it stopped. If I had known what to do I suppose it would have helped me.

Soon a crowd gathered. Suggestions and jeers aplenty, but they couldn't make the car go. I suppose in my excitement I thought the old horse had balked, for suddenly I yelled, "Geddap!"

Josephine Munroe and Herbert Lloyd to Wed at St. Chrysostom's

BY THALIA ——.

The wedding of Miss Josephine Munroe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Munroe, to Herbert Lloyd of New York City, to take place at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at St. Chrysostom's church, is anticipated as perhaps the most elaborate of the winter nuptials. The bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan, are giving a buffet luncheon at their residence at 1150 Lake Shore drive before the ceremony for the 150 guests who are to arrive this morning by special train from the east.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Thomas Crimmins of New York City, and his two half-sisters, Miss Theodora and Miss Sheila Crimmins, reached Chicago yesterday. Mr. Crimmins was prevented by flu from coming. This morning's arrivals include Mrs. Francis G. Lloyd, the groom's grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Earle of New York and Old Westbury, L. I., Mr. and Mrs. Philip Gossler, Miss Constance Fox, Littleton Fox Jr., Miss Barbara Van Rensselaer, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Pond, Mr. and Mrs. William Herbert, all of New York City, and a number of friends and relatives from Boston. They are to return east on a special train, departing this evening.

Miss Rhea Munroe is to be her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids include Miss Dora Legg, Miss Cynthia Quinby, Miss Theodora Crimmins, and Mrs. Samuel Winslow of New York; Miss Marjorie Wright of Cincinnati, O.; Miss Loraine Liggett of Boston, Mass.; Miss Glee Louise Viles, Miss Mary Barnes, Miss Eleanor Denehy, and Mrs. Press Hodgkins. Miss Sheila Crimmins and Josephine and Dora Logan are to be flower girls.

Owen Winston of New York will be best man for Mr. Lloyd and the ushers include Francis and John Winston, John Lewis, Francis Kinnicut, Marcus Bell, Gardner Cox, Lawrence Pritchard, and Frederick Childs, all of New York City, and Charles Mason and Henry Richard of Boston. The Rev. William G. Thayer, head of St. Mark's school, is to read the service, which will be followed by a reception at the Munroe residence at 1234 Lake Shore drive.

For her presentation tea yesterday afternoon, Miss Harriet Leonard, daughter of John R. Leonard of Winnetka, wore a period gown of jade green taffeta, purple slippers and a shoulder bouquet of purple orchids. Her sister, Mrs. Hibbard Casselberry, wore gold lace with Alsatian embroidery and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Three other New Year's day debutantes, Miss Louise Badgerow, daughter of the H. G. Badgerows of Winnetka, and Miss Helen and Miss Marjorie Boericke, daughters of the Adolphe S. Boerickes of 524 Melrose street, made their bows to society at teas given by their parents at their residences.

Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin and Miss Mildred Fitzhugh, the proprietors of "Orphans of the Storm," refuge for homeless dogs, are feeling just pride in one of their protégés, who recently acquitted himself in a manner apparently indicative of his appreciation of their kind auspices. The pup, his breed and pedigree are not essential to the tale, was "placed," as they say of orphans, with a family in Highland Park. On the first night of the new boarder's residence, he surprised a night prowler in the act of making way with some of the valuables of his just acquired home, whereupon he yelped, howled, and then set in to the business of clinging doggedly [couldn't help that pun] to an inconvenient part of the marauder's clothing and contiguous anatomy until officers of the law made their appearance on the scene.

The Arts club is having an unusual exhibition, openings with a tea on Friday, of paintings representative of the best of the modern school, and loaned for the occasion by Chicagoans who own them. Assisting to receive will be: Mrs. Martin Ryerson, Mrs. Lewis Coburn, Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Miss Genevieve Carpenter, who is here from the east for a visit, Mrs. Carter Harrison, Miss Katherine Dudley, Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mrs. R. R. McCormick, Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick, Mrs. John H. Winterbotham, Mrs. C. J. Bulliet, Mrs. Augustus S. Peabody, Mrs. Charles Worcester, Mrs. Tennessee Anderson, Mrs. Arnold Horween, and Mrs. Russell Matthias, all of whom are lending paintings. Robert H. Allerton, and Frederic Bartlett, who adorned the galleries of the Arts club for their lovely debutante party the other evening with their own moderns, are lending some of their choice examples, as also are Arthur Aldis, John H. Winterbotham, Joseph Winterbotham, and Samuel Marx.

This collection will include work of Picasso, Marie Laurencins, Sarvage, Cezanne, Ozenfant, Severine, Chirico, Truna, Van Gogh, Archipenko, Segonzac, Lautrec, and Derain.

Mrs. Francis R. Dickinson is to speak at the alumnæ luncheon of the Chicago Latin School for Girls tomorrow at the Ambassador hotel on plans for the future carrying on of the work of Miss Mabel Vickery, who is completing her last year as principal of the school. Mrs. Edward H. Lee, a member of the board of directors of Eli Bates settlement, is also to speak. Miss Josephine Wilkins is in charge of reservations for the luncheon.

Miss Beatrice Ripley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Ripley of Winnetka, who is here from Vassar college, is being unusually active in school activities this year. She is vice president of the senior class, director of the mandolin orchestra, for which she has transposed several compositions, and is a member of the varsity hockey team. Her brothers, Hampton, who attends Duke university, and Wilder, who is at the Asheville School for Boys, also are here on vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, 1244 North State street, gave their usual New Year's day luncheon and reception yesterday between the hours of 1 and 5. Hundreds of their friends dropped in for the party.

Milwaukee's 1929 Budget Is Set at 31 Millions

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 1.—[Special.]—The cost of administering the affairs and paying the bills of the city of Milwaukee next year will be $31,000,000, according to the budget adopted by the common council. By a vote of 17 to 8, the council approved an appropriation of $5,000 for the purchase and maintenance of four horses, thereby establishing the city's first squad of mounted police.

Complain Romance Finds Its Way to London Medic Schools

LONDON, Jan. 1. — Women are being barred from men's medical schools because they attend them to seek husbands, not for medical training.

This is the opinion of the wife of a senior surgeon of a London hospital school who is also the mother of a doctor, joining the storm of comment aroused by the announcement that after this year women medical students will no longer be admitted to the men's schools.

She suggests that if the enrollment lists of the Royal Free hospital, where women only receive medical training, were examined it would be found that there was a considerable decrease in the number of students from the time when the general schools were opened to women.

The dean of one school which has tried teaching mixed classes is reported as saying: "My school is just a matrimonial agency."

There are numerous cases of men who marry women medical students as a result of meeting them in class rooms, and both later practice medicine.

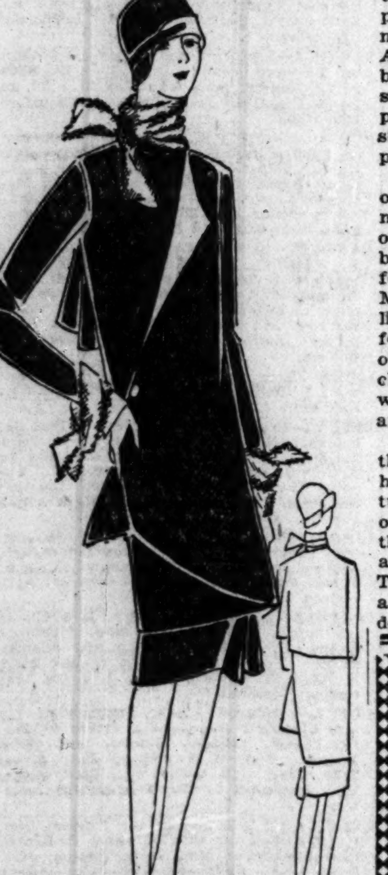
Henry Crew of N. U. Again Leads U. S. Professors

New York, Jan. 1.—(AP)—Prof. Henry Crew of Northwestern university was today reëlected president of the Association of Professors. Prof. H. C. Warren of Princeton was elected vice president to succeed Marion P. Whitney of Vassar college. Other officers were reëlected. The association decided against immediate action on a resolution condemning "undercover efforts to utilize college teachers for propaganda purposes," pending completion of the federal trade commission's investigation.

This Chic Costume Is Criticism-Proof



BY LOLITA.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Here is a calf-bound book of fashion which is considerably dog-eared. But let us not be flippant regarding this stunning coat dress of black broadcloth with its revers of white satin and its choker and cuffs of white calf. What if the latter are both adjusted into smart little ears—one should really resist a pun in the presence of such consummate chic. For if you want to look your smartest at the restaurant lunch, or tea, or at almost any other daytime function, you cannot do better than take the suggestion of this mode.

It really has everything to make it smart. First of all, the coat frock is exceedingly good. Next, the combination of black and white is more approved than ever. Third, the asymmetric result is still sought constantly. Add to this costume a stunning hat of black soleil with cuffed brim of white satin affixed by a strap of the soleil, pumps of black suede and you get a sum total which is absolutely criticism proof.

A word now about the contrasts in our present day styling. Look at many of the preëminent hats from overseas and you will remark underbrims of contrasting material. Here, for example, is a poke cloche from Maria Guy made of black felt and lined with the same beige fur used for the choker neckpiece. Here is another Paris model, also a poke shaped cloche, faced and bound and trimmed with contrasting plush. So on through an infinite variety of millinery styles.

Such two toned millinery has blazed the trail for a mode more intent on harmonizing than on matching a costume. To take two or even three colors and to develop them artfully throughout the costume—here is the aim of the smart woman of today. Thus we find in a midseason ensemble a coat of navy blue cloth topping a dove gray frock.

A Wise Mother Writes of Her Experiences with Small Children

Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

One day in the park I met some little boys I knew, one of them about 10. In some way, the conversation turned to the biting of nails. The well groomed 10 year old, who is what might be called perfectly brought up according to formal standards, made us all laugh by bursting out, in a mocking falsetto voice, with: "I bite my nails. Isn't that simply disgusting?"

The echo of some grown-ups constantly reiterated disapproval was in his voice—some grownup who hadn't been able to help him. Of course—his mocking announcement was only bravado—to hide his own real chagrin at the disfiguring result of the habit.

This little scene popped into my mind as I read a letter, an entertaining letter, which I am going to let you read, too:

"My dear Mrs. Bevans: Being the mother of four children, I am interested in all your articles and I usually want to say things myself on most of your subjects. I'd like to take over your job, in fact—at least part time.

"I can heartily indorse the treatment for nailbiting—given in today's paper. My son has the same bad habit and is a fine, healthy boy. Showing annoyance—making a great fuss is futile. It even increases the nervousness which is the cause. I found that quiet, reasonable talks with encouragement did much more good, and offering a nickel for every nail that I could cut—was quite effective.

"One thing which I think can't be emphasized too much is the harm done by codling and sympathizing with children unnecessarily. And it's a wise mother who knows when a little proper sympathy is necessary and beneficial.

"It may sound heartless to many mothers, but I have never sympathized with my children when they have had their few 'children's diseases.' It creates an unhealthful state of mind for them, to change the tone of voice, to agree with them that they feel very bad. And, on the other hand, to be practical and cheerful, to joke and give them other things to think about, helps them to throw off their trouble.

"I remember one instance several years ago, when my little girl, about 4 years old, was playing and 'rough housing' on the floor with her twin brother. The nurse noticed spots on her, called her, and said to me in front of her 'Why, Mrs. ——, Sally has chickenpox.'

"Sally immediately climbed into a chair and drooped, her eyes big with wonder and alarm. Somehow, it annoyed me, and I said 'Sally, get out of that chair and go and play. You feel all right and there's no reason why you shouldn't.' Seeing that she was not going to get any sympathetic attention, she resumed her play."

"The chickenpox amounted to nothing and she thought nothing of it, but I can well imagine what might have resulted from her being watched, fussed over, discussed, and generally given the spotlight for several days, as she is just the kind who can't be given that sort of thing.

"I could go on this way, indefinitely. If you ever need an assistant in your column you might call on me."

I have moments when I am tempted!

U. of C. Holidays Ending Today; Flu Menace Ends

After almost three weeks' vacation, University of Chicago students will troop back today to classes and, in the case of law students, examinations. The holiday period was lengthened several days by the decision of the faculty to close early on account of the menace of a flu epidemic.

Knitters on Strike Are Given $2,400 by Union

Kenosha, Wis., Jan. 1.—[Special.]—A bonus totaling $2,400 was distributed to the strikers of the Kenosha Knitters' union here following the donations turned in by Wisconsin unions affiliated with the State Federation of Labor. It is the second similar donation, the first having been distributed at Christmas time.

At the same time it was announced that the board of directors of the American Federation of Full Fashioned Hosiery Workers, which met at Philadelphia recently, voted to continue financial support for the knitters who have been away from their machines since last February.

The national office of the United Textile Workers at New York also voted a pledge of moral and financial support.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 1.—[Special.]—Washington was not itself today without its customary reception in the White House. There were some other official festivities, however, chief among them the breakfast to the diplomatic corps given by the secretary of state and Mrs. Kellogg at the Pan-American Union building. This was a peculiarly brilliant and beautiful party. The dean of the corps, Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador, was ill with a cold, but he was represented by Lady Isabelle Howard and one of their sons here for the holidays. Otherwise the corps was well represented. Former ambassador from Peru and Senora De Pezet, stationed here for many years, came over from their home in New York for the breakfast. The buffet breakfast was served from narrow tables in the Hall of the Americas.

The chief justice and Mrs. Taft held a very large and equally brilliant reception in their home on Wyoming avenue, assisted by the wives of the associate justices, excepting Mrs. Holmes, Mrs. Brandeis, and Mrs. Vandevanter, all on account of illness. The rule for "gentlemen only on New Year's day" was not observed, for there were as many women as men calling at the Taft home and at the Memorial Continental hall, where the secretary of the navy and Mrs. Wilbur held a reception as the only cabinet members "at home" this afternoon, which was contrary to the decision of the secretary of state and Mrs. Kellogg that the cabinet officials would hold no reception today.

A long line of assistants extended from one end to the other of the board room where the secretary and Mrs. Wilbur received. Callers wended their weary way up a long flight of stairs to be received, and those who wished refreshment went up another long flight to the banquet room where a long table was laid. The elevators were not in operation.

Invitations have been issued by Representative and Mrs. Morton D. Hull of Chicago for a dinner in honor of the secretary of the interior, Roy O. West, on Jan. 22 in their new home in Georgetown at 2812 N street, where they are now established.

Senator and Mrs. Deneen have out invitations for a dinner on Jan. 21 in honor of the Vice President and Mrs. Dawes, who will return this week from their home in Evanston, where they spent the holidays.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Guinea Hen and Chickens.

There seems to be a growing répertoire of ways to cook guinea fowl and, according to the mode of the minute, the breast alone is figuring in hotel menus. It is a bit queer that we never see the term guinea chicken, but always guinea hen, although the old cook books, I imagine—and mean to find out, some day—undoubtedly have a name for this fowl at broiler stage. Young fat guineas are broiled delicately, with golden dripping of butter poured over them and one who partook of this meat so cooked said: "Cooked as it evidently was when the gods first decended to mortals' food."

My own exploits with guinea hen have not been so many, but I have had gratifying letters commending my different ways of roasting it—pot roasting and roasting it in a deep broiling oven to get a spit roasted effect. Here is what I have printed on the how:

Clean and prepare the guinea like any chicken for roasting. If any dressing is used (the guinea, being game-like, requires none) an onion dressing is best because it does not absorb the juices of the fowl and yet does season it. When no dressing is used put an onion or two and some celery leaves inside the fowl for seasoning it, rubbing the inside first quite carefully with salt and using none beside.

For futher seasoning prepare a collection of chopped or finely sliced vegetables for the roasting pan, including carrot, onion, celery, green sweet pepper, and a sour apple. If you have a little candied ginger root, chop and use that, and the flavor of a clove of garlic will blend with that of other items and be lost in the final perfection. Or, instead of using the garlic that way, rub the fowl all over with the cut end of a clove of garlic.

Before putting the fowl to roast you may put a thin blanket of larding bacon (salt fat pork) over the fowl, then set it on a small wire rack over the vegetables, and pour over it a fourth of a cup of hot fat. This may be partly salt pork fat. Put it into a genuinely hot broiling oven and lower the blaze over it to medium or a little more. When one side is brown, baste with one cup of boiling water and turn. When browned on all sides, baste every ten minutes with the liquid in the pan, but use another cup of boiling water in the second turning. Do not close the door of the broiling oven.

Cook a two pounds hen for about two hours in this gentle fashion. Big hominy or samp, plain boiled, is usually served with guineas instead of potatoes.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

CHILD'S DRESS.

This one piece slip-on dress of pink batiste is embroidered in blue, and makes up charmingly for small girls. It is cut in from the armhole edge, forming a yoke, the lower edge being gathered and stitched to the upper edge. The skirt is treated in the same manner, cut in at either side at the waistline. The small belt is slipped through bound openings each side of the front and ties in a bow at the back. Nile green chambray, pale pink checked gingham, French blue cotton broadcloth, and one of the charming wool challis are pleasing suggestions.

The pattern, 2536, comes in sizes 2, 4 and 6 years. Size 4 requires 1⅝ yards of 40 inch material. The embroidery pattern, No. 730, costs 15 cents extra.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY FRANK RIDGWAY

The calf, a byproduct of the dairy farm, always has been a problem for the dairymen in the Chicago territory. Higher prices have been paid for calves recently, making it necessary for farmers to think more about the feeding and finishing of the calves before sending them to market.

There is often a difference of $6 or $7 a hundred pounds in the price of calves, depending on what grade they make. Calves from poor to choice grades recently have sold at from $10 to $17.50 a hundred.

The proper feeding of a healthy calf usually brings it out of the low grade into the high grade class. It costs about $8 a hundred pounds to fatten calves with silage fed as a succulent roughage.

Some find silage an excellent feed for calves. The Missouri station found that dairy calves make cheaper and faster gains when corn silage is used in the ration rather than when it is left out of the feed. Calves fed timothy hay, skimmed milk, grain, and silage gained 1.69 pounds a day at a feed cost of 7.9 cents per pound of gain.

The test calves fed timothy hay, skimmed milk and grain with no succulent roughage gained only 1.37 pounds a day at a cost of 9.6 cents a pound. Another group of calves fed roots instead of silage gained more than either of the other two lots of calves, but the feed cost per pound of gain was 8.3 cents, or .4 cents higher than it was with the corn silage group.

The experiment also showed that silage may be safely fed to calves.

NEW NICARAGUA PRESIDENT HEAPS PRAISE ON U. S.

Moncada Inaugurated on Progressive Platform.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 1.—(AP)—Gen. José Marie Moncada in his inaugural address as president of Nicaragua today praised American supervision of the election and said that he favored the construction of an interoceanic canal across Nicaragua. He asked for the establishment of schools, the construction of highways and railroads, and promised that all political and civil rights would be respected.

"In the election," he said, "the Nicaraguan people responded magnificently to the hopes which we conceived for their welfare and it is only just that we render fervent homage to them for the splendid part which they took in the elections.

Praise for U. S.

"In the same manner we complied only with our duty in giving thanks to the people of the United States, their government's electoral commission headed by Gen. Frank McCoy, as well as to Admiral Sellers, Gen. Dogan Feland, the United States Marines, and the Nicaraguan National Guard for having conducted the election in the most honorable manner that could possibly be conceived.

"To other friendly nations, especially those whose shores kiss the same waters as ours, our policy will be one of sincere fraternity, motivated for the good of the continent and for its mutual defense. For this defense Nicaragua has something to offer. I refer to the canal, which would supplement the Panama canal.

For New Canal.

"Geographically located in the center of the new world and having common interests and destiny with the United States of America and the other nations of this continent, we Nicaraguans are inevitably obligated to open the heart of our country to civilization so that we man contribute something of what prodigious nature has given us for the benefit of all the people of the earth."

Gen. Moncada asked his fellow citizens to forget the rivalries of the past, be tolerant of each other's opinions, and work wholeheartedly for the good of the republic.

AGAINST LENDING MARINE BAND TO CONFEDERATES

Lake Mills, Wis., Jan. 1.—(AP)—In a letter to members of the G. A. R., department of Wisconsin, G. H. Poundes, commander, and E. B. Neinstreet, assistant adjutant general, vigorously attacked the introduction of two congressional bills by Representative Bulwinkle of North Carolina and asked for a petition of protest from all members.

The Bulwinkle bills asked that the marine band be in attendance at the confederate veterans' reunion at Charlotte, N. C., June 4 to 7, 1929, and that the secretary of war loan bedding for use during the encampment.

"It is the duty of every Union veteran and every loyal citizen to protest against the bills just introduced and all further honoring of those who have been so honored only because they were rebels and traitors," the letter read.

Urging the G. A. R. members to voice their protest by means of petition, the writers of the letter advocated the following form:

"The undersigned Union veterans of the civil war and other loyal Americans respectfully petition congress to defeat the bills . . . drawn to honor rebels and traitors by sending the marine band to their meeting and to provide them with camp equipment, as undeserved honors which they misconstrue as approval of their slaveholders' rebellion."

Funeral Tomorrow for Charles William Carry

The funeral of Charles William Carry will be held tomorrow morning at St. Ambrose church, Ellis avenue and East 47th street. The mass will begin at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Carry, who was 30 years old, was well known in Chicago, although in recent years he has been a practicing lawyer in New York city. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Carry of 1317 East 50th street, and a nephew of Edward F. Carry, president of the Pullman company. He was not married.

During the war Mr. Carry interrupted his studies at Cornell to enlist in the United States navy. Returning to Cornell after the war, he obtained his degree and entered Harvard Law school, graduating with honors, in 1926. He then entered the New York law firm of White & Case, and in three years had shown promise of a brilliant future.

Several days ago Mr. Carry was taken ill suddenly with appendicitis. An operation failed to save him, and he died in a New York hospital, his parents at his bedside. He is also survived by two brothers, Champ and James, and a sister, Peggy.

JURY JUSTIFIES SLAYING.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 1.—(AP)—A coroner's jury today returned a verdict that B. T. Wilkinson, insurance man who was killed in a struggle with C. Graham Green, official of a mortgage firm, here yesterday, was slain by Green and that the case was justifiable homicide.

Elmer Gets Many Good New Year Programs on Air

Gordon's Violin Recital Pleases Him Most.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

The new year started off auspiciously. The program by the University of Illinois Glee club, W-G-N, 2 to 2:30, was ideally arranged, with both light and semi-serious numbers, sung well.

Over at WLS, 2 to 2:45, Milan Lusk, violinist, and Gilbert Ford, tenor, gave a joint program that was all on the o. k. side. Mr. Lusk was particularly pleasing in this concert and his attractive selections, together with his pleasing style of playing, left a fine impression.

The evening program having probably the largest number of approving listeners was the New York orchestral and vocal concert through W-G-N, 8 to 9. The orchestral program was made up of helpings from the classic melody writers—Schubert, Schumann, Rameau, Handel, and Bach. Two madrigals by Morley were sung, and the slow movement from Mendelssohn's E minor violin concerto was played.

The artistic gem of the evening was Jacques Gordon's violin recital from WMAQ, 9:30 to 10, with Harold Van Horne at the piano. His program began with the A minor concerto by Vivaldi, then shorter selections by Sarasate, Rimsky-Korsakow, Glazounow, Dohnanyi, and an encore number by Nat Shilkret arranged by Mr. Gordon. With all his technical skill and musical taste, there is nothing set or mechanical about Mr. Gordon's playing. His tone is broad, full of variety and vitality, and beautiful.

Programs by other soloists of note were Frank Barden, tenor, W-G-N, the 9:15 to 10 orchestral program; Margaret Sweeney, harpist, WLS, 8 to 9 hour, and Joseph Vito, harpist, WMAQ, 9 to 9:30.

Col. David B. Wilson, Retired, Dies in Nebraska

Sioux City, Ia., Jan. 1.—[Special.]—Col. David B. Wilson, 80, is dead in the home of his son, Guy Wilson, banker, at Laurel, Neb. The body has been placed in a mausoleum here until spring, when it will be interred in Arlington cemetery at Washington. Col. Wilson, a resident of Sioux City for many years following his retirement from the army in 1902, served through the civil war with a Pennsylvania regiment, saw active campaigning against the Indians, and during the Spanish-American war was chief commissary officer with the troops at Santiago.

JIMMY DURKIN WILL BE BURIED THIS MORNING

Six of the boys he once hired will act as pallbearers for Jimmy Durkin today when the "World's Greatest Copy Boy" is buried. These lads, who grew up on THE TRIBUNE under Durk's tutelage, are: Michael J. Fish, Louis Wolf, John W. Steger, Louis Paus, William Loewe, and Frank Nessinger. Since Jimmy hired them they have all gone into other departments of THE TRIBUNE.

The services will be held at 11 o'clock today at Queen of Angels church, Sunnyside and Claremont avenues, where solemn requiem high mass will be sung.

Telegrams and flowers continued to arrive at the Durkin home at 4640 North Campbell avenue yesterday, while the widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Durkin, received those who came to pay their respects. During his thirty-three years on THE TRIBUNE, Durkin made hosts of friends, many of whom now occupy prominent places in public life. One of them, former Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, went to the home yesterday to express his sorrow.

KRUTCHKOFF NEW ASSESSORS' HEAD; REINDUCT CONROY

Two hundred friends of John E. Conroy, reëlected to the board of assessors in November, attended ceremonies yesterday at which he was reinducted into office.

"After the celebration of last night I am pleasantly surprised that so many of you could arise so early this morning to come here," Mr. Conroy said. "I pledge you that I shall continue to carry out the duties of my office with integrity and diligence."

At a meeting of the assessors following the installation ceremony Charles Krutchkoff was elected chairman of the board, the position formerly held by Conroy.

Edward R. Litsinger, member of the board of review, who was also reelected in November, began his new term without ceremony. He had been sworn in by County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer two weeks ago.

Yanks Regain Secrets of Colors, Long Lost, Ceramic Expert Says

The American Ceramic exposition, at the Hotel Stevens from Feb. 4 to 9, will prove the ancient secrets of color in enamels, glass, and terra cotta, lost for two thousand years, have been recovered, it was announced yesterday by D. F. Albery, chairman of the exposition committee.

"For more than 2,000 years the world has wondered how the marvelous blue and opaque Cornelian glass of Egypt was made, and has tried in vain to reproduce it," Mr. Albery declared. "We are confident that we have the secret at last.

"We have achieved acid proof enamels sought since the beginning of civilization, and we have colors to match the treasures dug from ancient tombs. American artisans have proved themselves more clever than those of Europe in this work."

Salesmen, Solicitors, Etc.

A SPECIAL SALES REPRESENTATIVE. will be added to our organization immediately to interview chief executives of the firms with whom we do business.

The connection is permanent; the remuneration far above average; exclusive territory; little traveling, and a real opportunity for self development. Twenty-seven years of successful operation and a splendid commercial rating backs up your efforts. Close co-operation and a thorough training will be given the man selected.

If you have had five or more years of Specialty selling experience, where you have earned not less than $5,000 per year, if you are looking for a life long connection with a real firm and are willing to work for success, you are invited to phone Mr. C. J. Raft, Randolph 7500, for appointment, Jan. 2d and 3d only.

A $200 PER MONTH and commission position is open to a permanent, capable salesman.

We are a large, well rated furniture concern; therefore we are not interested in floaters, failures, or habitual job hunters.

The successful applicant must have had considerable sales experience, preferably direct to consumer on installment items averaging about $50 per sale; furniture sales experience is not necessary.

Please do not reply unless you are seriously seeking a permanent connection. Call immediately. Suite 1380, 37 W. Van Buren.

WANTED—MALE HELP.

SALESMEN.

Will 1929 be just "another year for you," or the most important in your life?

It will be just "another" year of headaches and heartaches for someone—for the kind of man who is in a rut, who knows he's in it, and who lacks backbone enough to make a constructive move to get out of it.

But for others—for the clear-eyed, aggressive, ready-to-face-the-world type of man it will mean something else—a new deal—a new opportunity—another chance to cash in on his energy, his ability, and the good times that all the economists predict.

THE HARMON ORGANIZATION has looked into the future, has seen what 1929 holds and has laid its plans so that it and all of the men associated with its sales force shall enjoy to the maximum the rewards that are the inevitable result of good, hard team work, intelligently directed.

MEN.

We need good men—many of them—men of the same type that we now have in our sales force, which we believe is second to none—men who can capitalize on our record of uninterrupted success, who can walk and talk and tell the truth, who are serious and want a permanent connection, who realize the dollar and cents value of an opportunity to represent the largest and oldest real estate firm in the country—a concern with forty-one years of successful development in thirty-one American cities behind it—an organization where sales resistance is at a minimum.

To such men we offer the opportunity of a life time. 1929 will be our biggest year. Our regular winter campaign, backed up by newspaper advertising, is ready to start. We have a profit sharing plan for salesmen that is unique in its liberality. We don't want and won't take drifters. We want men who have made big money. We will offer them a chance to make more than they ever made before. Experience is unnecessary. We will train you and work with you. Come in and let us lay our cards upon the table. Let us tell you what we are willing to do for you and what we expect from you in return.

LEGAL NOTICES.

TO THE STOCKHOLDERS OF UNION TRUST COMPANY— of record on December 26th, 1928, at noon.

Notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Union Trust Company held on the 15th day of December, 1928, a special meeting of the stockholders of said bank was called and will be held at the office of the Union Trust Company, hereinafter referred to as the bank, No. 7 South Dearborn Street, Chicago, Illinois, at eleven o'clock A. M. on Tuesday, the 29th day of January, 1929.

At such special meeting there will be submitted to a vote of the stockholders of the Union Trust Company:

[1] Consideration and approval of all action or actions of the Board of Directors or officers of the bank taken prior to said meeting in the matter of the proposed consolidation or consolidations, merger or mergers of the bank and/or its assets with the First National Bank of Chicago and/or its affiliated corporation, the First Trust and Savings Bank, and/or their business and assets and/or the business and assets of either of them;

[2] Consideration, approval and authorization of any action or actions which in the judgment of the officers or directors of this bank may thereafter be necessary to lawfully consummate the proposed consolidation or consolidations, merger or mergers, including the organization of any new bank or corporation as may seem desirable;

[3] Consideration, authorization and approval of the segregation of a part or parts of the assets of this bank and the transfer thereof to any new corporation or corporations;

[4] Consideration, approval and authorization of the distribution of the shares of any such bank or new corporation [if any such should be organized] to the stockholders of this bank or to their duly authorized representatives;

[5] Without limitation of the ratification and approval and authorization hereinabove referred to, consideration and special authorization of a transfer of the business and assets of this bank, except such portion thereof as the officers and directors of this bank may deem it advisable to be retained in this bank, to a new bank to be organized under the laws of the State of Illinois, to be called the Rawson State Bank, with a capital of 40,000 shares of the par value of $100 each, and authorization and approval of the distribution of the shares of said bank to be made to stockholders of this bank or to a committee for their benefit in such manner and form as may be necessary or desirable to retain for the benefit of this bank and its stockholders the protection of the reorganization provisions of the Federal Income Tax Law;

[6] Without limitation or restriction upon the broad powers hereinabove referred to, authorization of a consolidation or merger of the Union Trust Company and/or its assets with the First National Bank of Chicago;

[7] Without limitation or restriction upon the broad powers hereinabove referred to, consideration of and authorization of a consolidation or merger of the Union Trust Company and its assets with the First Trust and Savings Bank and ratification and confirmation of the agreement of consolidation with respect thereto;

[8] Authorization of the officers and directors of this bank to take such action as may be lawful and proper to carry into effect said proposed consolidation or consolidations or merger or mergers, and to take all such intermediate steps as in the judgment of the Board of Directors or officers of this bank it may be desirable to take in order to accomplish the proposed consolidation or consolidations, merger or mergers.

2½% Loans 2½%

YOU SAVE ALMOST ONE-THIRD BY BORROWING FROM HOUSEHOLD.

This old established organization, by reason of large volume, efficient management, and ample capital, is now making a substantial reduction in the cost of loans up to $300 by lowering the interest rate from the legal maximum of 3½ per cent a month on unpaid principal balances to 2½ per cent.

FOR EXAMPLE, ON LOANS
Payable in 20 Equal Monthly Payments
You Save as Follows:

$ 50 Loan—You Save	$ 5.25
100 Loan—You Save	10.50
200 Loan—You Save	21.00
300 Loan—You Save	31.50

Loans may be paid in full at any time and you will only be charged for the actual time you keep the money. You get the full amount in cash—no deductions of any kind. We do not notify your employer, neither do we make inquiries of your friends, relatives, or trade people. If it is not convenient to call personally, phone the office nearest you and we will send a representative to your home.
